War in Nicaragua Is Reported Ended As Sandino Flees

President Coolidge Told That Rebel Chief Has Crossed Border Into Honduras for Safety.

20 MARINES DIE IN LONG REVOLT

Admiral Sellers Says Peace Prevails After Revolutionists Turn in Arms to Federals.

Superior, Wis., July 24.—(AP)—The year-old struggle in Nicaragua between American forces and armed guerilla bands, which took about a score of United States marines' lives, has been reported to President Coolidge as virtually ended.

Rear Admiral David F. Sellers, commander of the special service squadron, in a report presented to the chief executive yesterday by Secretary Wilbur, of the navy department, said that it was almost certain that Augusto Sandino, Nicaraguan guerrilla leader, had given up the fight, abandoning the country and leaving his followers to surrender their arms and disperse.

Sandino Blocked Peace.

Sandino and his band, operating in the hills in the northwestern corner of Nicaragua, had constituted the obstacle to complete pacification of the country ever since Henry L. Stimson, acting as Mr. Coolidge's personal representative, managed last year to induce two warring political factions in Nicaragua to abandon civil war in return for a guarantee of a fair and American-supervised election this fall.

Admiral Sellers' report added that practically all insurgent armed bands had surrendered, leaving the country free from any active or armed opposition to American efforts to stabilize Nicaragua before actually holding the election next November.

Admiral Sellers also reported that American policies in Nicaragua were generally working out satisfactory, promising peaceful and honest balloting.

Sandino Believed in Honduras.

Sandino is thought to have gone into Honduras, close to whose frontier he had maintained strongholds and across which he is said to have derived most of his supplies while engaged in skirmishing with American marines and native constabulary. The disruption of his forces was attributed in large measure to assurances which had been given and widely published in Nicaragua that members of any illegal armed bodies who spontaneously surrendered their arms would be given amnesty.

Insurgents caught with arms in their hands were warned that the full penalty of the law against rebels and outlaws would be inflicted upon them. With the coming of the rainy season and on account of the tightening of the blockage against them, Sandino's followers gradually abandoned him.

With the disappearance of Sandino from the Nicaraguan stage, Mr. Coolidge foresees the orderly fulfillment of Mr. Stimson's pledge to both liberal and conservative parties in Nicaragua that the country be given a government popularly elected and constitutionally organized.

30 ARRESTS MADE FOR LOITERING BY TWO OFFICERS

Although no special orders have been given to war on vagrants and loiterers, Patrolmen M. B. Johnson and E. L. Arthur Tuesday night started a campaign of their own, and before their watch had expired had sent 30 persons to police station. All were charged with loitering. The prisoners included nine white men and 21 negroes. Most of the arrests were made on Georgia avenue and Fraser streets. Johnson and Arthur cover their beat by automobile.

HASSELL FORCED TO DELAY FLIGHT BY BAD WEATHER

Rockford, Ill., July 24.—(AP)—Bert Hassell's proposed flight to Stockholm, Sweden, was postponed tonight until Thursday morning because of unfavorable weather predictions.

A United States weather bureau report, received after the big airplane had been loaded with gasoline in preparation for a hop at 5 a. m. tomorrow indicated that adverse headwinds would be encountered Wednesday throughout the Canadian length of the trip.

The report promised air atmospheric low pressure area, traveling northeast Thursday, which will give the airplane Greater Rockford the aid it needs.

GERMANY FAVORS CHARLES E. HUGHES FOR PEACE COURT

Geneva, July 24.—(AP)—Germany and Holland today nominated Charles Evans Hughes for the vacancy on the permanent court of international justice caused by the resignation of John Bassett Moore. Canada nominated two Canadians, Lyman Poore Duff and Eugene Lafleur. Germany gave a second vote to Walter Simons, chief justice of the German supreme court.

VALDOSTAN SLAIN, BURNED IN AUTO; 2 NEGROES JAILED

Body of E. E. Quinker Found in Partly Burned Car Near Madison, Fla.; Pair Held Deny Guilt.

Valdosta, Ga., July 24.—(Special.) A charred skull and a pile of ashes, found this morning in a partially-burned automobile on the Dannette-Greenville highway, below Madison, Fla., bore grisly testimony to the murder, robbery and cremation of E. E. Quinker, owner of an iron foundry and machine shop in Valdosta and a widely-known business man of this city.

Two negro men, Tom Murphey and Bill Reed, are being held at Madison in connection with the crime, but both stoutly maintain their innocence.

A guard at a convict camp near the scene of the killing stated that he heard two pistol shots and an outcry about 5 o'clock this morning but that he did not leave the camp to investigate.

Later, the charred body of Mr. Quinker was found wedged under the steering wheel of his burned car, which had been stopped at the end of a bridge over a small creek. The corpse was burned beyond recognition and it was some time before identification could be effected, a key ring bearing Mr. Quinker's name supplying the first clue.

The automobile's gas line had been disconnected, investigation revealed, and the fuel withdrawn into a cup and poured over the body and the car, a small coupe. A bullet hole in the skull, between the eyes, and a con-

U. S. TO WITHDRAW FORCE FROM CHINA

Total of 2,615 Officers and Men Will Stay Until Treaty With Nationalist Regime Is Reached.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

Washington, July 24.—(United New.)—The United States will withdraw part of its marines from China preparatory to discussion of new and more equitable treaties with the new nationalist regime.

Acting Secretary of Navy Theodore Robinson announced today he had approved the immediate withdrawal of 1,350 officers and men of the marine crops and 13 airplanes from the Tientsin area. This will leave 2,615 officers and men in China. The returning marines will be brought back to San Diego aboard the transport Henderson. The exact sailing date will be determined by Admiral Bristol, commander in chief of the Asiatic fleet. Admiral Bristol recommended the withdrawal which was concurred in by the state department.

These forces were sent to China more than a year ago during anti-foreign outbreaks in Nanking and other Chinese centers. Conditions have become sufficiently stabilized to war-

Stephenson Refuses To Talk; Hope Fades

:: EX-KLAN HEAD RESIGNED TO CELL ::

Michigan City, Ind., July 24.—(AP) Challenging Attorney General Arthur L. Gilliom's right to question him, D. C. Stephenson, former klan dragon, today declined an invitation to tell his version of the death of Miss Madge Oberholtzer, for whose murder he is now serving a life sentence; gave prison officials a clean slate regarding his treatment and said he placed little faith in the "alleged appeal" for a new trial pending before the Indiana supreme court.

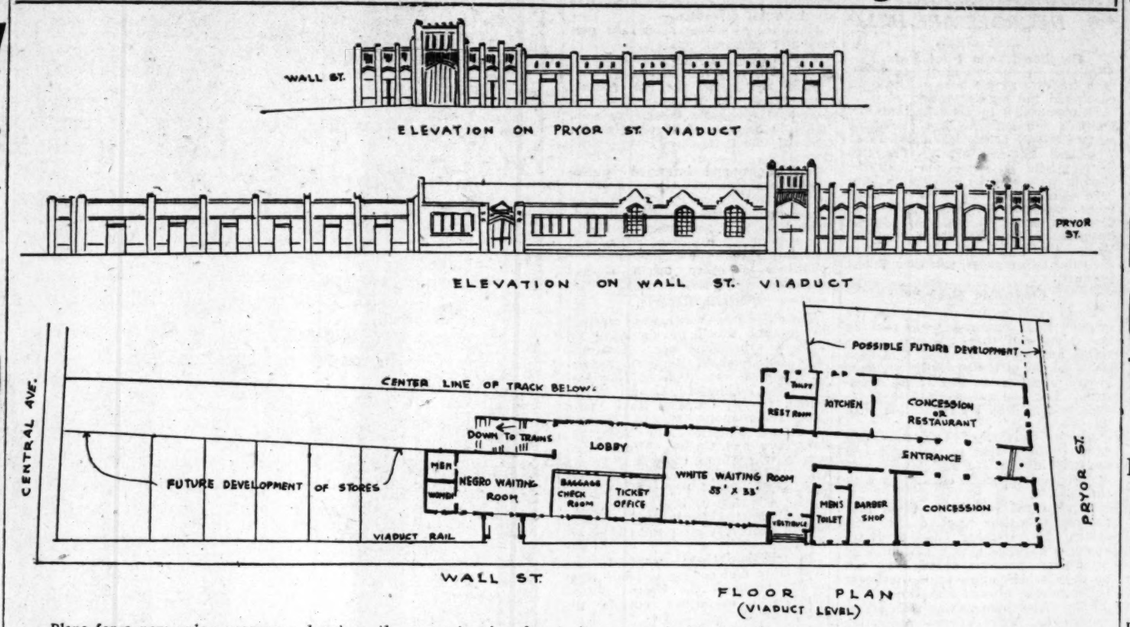

Attorney General Gilliom sought the information in a deposition in connection with a mandamus suit brought in Stephenson's behalf in the Laporte circuit court, in which an order on prison officials is asked to permit him conferences with his attorneys. The prisoner's attorneys ask that the suit be dismissed, declaring that they have already won their point and that satisfactory meetings would be granted in the future.

Gilliom objected, however, and obtained a continuance until Thursday. The effort to take the deposition was made as a part of that suit.

Stephenson said he believed his only chance to get a new trial from his conviction at Noblesville in November, 1925, rested in a petition for a writ of coram nobis—granted only where a convicted person shows he was denied the chance of giving his real defense at a trial through fear of violence or death if he attempted to do so. Stephenson contended that it was because he feared for his life

N., C. & St. L. Plans for New Union Passenger Station

Plans for a new union passenger depot on the present union depot site were submitted to the Georgia public service commission Monday following orders from the commission to the N., C. & St. L. railroad that such plans for an "adequate passenger station" be filed not later than July 24, 1928. The above plans, after being submitted, were declared Tuesday by Mayor I. N. Ragsdale, of Atlanta, to be entirely inadequate for a city the size and importance of Atlanta. Mayor Ragsdale especially pointed out the size of the white and colored waiting rooms, saying that cities such as Barnesville and Griffin have waiting rooms as large or almost as large as those proposed in the plans. Mell R. Wilkinson, chairman of the special citizens' committee on the Union depot, said Tuesday night that he concurred with Mayor Ragsdale's criticism and that his committee could not approve the plans.

DRY LAW CALLED CAUSE OF CRIME

Smaller Towns Not as Much Affected as Big Cities, Reports Over United States Show.

Seattle, July 24.—(AP)—The influence of prohibition upon crime in the United States was the subject of a report delivered to the section of criminal law and criminology of the American Bar association tonight by Arthur V. Lashly, of St. Louis, Mo. The report was read by his brother, Jacob M. Lashly, president of the St. Louis bar association, as the author of the report did not attend the convention.

The report, which embraces a symposium of opinions taken from officials, publishers and law enforcement agents in most of the large cities of America, found:

"That crimes committed by professioned criminals constitute the large majority of major crimes of the urban communities of the country.

Forces of Crime.

"That in a large majority of cities of 100,000 inhabitants and over, the forces of organized crime have not been materially strengthened or affected by the prohibition amendment, although in practically every one of these communities the sentiment of the people is for the most part opposed to the enforcement of those laws and there is more or less indiscriminate trafficking in intoxicating liquors in violation of the law.

"That in many, although not in a majority of the larger cities, organizations of criminals are mainly financed by the profits of bootlegging; that the gunmen, thugs and bombers used by these organizations to prevent attack by hi-jackers and to suppress competition are often used for purposes of extortion and to influence elections by terrorism and that many

CHICAGOAN KILLS YOUTH STEALING PARTS FROM AUTO

Chicago, July 24.—(AP)—Walter Rodgers, 20, saw three youths attempting to steal a spotlight from his roadster today. He shot from a window of a building in which he was working and Sammy Dioro, 19, fell wounded fatally. The other fled.

Rodgers ran to the street, loaded the youth into his car, took him to the Cook county hospital and then gave himself up to the police.

His story was substantiated by witn ses, but Rodgers will be held for the coroner's inquest.

Servant Is Arrested In Plot To Steal Gems

:: $500,000 LOSS BLOCKED BY POLICE ::

New York, July 24.—(AP)—Jewels valued at almost half a million dollars were seized by the sheriff from a Fifth avenue jeweler today on the ground that he had obtained them, apparently in perfectly good faith, from a housekeeper who, authorities said, had run wild on her employer's credit.

Mrs. Maria J. Leslie, it was said at the sheriff's office after the seizure, was for a long time housekeeper to Mr. and Mrs. John Emerson, of Baltimore, wealthy society family whose name is familiar to the public as manufacturers of Bromo Seltzer, and had authority to make purchases for them. This spring the Emersons went to Europe and Mrs. Leslie, officials said, started in to buy $1,000,000 worth of jewels.

She obtained from Wanamaker stores here and in Philadelphia jewels priced at $460,000 on the strength of her former Emerson authorization and disposed of them to Harry Winston, a Fifth avenue jeweler, on the story, Winston said, that she was selling the jewels for Mrs. Emerson, who had certain obligations she must meet at once. Winston said he paid $101,000 for the jewels, which was considered almost their full retail value.

The Wanamaker stores, becoming suspicious, cabled the Emersons in Europe and were informed that Mrs. Leslie no longer had any right to make purchases for them. An investigation was then made by Noel G. Scaffa, private detective for the company insuring the jewels, and a ruse was evolved for recovery of the gems.

Wanamaker representatives called on attorneys for Winston and offered checks totalling $113,000, representing what the jeweler had paid and a profit, for return of the jewels. An exchange of jewels and check was agreed upon and Winston produced the gems in his store. Then a deputy sheriff produced a writ of replevin and seized the jewels, the Wanamaker representatives retaining the checks.

It was announced that no action had been taken against Mrs. Leslie, who was said to be in a Connecticut sanitarium. The jewels, consisting of diamond and emerald rings and pearl rope necklaces, will be held three days at the sheriff's office, after which they will be returned to Wanamaker's unless Winston posts $1,000,000 bond. If he should do this the gems will be returned to him pending outcome of the suit.

ATLANTANS BUY BANK IN MACON

R. F. Maddox, T. K. Glenn and Others Purchase Approximately 95 Per Cent of Continental Trust.

Purchase of practically the entire stock in the Continental Trust company, of Macon, by a group of Atlanta financiers headed by Robert F Maddox, chairman of the board, and Thomas K. Glenn, president of the Atlanta and Lowry National bank and the Trust Company of Georgia, was consummated Tuesday. Confirmation of the transaction was obtained from Mr. Glenn upon his return to the city Tuesday night from Macon where the deal was closed

While the group of local capitalists, who are said to be closely connected with the interests of the Atlanta bank but acted in this purchase as a separate corporation, acquired about 95 per cent ownership in the Macon banking concern, only one change will be made in the organization, it was stated.

Marion Liles, who has been in charge of the Macon branch bond department of the Trust Company of Georgia since 1920 will become a vice president of the Continental, and will transfer the investment business to the Continental offices. The Continental has been without a bond department.

H. A. McCord will continue as president of the Continental Trust company, the capital stock of which is to be increased immediately to $500,000, making the Macon institution, with its new Atlanta affiliations, one of the biggest banking businesses in the southeast.

The conference in Macon was completed at 5:30 o'clock, with gratification expressed by the principals in the union of business facilities, Mr. Glenn and Mr. Maddox, with other associates from here, motored to Macon Tuesday, to wind up the negotiations, which had been started some days ago.

According to the last published statement of the Continental Trust company, deposits of $1,647,047.92 were shown on June 30 of this year, as compared with $394,290.16 on deposit on January 1, 1927. The present capitalization is $150,000, with surplus of $50,000 and undivided profits of $15,270.38.

GEORGIA BANDIT IS FOUND GUILTY

Recommendation for Mercy Will Mean Life Term for Waller, Guilty in Bank Slaying.

Brunswick, Ga., July 24.—(AP)—Ernest G. Waller, Jacksonville, Fla., charged with the murder of C. A. Perry, cashier of the Kingsland bank during a robbery, was found guilty with a recommendation for mercy by a jury in superior court here tonight.

The verdict automatically carried a penalty of life imprisonment in the state penitentiary. Homer Simpson and Malcolm M. Morrow have been sentenced to die for the same charges, their trials having been held while Waller was a fugitive from justice.

Arrested in Baltimore.

Waller recently was arrested in Baltimore. He readily admitted his identity but said he merely acted as driver of one of the automobiles used by the slayers. On the stand today he reiterated the assertion, declaring he knew nothing of a plot to rob the bank until he saw Morrow shoot the cashier.

Morrow confessed the actual shooting.

Perry was lured from the bank on the pretext that his slayers wished to look over some lands which were for sale. After taking the cashier into the country, the robbers demanded his keys and combination to the bank. Upon his refusal, he was shot and taken back to the bank where he was compelled to open the safe. After obtaining the money, the slayers drove away with Perry, and left him to die by the roadside.

Trial Lasted Two Days.

The trial of Waller lasted two days, today's sessions rendered sensational by the refusal of Simpson and Morrow to testify unless the state would consent to a reduction of their sentences from death to life imprisonment. The solicitor declined to meet the terms and the pair did not take the stand. Morrow was to have testified for the state while Simpson had been summoned for the defense.

A crowd of spectators was in the courtroom when the jury's verdict was

FAIR IS INDICTED ON TWO CHARGES

Griffins and Heath Also Named in True Bills Following Alleged Abduction and Shooting.

Fred Fair, a fugitive, was indicted Tuesday by the Fulton grand jury on a charge of kidnaping Mrs. Kittie Ellen Heath. A second true bill charged Fair with carrying a pistol.

Mrs. Heath, just returned from Tampa, Fla., where she said Fair had forcibly taken her, related her story of the affair to the grand jury.

For two weeks she lived with Fair's sister at Lakeland, Fla., Mrs. Heath said, adding that she slipped away on hearing her brother, E. L. Griffin, was at liberty and therefore able to aid her in returning to Atlanta.

Shortly after the alleged kidnaping on July 5 Mrs. Heath's estranged husband, her brother and cousin shot John Zink, a neighbor of Fair's, thinking he was the latter man. Zink is recovering.

E. L. Griffin, J. R. Griffin and W. O. Heath were indicted for assault with intent to murder. Both Griffins are at liberty under bond, but Heath is held for alleged violation of old probation restrictions.

Mrs. Heath told the solicitor's office that Fair had induced her into his automobile under threat of her life, subsequently ordering her to make no outcry, write no letters or leave his sister's house.

Mrs. Heath, a woman of about 30, refused with a trace of annoyance to discuss the case with newspapermen, saying she was convinced that too much had been said already.

Questioned directly, she negatively shook her head, repeating her desire to "keep out of the papers."

She furnished the solicitor's office with an address in care of her brother, who resides at a Lakewood camp.

CANADIAN ADMITS SLAYING MOTHER AND THREE OTHERS

Edmonton, Alberta, July 24.—(AP)—Vernon Booher, 22, farmer's son of Mannville, Alberta, has confessed, the police said today, that he killed his father, his older brother and two hired men on his father's farm July 9.

The youth was quoted as saying he shot his mother and brother because of "mother and Fred's constant nagging of me about a girl I am crazy about. I had it planned for some time."

The hired men, according to the police, were slain when they approached the house after the first killings.

Battered River Packet Eats Smoke of Rival

:: CHRIS GREENE WINS RACE ON OHIO ::

New Richmond, Ohio, July 24.—(AP) The steel river packet Chris Greene tonight assumed the title of speed queen of the Ohio river and invested itself with a share in its rich tradition and racing lore by making the wooden, battered Betsy Ann eat its smoke in a 20-mile race up the river from Cincinnati.

Her whistles screaming, her hull trembling from the task and her twin funnels belching smoke and flames, the newer, finer, and larger boat loomed through the twilight a winner by two lengths after two hours and 25 minutes of excitement such as the old river had not seen for years.

The scene took old-time river men back 50 years to the old racing heydey of the middlewest on the Ohio and Mississippi, to the day when the Robert E. Lee set the present record for the run from New Orleans to St. Louis and beat the Natchez by six hours—a day when a conscientious riverman would stand squarely before the smokestack and part his hair in the middle to trim ship while a big stake race was on.

The boats left Central bridge at the foot of Broadway street in Cincinnati at 5:06 p. m. Crowds lined the river front and every bridge across the stream as they got under way with the Betsy Ann on her rival's starboard. Hundreds of launches, motorboats and small river craft set their sirens screaming as they started up the stream, swollen by recent rains.

MORONES, OUSTED OFFICIAL, RUMORED TO BE SAFE IN U. S.

Reports Say Deposed Labor Leader Flew to Border; Agrarians Ask Leader Be Avenged.

Mexico City, July 24.—(AP)—Reports received in New York city that former Secretary of Labor Luis Morones had been wounded July 15 could not be verified tonight. Morones' whereabouts were unknown and those ordinarily close to him were either ignorant of where he was or chose to conceal their knowledge.

Innumerable reports concerning him have been circulating for the last few days, including one that he had escaped to the United States in an airplane. If any attacks have been made on him they have been kept secret.

An intimation that in addition to demanding the removal of all members of the labor party from the government, agrarian leaders did not expect President Calles to remain in office as provisional president was seen in a statement of the Obregon leader, Antonio Soto y Gama tonight.

Asked if provisional presidency would be given Calles, Soto y Gama replied:

"A constitutional president who continues in power as a provisional president directly violates the constitution which prohibits re-election."

This was construed in some quarters as agrarian opposition to the demand already formulated that the president continue in his post for another two years.

On the other hand, Ricardo Topete, leader of the Obregon bloc in congress which controls that body, has placed himself on record that either Calles or Aaron Saenz, governor of

STEELE OPPOSES BARRING UPSHAW

Congressman Asks Opponent Be Allowed To Run in Primary, and W. S. Howard Agrees.

That his opponent in the fifth district congressional race has again halted a move to disqualify W. D. Upshaw in the democratic primary of September 12 was indicated Tuesday in a letter addressed to Mr. Upshaw by William Schley Howard, Atlanta attorney and chairman of the fifth district congressional committee.

Mr. Howard declines to retreat from his position that Mr. Upshaw, by his own act in opposing the democratic nominee for president, has disqualified himself for participation in the democratic primary, but points out that Congressman L. J. Steele, of Decatur, who is up for reelection, has again asked that Mr. Upshaw be allowed to make his race.

In view of Mr. Steele's request, Mr. Howard says he does not expect to summon his committee to pass on Mr. Upshaw's eligibility, as had been previously announced and that personally, he will not oppose his running in the primary. The letter questions Mr. Upshaw concerning his service in congress under President Wilson, when the latter had vetoed the Volstead bill, Proposals Apparently Are "Entirely Inadequate" for City of Atlanta's Size, He States.

COMMISSION HOLDS HEARING AUGUST 2

Mell R. Wilkinson, Chairman of Special Citizens' Committee, Says Plans Are Unsatisfactory.

The Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad's plans for extension of the Union station in Atlanta, as made public Monday by the state public service commission, are apparently "entirely inadequate" for a city the size of Atlanta, according to Mayor I. N. Ragsdale in a statement issued Tuesday after he had made an examination of these plans.

The statement by the mayor on the heels of an announcement by Chairman James A. Perry, of the state public service commission, that a hearing of arguments both for and against the proposed improvements will be held by the commission August 2. Chairman Perry said he had invited Mayor Ragsdale, other interests in Atlanta connected with the proposed improvement and people throughout the state to attend the session scheduled for 10 o'clock on the morning of August 2.

Mayor Assails Plans.

The mayor was strong in his statement that the plans, as submitted, apparently are inadequate to serve a city like Atlanta.

"After checking over some of the deails of the plans I find that some features of the deevlopment are not even adequate for smaller cities in Georgia, much less a city that is one of the most important on the entire railway system served by the railroad and its allied lines."

"From an examination of detailed specifications of the proposed improved depot facilities at the Union Station in Atlanta, there is unmistakable evidence of a hurried consideration, as well as undesirable conclusions. Among the more important unfortunate proposals in the plans submitted is the fact that the white and colored people will buy tickets from the same window and use the same lobby in waiting or going to and from the ticket window; another surprising proposal is the fact that only one stairway will be available in reaching all tracks. In other words, the same confusion attending one in going to and from trains as heretofore experienced will be continued, with the usual dodging, climbing, and crawling process so long experienced by the traveling public. In this respect, it is perhaps true, that in the elevation under the proposed improvements this condition will be aggravated on account of having to go from a higher to a lower elevation.

"The facilities for both white and colored appear to be very much out of line for a city of Atlanta's proportion. By way of comparison, the colored waiting room of the Central of Georgia passenger depot at Barnes-

CARRANZA SLEEPS IN GRAVE OF HERO

Mexico City, July 24.—(AP)—For the second time in as many days Mexico City today witnessed one of the most impressive demonstrations in its history when the body of Captain Emilio Carranza, Mexican goodwill flier, was laid to rest in the historic rotunda of Dolores cemetery where former presidents and statesmen and illustrious Mexicans are buried.

Hundreds of thousands of persons stood along the route from the national palace, where the body lay in state yesterday and last night, to the cemetery and at least 100,000 of them joined in the procession following the casket.

Barefooted women, some of them carrying babies saddled to their backs, broke through the police lines to shower daisies and roses on the bier. It was a day of the common people for whom Carranza was almost an idol. National mourning was proclaimed and government offices, schools and business houses were closed.

President Calles, because of a slight indisposition, was unable to be present but virtually all of the government officials in Mexico City and members of the diplomatic corps made the long journey to the cemetery. Among the first at the national palace was United States Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow with his staff and the American army officers who escorted the body from New York to Mexico City. The latter together with oficers of the presidential staff formed a guard of honor beside the bier.

A squadron of airplanes flew overhead and dropped flowers before the procession.

that he did not testify in his own behalf at the Noblesville trial.

Gilliom offered to continue the deposition until next Tuesday to give Stephenson an opportunity to be represented by attorneys and go over the ground, but the former klan leader declined.

When the hearing was completed Gilliom gave Stephenson copies of Collier's Weekly in which were printed some articles regarding the Ku Klux Klan and in which Stephenson was named. Stephenson agreed to read them and make a deposition about the secret organization in Indiana in the interests of Gilliom's suit to oust the klan.

Stephenson said he felt that Gilliom was doing a great public good in trying to have the charter of the organization revoked in the state and said he would be glad to give all the assistance he could.

Stephenson referred to his trial at Noblesville in October and November, 1925, as a "burlesque on justice."

Gilliom then asked Stephenson if it were true that he first met Miss Oberholtzer at the inauguration banquet given in honor of Governor Ed Jackson and again the prisoner refused to answer. On other occasions he had said he helped to nominate and elect Governor Jackson.

Miss Oberholtzer took poison following her alleged abduction and attack early in 1925.

the state of Nueva Leon, will carry on the government until elections can be held in 1930.

Friends of President Calles said today that he had reiterated his desire to retire from his post if it were possible and resume his life as a dairy farmer.

Opposition Attacked.

Agrarian groups in various parts of Mexico today took up the demand of their leader that "all labor influences" be removed from the Mexican government.

In several parts of Vera Cruz and other states in the south agrarian demonstrations occurred, speakers demanding that the followers of Morones be ousted not only from the cabinet but from congress as well. At the same time in the capital, Soto y Gama and Aurelio Manrique repeated their charge that the labor union organization and the labor party, in both of which Morones was the guiding spirit, were "psychologically responsible for General Obregon's assassination."

So insistent were the agrarian leaders that Obregon's enemies were morally responsible for the crime that they declared they did not even ask for the death penalty for Jose De Leon Toral, the actual slayer.

"We regard Obregon's assassin as a personage who was controlled by superior outside forces," said Manrique. "We do not demand his death but we do demand justice and we believe this can be achieved most quickly by removal from the government of those labor leaders whose anti-Obregon activities created the atmosphere for the mad act of the assassin."

Point Out Two Courses.

Soto Y Gama declared his belief that President Calles "is convinced that the only way to assure tranquility to the country is to absolutely eliminate from the government every director of the nefarious members of the labor group." He said that the government must choose between the people, who spoke their minds overwhelmingly when they elected General Obregon president, and the labor group.

"The people cannot have any confidence in a government that retains in its bosom the labor elements that were Obregon's worst enemies in life and that after his death oppose his principles," Soto y Gama said in an interview.

ville, Ga., is larger than that proposed in Atlanta, and the white waiting room as proposed in Atlanta is but slightly larger than the white passenger waiting room at Barnesville. This comparison is fairly applicable to the city of Griffin and other similar cities over the state."

Calls Plans Inadequate.

Mell R. Wilkinson, chairman of the special citizens committee on the union depot appointed by Mayor Ragsdale, said Tuesday night that, although he had not seen the plans submitted by the railroad, it was clear from Mayor Ragsdale's description of the proposed depot that the facilities would be entirely inadequate, and that the citizens committee would vigorously protest against adoption of the plans at the hearing before the public service commission.

The citizens committee was appointed to wage a fight for adequate terminal facilities on the site of the present union depot, Mr. Wilkinson pointed out. He declared that a city of Atlanta's size and importance certainly should be given a depot in keeping with its rank, and the depot should be much larger than proposed and differently arranged.

VALDOSTAN SLAIN, NEGROES ARE HELD

cave fracture at the base of the skull confirmed the murder theory.

It was stated in Danette that Mr. Quinker had collected a considerable sum of money before leaving there at 7 o'clock Monday night. The two negroes held in connection with the slaying were said by officers to have been seen in the vicinity of the crime in an expensive automobile belonging to a man named Martin. Bloodhounds, brought into use in an effort to confirm the suspicions of officers, led to the same two negroes, and their arrest followed.

Confession Denied.

Early reports to the effect that the negroes had confessed their part in the crime and that the dead man's watch and a sum of money had been found on one of the two suspects, were proved later in the day to be erroneous. The two men declare their innocence and deny all connection with the crime.

Sheriff Spivey, of Valdosta, and several others went to the scene and assisted in the identification and search for evidence in connection with the case.

It appeared certain to those that robbery was the motive for the crime. Mr. Quinker had extensive business dealings among sawmill and machinery concerns throughout all north Florida and made frequent trips, nearly always traveling alone. At his office here it was stated that though he was always collecting money on these trips he never carried a pistol.

The coroner's jury will meet again Friday afternoon to complete its investigation of the case.

Mr. Quinker was a widely known business man of Valdosta and in addition to his interests here had extensive holdings in the section of Florida in which the killing occurred. He is survived by his widow and five children.

DRY LAW CALLED CAUSE OF CRIME

Profits as Bribes.

"That the profits of bootlegging are often used to bribe public officials and to purchase protection from corrupt public officials.

"That such alliances between crime and politics result in the breaking down of all laws and the administration of justice.

"That wherever these conditions exist there is a tendency toward disrespect for all law and a growing skepticism concerning the integrity of all public officials.

"That the enormous profits derived from the bootleg industry, being unlawful and therefore considered legitimate prey, have excited the cupidity of politicians and state and government officials generally to such an extent that bribery and corruption have become of common occurrence. Therein is to be found the real problem of crime and failure of justice in many parts of the country."

Remedies Suggested.

Among the remedies suggested in Lashly's report were recommendations that:

Bureaus of criminal statistics should be organized to provide more adequate means of determining who are habitual offenders.

Habitual offenders should be permanently confined.

The prohibition laws should be enforced or repealed.

"The bootlegger, the run runner, the gangster, the hi-jacker, the bribe giver and the bribe taker," he said, "must be suppressed if orderly government under the law is to be restored."

A vigilant and informed public must insist upon honesty in [illegible] officials.

The report cited conditions in Chicago, New York and other metropolitan centers as centers of crime, and continued through a detailed study of conditions in other urban centers throughout the United States.

Cities in Reports.

The cities from which were received the reports which go to make up Lashly's symposium are: Oakland, Cal.; Los Angeles, Berkeley, Alameda, San Francisco, Denver, New Haven, Conn.; Hartford, Conn.; Washington, D. C.; Chicago, East Alton, Ills.; Indianapolis, Boston, Detroit, St. Louis, Buffalo, New York, St. Paul, Orr and Cusson, Minn.; Raleigh, N. C.; Akron, Columbus, Toledo and Cincinnati, Ohio; Oklahoma City, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Providence, R. I.; Charleston, S. C.; Memphis, Tenn.; Fort Worth and Dallas, Texas; Seattle, Wash., and Cheyenne, Wyo.

In addition, there were reports from state and county officials from several parts of the United States relative to conditions outside the cities named.

asking how he could reconcile this record with his present stand on the prohibition issue.

Howard's Communication.

Mr. Howard's communication to Mr. Upshaw follows:

Your communication of the 21st instant addressed to me at Atlanta was received by me this morning, but I happened to see it in the press on yesterday, Sunday, and was expecting to hear from you today.

Rule 5 of the state democratic executive committee to my mind is very clear, and unquestionably disqualifies you, under your own statement, as a candidate in the democratic primary to be held on September 12, irrespective of what has been the custom.

Rule 7 of the rules adopted by the democratic congressional committee of this district makes the rules of the state democratic executive committee a part and parcel of the congressional committee rules; and it might not be amiss to remind you that these rules adopted by the present congressional democratic executive committee are verbatim the same rules that your committee worked under for eight years, and in turn your committee adopted the rules that I had for eight years, if my recollection of my old rules be correct.

There is, of course, a different rule and a different standard applied to a candidate for office from that applied to a voter.

Rule 2, which deals with the qualification of voters, provides that:

"The primary election shall be conducted in accordance with the laws of this state and the customs of the party in so far as those customs do not conflict with existing laws. All white electors who are democrats and qualified to vote in the general elections who in good faith will pledge themselves to support the democratic candidates for all offices to be voted on this year are hereby declared qualified to vote in said primary (and the act of voting in said primary shall constitute the aforesaid pledge)."

Rule 5, which fixes the qualification of candidates, provides that:

"No person shall be deemed a candidate in said primary unless he is legally qualified to hold the office for which he announces, is a valid members and adherent of the democratic party in both state and national politics, and pays the assessments hereinafter prescribed, by the time hereinafter named . . ."

Mr. Steele, whom you are seeking to oppose in the primary, had a conference with me shortly after I made the statement that you were clearly disqualified as a candidate for more reasons than one, and that I thought the committee would so hold, and he stated to me that as a great many more people vote in the primaries in Georgia than usually vote in the general election he hoped the committee would allow you to run without making the point of disqualification, for the reason that he, Steele, did not want to represent the people of this district unless a clear majority of the people of the district wanted him as their representative.

So far as I am personally concerned, although I have not deviated in the slightest from my position as to your disqualification, I am willing to be governed by the wishes of Mr. Steele, who is the candidate, and you can run in the primary and call yourself anything you want to; but I want you to know that my personal views have not changed in the least.

Criticizes Record.

It is a very strange thing to me that you accepted the nomination under a democratic administration in 1918 and served from March 4, 1919, to March 4, 1921, under the administration of President Woodrow Wilson and in accepting that nomination you knew as a democrat that Mr. Wilson had vetoed the Volstead act and that it was passed over his veto. Incidentally I happened to vote to pass it over his veto. And as a matter of fact you know that during your whole term as a congressman from this district no serious effort was ever made on the floor of the house or senate to repeal the Volstead act. And you further know that the election of Governor Smith would no more jeopardize the future of prohibition in this country than did the wonderful democratic administration of Woodrow Wilson; and that you are simply using this argument in a district that you occasionally visit about election time, for the sole purpose of scaring the sober-minded people of this district into voting for you for congress. I have no doubt that for the past six months you have prayed night and day for the nomination of Al Smith in order that you might have some feeble excuse for offering yourself to the people of the fifth district as a candidate for congress.

In this connection I may say that I have noted with considerable amusement your statement about the thousands of friends who urged you to run and who paid your assessment. If you have any public comment to make about your freinds paying your assessment and putting you in the race after you left for the Houston convention I would be glad to have you write me a letter about that, as I would like to show the people of the fifth district that you have not stated the facts to them concerning the magnanimiy of your friends in paying your entrance fee and "forcing" you into the race.

In view of Mr. Steele's position with reference to your candidacy as outlined above, I have not called the committee together, and unless a majority of the committee request that this be done I will not call a meeting. Should there be a call of the committee I assure you that you will be notified and you will be given an opportunity to appear before the committee and show cause why you should not be excluded from the primary.

OLD RIVER PACKET EASTS RIVAL'S SMOKE

own boat and took an early lead which he increased to two lengths at Coney Island Amusement park, the half-way point, and to 800 feet at New Palestine, but Captain Charles Ellsworth cut that down to two lengths again three miles from the finish.

Thousands of spectators lined the banks all the way cheering the racers and faster smaller craft pursued them all the way with a din of whistles. Airplanes soared overhead and then returned to Cincinnati flying fields for more loads of passengers. The calliope on the steamship Island Queen started to play "Old Man River" and "Mississippi Mud."

Spectators hastened to the finish line, their automobiles thronging the roads into Richmond as the cry of "here they come!" went up. With their boilers straining until it seemed they must burst and the signals set at full speed ahead, the two boats went to the finish line and the Chris Greene barely got there first.

The race was engendered by a boast of Captain Greene that his boat could beat the Betsy Ann "any time" after reading press reports of a victory of the Betsy Ann over his boat last week. He claimed his ship had been four miles ahead of the Betsy Ann and had given up the race, allowing her to go ahead on their daily run up the river.

The Pittsburgh and Cincinnati packet lines, owners of the Betsy Ann, took up the challenge and offered the gilt Elk horns won and defended by the Betsy Ann in many a hard-fought race on the Mississippi and the Louisiana bayous in earlier days as a trophy for the victory.

The Betsy Ann was launched in 1915 and measures 170 feet by 35. She carried 150 passengers today while the Chris Greene, built in 1924 and measuring 180 feet by 42, carried 250. Hundreds of others fairly fought for the privilege of lining their rails during the race. Neither boat was stripped.

Captain M. O. Irwin, of the steamer Senator Cordill, Pittsburgh, telegraphed a challenge to the winner before the race, offering to deposit $500 with his crew to put up a like amount as a wager on the outcome. Rivermen hope for a renewal of the brave old days when frequent races decided the supremacy of the stream.

15-YEAR-OLD WIFE SHOT BY HUSBAND AT NEW ORLEANS

New Orleans, July 24.—(AP)—Mrs. Edith Scaffidi, 15-year-old bride of Anthony Scaffidi, a waiter, was shot and critically wounded by her husband late today, police reports said.

The shooting, police said, followed a domestic quarrel during which the young wife threatened to leave Scaffidi because he could not obtain work.

The girl tonight was near death in Charity hospital while her husband was held pending the outcome of her wounds.

U. S. WILL WITHDRAW TROOPS FROM CHINA

rant a material reduction in the force. The government might withdraw more except for the great distance. It is pointed out here that China is three weeks away and for this reason it is desired to retain some troops for the present because of possible emergencies. As conditions become more orderly, additional withdrawals probably will be made.

This action coincides with steps being taken by the state department, as reported by the United News Monday, to revise long-standing unequal Chinese treaties in view of the strides toward pacification being made by the new nationalist regime.

Adjustment Sought.

Although agitation for formal recognition of the new regime has developed in some quarters, it is pointed out here, questions affecting Chinese-American relations such as extra-territorial rights and the Chinese tariff system should be first adjusted. Formal recognition would follow rather than precede negotiations, it is suggested.

Adjustment of the Chinese situation is regarded as one of the most vital objectives of administration policies at the moment both for diplomatic and economic reasons.

Diplomatically, the United States has always regarded the friendship of China as a highly important element of its position in the Orient as this would be a governing factor in any difficulties in the Pacific.

Vast Undeveloped Market.

Economically, China represents a vast undeveloped market for manufactures, which makes the good-will of the Chinese people an important economic asset to the United States.

Tremendous expansion of machine production in America requires new foreign consumption outlets. Great Britain and Germany have similar need for new sales areas. Japan has adopted a policy of economic penetration which already has given Japanese capital an important place in Chinese industrial development. In such competition, good-will on the part of the Chinese will be a useful advantage.

Nothing has caused so much hostility among the Chinese as the unequal treaties. The nation which takes the initiative in wiping them out will be the recipient of genuine gratitude.

REVIVAL STARTED AT HOLSEY TEMPLE

Holsey temple, colored Methodist church, was packed Tuesday night when Evangelist R. T. Mitchell, well-known woman evangelist of her race, opened a revival meeting.

R. B. Williams, reporter for the church, gave a short talk following the sermon. I. N. Humphrey, pastor of Holsey temple, also made a few remarks. The meeting will continue each night for two weeks.

GERMAN MANEUVERS ARE CALLED OFF

Berlin, July 24.—(AP)—This year's combined German army and naval manoeuvers have been called off by the ministry of defense because of financial considerations. They were scheduled to be held on the Baltic coast in September.

It was declared that the state of the country's budget did not permit an extra outlay for the manoeuvers at present.

This tooth paste will buy you a first-class auto clock

You needn't dig into your pocket to buy a clock for your car. Let Listerine Tooth Paste buy it for you. Here's how it works out: The average dentifrice costs you 50c. You use a tube a month. Twelve times fifty equals six dollars, the yearly cost. Listerine Tooth Paste costs 25c (the large tube). Twelve times twenty-five equals three dollars. All right. Six dollars minus three dollars equals three dollars, your annual saving. Spend it as you please.

Millions have switched to this dentifrice

—whitens teeth at half the cost

THERE are many excellent dentifrices on the market selling at a trifle above or below 50c—but is it necessary to pay that much? Why not a first class dentifrice at 25c—scientifically correct for all types of teeth?

Believing this to be a sound price, we created Listerine Tooth Paste at 25c for a large tube. It is the result of more than fifty years' study of tooth and mouth troubles. Now it is sweeping the country. Everywhere it is supplanting older and costlier dentifrices that accomplish no more.

Due to the presence of an amazing new and gentle polishing agent, it keeps teeth gleaming white with almost no brushing. Included in it are certain ingredients we have found most ideal in keeping the mouth and gums fresh and healthy.

We ask you to try this paste not only for the marked saving (quite substantial in a large family) but for its delightful and speedy cleansing.

Get a tube at your druggist today. Try it for a month. See how it makes teeth gleam. Note how good your mouth feels after using it. Compare it with any paste you have ever used and judge by results alone. And then reflect that these results are costing you about half of what you would ordinarily pay.

SIX VICTORIOUS MONTHS for THE VICTORY SIX

When the Victory Six was announced six months ago it was the talk of the town.

What would it look like? What would it do? Would it be different from other cars? In what way? And so on.

Then the public saw the Victory Six!

Its freshness of design was a revelation. It was different. Like no other car.

Rakish and trim—low and graceful—smart hued and colorful—it captured the eye. Immediately.

Look again. Wider seats—more leg space. Big! Roomy!

Then it proved, in operation and performance, the promise suggested by its beauty.

Swift pick-up—smoothness—speed.

Dodge Brothers dependability again!

It was a great car then; it is an even greater car now.

It has stood the test.

Each month has seen a substantial increase in Victory Six sales.

Not because of what we have been saying for six months. Or because of what we say now.

But because of what the Victory Six is.

The snappiest, best looking, speediest car in its class.

WOMEN OF G. O. P. TO 'GET OUT VOTE'

Washington, July 24.—(AP)—Mobilization for Hoover and Curtis of the 24,000,000 "home makers" of the land, or non-voting women will be special object of the republican women's campaign, rather than drives for the votes of organized club women and registered voters.

At a woman's organization meeting here today plans were launched to concentrate on the woman in the home. National committeewomen from 18 states of the east and south made enthusiastic reports of campaigns already begun.

50 Per Cent Stay Home.

After short addresses by Hubert Work, chairman; Franklin W. Fort, secretary, and J. Francis Burke, counsel of the national committee, emphasizing the belief that "women this year will play a greater part in republican politics than ever before," Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, vice chairman of the national committee, announced the mobilization plan.

"Fifty per cent of women are eligible to vote but do not go near the polls," she said. "Home making is the basis of our family life, the background of all our political relations. If America is to maintain her position of leadership in world affairs, home makers must function in politics as well as in the home."

Confident predictions were made by southern women at the meeting that Hoover would carry at least four southern states, Tennessee, North Carolina, Florida and Alabama, largely through the women's votes.

Sees Smith's Downfall.

"When Smith came out as a wet it was the greatest thing that ever happened for the republican movement in the south," said Mrs. Beulah Hughes of Tennessee. "More women have registered than ever before, just to vote against Smith and I believe they will leave the democratic party permanently."

"It is more than a campaign, it is a moral crusade," echoed Mrs. W. E. Kennan, of North Carolina. "We expect to register 150,000 Hoover women. We don't have to organize the democratic women. They are doing that spontaneously."

Mrs. Mary C. Booze, of Mississippi, who arrived unexpectedly, predicted "more republican votes in Mississippi than ever before."

"Hoover women in the northeastern states are full of courage," as to the outcome, said Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer of Massachusetts. Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Sharpe, proxy for Mrs. C. J. Steedman of Rhode Island, added that "Hoover-Curtis clubs will be open to the many non-republican Hoover women in Rhode Island."

Claims Empire State.

Governor Smith will be defeated in his own state, predicted Mrs. Charles S. Sabin of New York, who said that "he has been beaten, and with the vigorous type of campaign we will put on there he will be beaten again." She added that special measures would be taken to reach immigrant women.

In New Jersey and New Hampshire the woman's vote "will prove a vital factor," agreed Mrs. W. R. Baker and Mrs. Nellie P. Parker, respectively, of those states.

Mrs. Hugh Clark of Ohio, who defeated Mrs. W. S. Levan, formerly of the Willis slate for the national committee post, said "we will sweep the state with the Hoover-Curtis ticket," but could only "hope" that Willis women would work for it. Although Illinois women are organized, "down to the last precinct," Mrs. Bertha Baur of that state saw trouble ahead with the women of farming districts.

COUSIN OF LINDY ASSIGNED BY NAVY TO GUGGENHEIM

Washington, July 24.—(AP)—Captain Emory S. Land, assistant chief of the naval bureau of aeronautics, is to become adviser for the Guggenheim Foundation for the Promotion of Aeronautics, not later than September 1. The navy department has not decided whether he will be detailed to this duty for one year or whether he will be given a year's leave of absence.

It was indicated that Captain E. J. King, commander of the aircraft squadron of the scouting fleet, would succeed Captain Land as assistant chief of the bureau of aeronautics.

Land is a cousin of Charles A. Lindbergh.

BY DON BROWN.
(Copyright, 1928, in all countries by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

As a fairly average individual, one of the hundreds of thousands who have become aviation enthusiasts during the past 12 months, I am learning to fly and am writing and drawing my experiences for The Constitution.

I'll go through everything from the ground school and the first practice hop to the final "solo" flight.

Even the most famous fliers had to go through these first experiences, had to learn their "A, B, Cs." I intend to get an idea of what they faced.

All these men spent hundreds of hours in the air before they attempted the feats which made them famous. But I have a hunch that those first ten hours were like the famous "first ten years" of the war, probably the hardest and most exciting.

"Flying" School Had No Planes.

To begin, I started wrong and wasted several tedious weeks. Not knowing any flying men, I answered a well-written magazine advertisement and enrolled in a school which had impressive new executive offices in downtown New York. Their stenographers were evidently picked by Mr. Ziegfeld, that part of their equipment was A-1. But after three weeks of fooling around in a ground school, which had no equipment except the salvage from a wrecked wartime training plane, and getting promises every day of a flying field and training planes "in a few more days," I became disgusted.

The upkeep of the impressive office had been so heavy the outfit couldn't pay for any planes or lease a field.

Many of the students in my class paid this company from $500 to $800 in cash for their courses. Some of them were low-salaried clerks or mechanics who had been saving for the tuition for several years.

I went to the aviation editor of a metropolitan newspaper. He told me that such "bloomer" schools are popping up over the country like flowers in the spring. Before you pay any any money to a school for flying instruction, go out and look over their equipment or have their financial status looked up, he told me.

Ready to Fly.

He sent me out to the Newark-Elizabeth Airport in New Jersey, where there was a flying school with licensed planes and pilots.

Out there, I found Fred Reich, the head of the school, dressed in blue overalls, driving a steam roller over a rough corner of the field. I had to climb up on the roller and talk with him. His "executive office" wasn't so impressive but there were some silver and blue Waco biplanes at the edge of the field and a big yellow plane ready to be assembled in the hangar. After three weeks of that other "ground school," they looked good to me.

"Fill out this application to the department of commerce for a student pilot's license," he said. "You'll have to take a physical examination for flying. Get that over with, come out to the field tomorrow and you can start your preliminary work. We are setting up another training ship for some of you boys to bust. If you start tomorrow maybe you'll get a whack at it before they wash it out. See you tomorrow."

(In his next article Don Brown tells of ground school and its dullness.)

DAUGHTER SOUGHT AFTER MAN'S BODY IS FOUND ON ROAD

Lake City, Fla., July 24.—(AP)—Authorities tonight sought for questioning the daughter and son-in-law of G. W. Simmons, aged man, whose body was found beside the Lake City-Jacksonville highway today. Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Booth, son-in-law and daughter of the dead man, were last seen late last night with Simmons at a tourist camp here.

Simmons' body apparently had been thrown from a vehicle, and his skull had been crushed, a coroner's jury decided.

The automobile in which the trio left the tourist camp bore an Ohio license number, 141-560, it was learned.

Police in all neighboring cities had been asked to look out for the car or the couple.

ALLEGED BOMBER CLINGS TO DENIAL OF AUTO SLAYING

Rockford, Ill., July 24.—(AP)—Shortly after Paul Reed, 24-year-old draftsman, today confessed stealing three sticks of dynamite from a stone quarry near Polo, Ill., he was bound over to the October county grand jury without bond for the murder of Vernon Plager, Rockford radio expert, who was killed by a bomb in his automobile last Thursday.

Reed denies any connection with the bombing, maintaining he stole the dynamite to blast out a spring at a lake in Wisconsin.

All but one stick of dynamite was found in Reed's former rooming house. He said the missing stick had been broken and he threw it into the river. It was a dynamite bomb that blew up Plager's car, experts determined.

Mrs. Iva Plager, widow of the radio man, with whom Reed had had a clandestine affair, was released today after having been held for questioning since the bombing.

Committee To Name Dr. Jones' Successor Will Meet Tonight

The Second Baptist church committee charged with selection of a new pastor to succeed the Rev. Carter Helm Jones, will hold its first meeting tonight in conjunction with the regular prayer meeting. CARSWELL CAMPAIGN HEADQUARTERS OPEN

Following the formal opening of campaign headquarters Tuesday in the Kimball house, George H. Carswell, who seeks reelection as secretary of state, announced he would issue a formal statement of the policies on which his campaign will be based within the next few days.

T. S. Mason, of Hartwell, a fellow-member of both the house and senate with Mr. Carswell, has been placed in charge of the Carswell headquarters. They are personal and political friends of long standing.

GEORGIA AIR MAIL EXHIBIT FOR GOTHAM

Blase New York, center for many traffic arteries great and small, will learn what the Atlanta-New York air mail line has meant to the development of Atlanta and Georgia on August 21, plans for an exhibit of Georgia products in the eastern metropolis disclosed here Tuesday.

An air mail exhibit of Georgia manufactured products will be placed before the public in the Waldorf Astoria hotel, an announcement by B. S. Barker, executive vice-president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, said.

The Georgia society and the Merchant's association, both of New York city, will jointly sponsor the exhibits. The Georgia products will literally sweep down out of the air into the exhibition tables, it is planned, for they will be forwarded from Atlanta on the evening of August 1, in time to arrive for the opening on the following morning.

The task of mustering a representative and diversified exhibit of Georgia products has been taken up by both the senior and junior Chambers of Commerce here, said Mr. Barker, who explained the air mail exhibit's purpose to be two-fold.

"We want to show eastern capitalists, former Atlanta residents and residents of other Georgia cities that our state is no longer purely agricultural and that manufactories and mills make up a large portion of its vast wealth," he explained.

"The chamber's other purpose is to call attention to Atlanta's air mail service and to emphasize the drastic reductions in air mail postage rates which become effective on August 1."

The new air mail rate will be five cents for the first ounce, a figure only three cents that for ordinary mail —and ten cents for each additional ounce.

Under plans the air mail exhibits will be assembled at the Chamber of Commerce building and held until noon on August 1. Only one exhibit will be accepted for each classification. The exhibits will be mailed from Candler field.

GEORGIA LEADERS ON FARM PROGRAM

Savannah, Ga., July 24.—(AP)—State officialdom, the editorial ranks and men of high executive position in industrial life will have places on the program of the annual meeting of the Georgia State Agricultural society, according to a schedule for the conclave released here this morning. The program, released by Judge Peter W. Meldrim, president, calls for a two-day session beginning in Savannah August 1.

Georgia officialdom will be represented on the speaking program by Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture, and John N. Holder, commissioner of highways, the announcement says.

Railway officialdom will present J. J. Pelly, president of the Central of Georgia; Roland Turner, general agricultural agent for the Southern railway, and J. N. McBride, general agricultural and land settlement agent for the Seaboard Air Line railway.

T. H. McHatton, of the Georgia State College of Agriculture, is to have the topic, "The Place for Farm Truck on Georgia Farms," plans stipulate. Others who are to represent the state university include Paul Tabor and W. J. Firor.

William T. Anderson, editor of the Macon Telegraph, is expected to inject an editorial flavor into the program, and "Farm Legislation" will be offered by Charles R. Crisp, congressman from the third Georgia district.

The Georgia State Agricultural society, founded in 1810, is believed among the oldest institutions of its kind in the United States. Savannah people who are interested in the development of the Georgia state fair here have been especially invited to attend and mingle with the other guests.

Al Smith Will Fire First Barrage of 1928 Poll Campaign on August 22

Albany, N. Y., July 24.—(AP)—From the towering east steps of the state capitol Governor Smith will tell the country, at twilight on Wednesday, August 22, just where he stands on campaign issues. The date for his notification ceremony, which will get under way at 7 p. m., eastern daylight time, was fixed today.

Around and below the democratic presidential nominee on the high stone tier and in the adjoining park it is expected a crowd, perhaps numbering more than 100,000, will be massed. Through a radio network, embracing about 100 stations, his voice will be carried to the far corners of the nation and even across international boundaries.

Governor Gives Out News.

Uncertainty as to the exact time for the notification, which will come after those for Herbert Hoover and Senator Curtis, the republican standard-bearers, ended when Smith himself announced that difficulties in obtaining clear time for a nationwide radio hook-up had been cleared away.

It is the governor's custom to give out news concerning his plans direct to newspapermen at a daily press conference. Today after the cigars had been passed a reporter led off with the question which for days had brought a negative response: "Any notification plans?" "Yes," Smith replied, as from behind his desk he smiled and shifted his cigar. "It will be Wednesday, August 22, at 7 p. m."

"Regardless of Weather."

Regardless of weather conditions it is the plan to go ahead with the ceremony four weeks from tomorrow evening. If it rains, the notification probably will take place in the assembly chamber, where the nominee spent years of his executive career, and on four occasions in midwinter has taken the oath of office as governor. That hall is scarcely large enough to accommodate the notification committee, Smith's family and personal friends, distinguished guests and newspapermen, but radio arrangements would not be upset and the country could listen-in just the same.

Speak for Hour.

Although he has not put his acceptance speech into writing, Governor Smith figures that it will take him an hour to carry out his promise to treat adequately all campaign issues, including prohibition and farm relief. He calculated that the notification speech of Senator Pittman, of Nevada, who will head the official committee, will take about 15 minutes and that a like period will be required for "incidental business," making the entire time for the ceremony an hour and a half.

The nominee had no detailed information as to the radio hookup, having left those arrangements to lieutenants in New York. It was said, however, that approximately 90 stations would be in the network, 68 of them under the jurisdiction of the National Broadcasting company, the others affiliated or independent stations.

Second in Albany.

The Smith notification will be the second to be held in Albany. Grover Cleveland having been apprised here of his selection as the democratic presidential nominee, 44 years ago, while he was governor of the state. That ceremony, in 1884, when there was no radio to carry the acceptance speech far and wide, was held near the executive mansion.

Fixing of the hour for the start of the Smith notification at 7 p. m., eastern daylight time, will put the democratic nominee on the air an hour earlier in the day than his opponent, Hoover, who will be notified at Palo Alto, Calif., August 11, beginning at 4 p. m., coast time, or 8 p. m., in Albany.

Some of Governor Smith's advisers have urged that he speak later to provide for evening reception in the west with a possibility that more would be able to listen in, but he expressed satisfaction over the hour set.

Time Satisfactory.

"Is the time satisfactory to you," he was asked.

"Most assuredly," he replied.

After he had made his announcement regarding the notification, the governor was led by inquiring reporters into a brief discussion of the political outlook, particularly based on the claims of strength made by Senator Moses, of New Hampshire, director of campaign activities in the east for the republicans.

"Senator Moses says the republicans are facing their hardest fight since 1892," some suggested.

"I didn't vote in '92," Smith countered, adhering to his policy of refraining from any discussion of the campaign plans or claims of his opponents.

"Moses claims the republicans will carry New York by a large majority," the reporter pursued persistently, and then the nominee threw down the bars to this extent:

"Don't managers always claim everything in sight? I was elected governor four times against claims to the contrary."

"Then you don't think much of the republican attitude of confidence in the east."

"No, I've heard it so often that it's stale," Smith remarked, and that was all for the day.

8 Delegates, 3 Reporters At Convention

Bull Moose Party Opens Political Sessions at Omaha, Neb.

Omaha, Neb., July 24.—(AP)—Eleven persons, including three newspapermen, comprised the attendance of the opening session of a national convention here today, called by Dr. Henry Hoffman, Omaha groceryman, and naturopath, to reorganize the progressives or Bull Moose party.

The first session lasted a half hour. No attempt was made to perfect either a temporary or permanent organization and the entire session was devoted to the reading by Dr. Hoffman of letters from half a dozen supporters of the new political movement. One of the letters regretted the inability of Jane Addams, of Hull house, Chicago, noted reform leader, to attend.

A letter from Lincoln, Neb., stressed the need of a "strong platform to be used against Tammany."

That Dr. Hoffman would deliver the keynote speech was definitely decided today. Dr. Benjamin Lusk, president of the World Reform league, had been scheduled for this duty, but he arrived in Omaha a day early and had to proceed westward. "It would have cost Dr. Lusk $100 to stay over and that is too high, when I could give the speech myself," Dr. Hoffman said.

The first and only delegate to arrive today was J. H. Crumb, 84, civil war veteran of the Soldiers' home at Leavenworth, Kas.

Mercury Drop Today Probable But No Rains

Although thundershower probabilities today practically are nil, a slight ease-off from the heavy heat of the past few days may be noted, as the thermometer is slated to go no higher than 88 degrees today, according to the prediction of C. F. von Herrmann, meteorologist of the local weather bureau.

A light thundershower late Tuesday afternoon cooled off the day and prevented the mercury from hitting the 90-degree mark, according to schedule. Low temperature was 74 degrees at 6 a. m. Tuesday and high during the day was 89 degrees.

Hotter Last Year.

While Atlantans have perspired and complained of the broiling sun of the past few days, figures prepared Tuesday by C. F. von Herrmann showed that temperatures were 13 degrees higher during the current 10 days of last year.

BURGLARS ROB HOME OF JOHN MORRIS, JR.

The home of John Morris, Jr., at 1801 Peachtree street, Tuesday night was entered by burglars, who stole clothing valued at approximately $300. Mr. Morris left home at about 8 o'clock at night and returned at 10 o'clock, to find that the screen to the outside front door had been cut and the glass of the front door broken. Call Officers C. C. Harper and J. W. Holland investigated.

American Shot By Ex-Husband Of His Fiancee

Berlin, July 24.—(AP)—Martin Van Halder, a mechanic from Milwaukee, Wis., was shot 11 times and mortally wounded today by the former husband of his fiancee.

Albert Flattau, an escaped convict who did the shooting, barricaded himself in the flat occupied by the woman and kept police at bay for two hours until he was severely wounded.

Van Halder, who is 29, was taken to a hospital, where it was said his case was hopeless.

Flattau found Van Halder in the apartment and exclaiming to the woman, "You have betrayed me," fired several shots at her. The bullets missed her but Van Halder grappled with Flattau and was wounded in the struggle. A workman who tried to aid him was also wounded, but not seriously.

The arrival of the police attracted a large crowd. When Flattau refused to surrender and opened fire on the officers, the spectators remained to watch the fight and the police had difficulty keeping them out of the line of fire.

ADRIFT AT SEA SIX DAYS, PAIR SAVED

New York, July 24.—(AP)—Two men who went to sea for a fishing excursion off the Florida coast, only to drift helplessly for six days when their craft became disabled, told the story of their mishap today when the Panama Pacific steamer Manchuria, which rescued them last Sunday 95 miles from St. Augustine, reached port.

Charles R. Stone and Aaron Cox, the latter a negro, were the adventurers. Three hours after they set out from Lake Worth, Fla., with enough food to last three weeks, their speed boat's magneto failed. Stone labored with it 18 hours, and when he finally fixed it the boat had drifted far out to sea.

Within four miles of shore the gasoline gave out and the craft sprang a leak. The men rigged sails from jumpers and canvas, but their emergency equipment could not counteract the current of the gulf stream.

Last Saturday night they made flares from the flooring of the boat and their clothes. No vessel answered their signal. They carefully apportioned their meager water supply. On Sunday afternoon, two hours after their water had been exhausted, they sighted the Manchuria and coaxed their crippled craft toward her track.

Captain James E. Roberts, master of the steamer, changed his course for six miles and picked them up. Stone and Cox were put in the ship's hospital, but apparently had suffered few ill effects from their adventure.

WEALTHY WOMAN, HELD WITH DOCTOR, RELEASED ON BOND

Norristown, Pa., July 24.—(AP)—Mrs. Grace T. Sauveur, wealthy divorcee, today declared that charges made by Dr. Virginia Alvarez Hussey, on which she and the physician's husband, Lindley M. Hussey, are held in bail, "are absolutely without foundation."

Mrs. Sauveur has posted $1,000 bail to obtain her release on a charge of misconduct. She was arrested on a warrant obtained by Dr. Hussey before Dr. Hussey appeared in Norristown last Friday and told police she had killed her husband and a woman. Hussey is being held in $2,000 bail on charges of misconduct and non-support.

Hussey and Mrs. Sauveur were found Saturday night near Lambertville, N. J. They explained they had gone there because Dr. Hussey had threatened Mrs. Sauveur.

Dr. Hussey is reported improving at the state hospital for mental diseases, where she was taken yesterday for treatment.

ZINK AND SULLIVAN, SHOOTING VICTIMS, RELEASED AT GRADY

Patrick Sullivan and John Zink, victims in two shooting affairs, who have been waging a fight for life at Grady, were released from Grady hospital Tuesday and returned to their homes.

Sullivan was wounded by H. C. Garrison, who claims self defense, during an altercation between the two men on July 14, in the Terminal station. The shooting grew out of Garrison's attentions to Miss Louise Stanfield, according to Sullivan's statement.

Zink was shot down on the night of July 6, by three men in a passing automobile. E. L. Griffin, J. R. Griffin and W. O. Heath. The three men were arrested, but claimed that the shooting was a case of mistaken identity, and that they thought they had shot Fred Fair, who is alleged to have kidnapped Mrs. W. O. Heath.

Police are still searching for Fair, who has been indicted on a charge of kidnapping by the Fulton county grand jury.

WOOD IS LEADING PILOTS IN NATIONAL RELIABILITY RACE

St. Paul, July 24.—(AP)—Barring accidents, first place in the national reliability air tour virtually has been cinched by John Wood, of Wausau, Wis., flying a Waco plane.

This was indicated today by Ray Collins, traveling referee of the tour, who said Wood has a lead of 2,300 points over Frank Hawks, flying a tri-motored monoplane.

Collins with his pilot, Captain R. G. Greene, flew from Fargo, N. D., in advance of the tourists, 23 of whom arrived there yesterday.

St. Paul was the next leg today, with a two-day stopover planned here.

The aviators will leave Thursday morning en route to Detroit, the starting point of the trip.

Mayor Walks Into Whirling Propeller; Head Badly Slashed

Vancouver, B. C., July 24.—(AP)—Struck by an airplane propeller, Mayor L. D. Taylor, of Vancouver, was in a serious condition today. As he walked forward to receive a civic welcoming committee on the inauguration of a tri-city air route, he was struck by a whirling propeller of a tri-motored monoplane and rendered unconscious. His head was badly slashed.

The mayor had just alighted from the plane after making the first trip over the Victoria, Seattle, Vancouver air route. The accident happened at the city's temporary airport at Lula Island.

Church Membership Totals

:: CATHOLICS INCREASE 20 PER CENT IN 10 YEARS ::

Reported by Census Bureau

Washington, July 24.—(AP)—The membership of the Roman Catholic church in the United States totaled 18,604,850 persons in 1926, an increase of nearly 20 per cent over the total membership of ten years before, which was reported as 15,721,815. The figures were made public today by the census bureau as a part of its regular decennial count of religious body membership.

Catholic churches in 1926 numbered 18,939 as compared with 17,375 in 1916.

Census returns for a number of the larger Protestant denominations have been announced by the bureau for 1926, but are still incomplete and such large groupings as the southern Baptist convention have yet to be enumerated.

A total membership of 4,080,777 was reported for the Methodist Episcopal church for 1926 with 26,130 churches as compared with 29,315 churches and 3,717,785 members in 1916. The Methodist Episcopal church south had 18,096 churches and 2,487,694 members in 1926 as compared with 19,184 churches and 2,114,479 members in 1916. The northern Baptist convention in 1926 had 7,612 churches and 1,290,438 members against 8,148 churches and 1,232,135 members in 1916.

The Protestant Episcopal church for 1926 reported 7,299 churches with 1,858,966 members while in 1916 it was credited with 7,345 churches and 1,092,821 members.

The Presbyterian church in the United States of America for 1926 reported 8,947 churches and 1,894,030 members, against 9,639 churches and 1,611,251 members in 1916.

There were 5,257 Congregational churches with 901,846 members in 1926 against 5,863 churches and 791,274 members in 1916.

The negro Baptist church in 1926 had 22,082 churches and 3,196,823 members while in 1916 it had 21,071 churches and 2,938,579 members.

The Disciples of Christ had 7,648 churches and 1,377,595 members in 1926 against a 1916 church total of 8,396 with 1,226,028 members.

All of the Protestant denominations, the bureau explained, have a number of federated churches in which two or more denominations are associated.

All figures for 1926 were announced as preliminary and subject to correction.

ITALY ASKS NEW HUNT FOR ITALIA SURVIVORS

Moscow, July 24.—(AP)—The soviet rescue commission has received an official request from the Italian government to search for the still missing men carried off in the bag of the Italia as well as an offer of two airplanes to assist.

The Italian government also offered to finance repairs to the ice cutter Krassin and to supply coal and food for a further expedition.

NEW AMUNDSEN HUNT ORGANIZED.

Oslo, July 24.—(AP)—Search along the east coast of Greenland for Roald Amundsen and his five companions, missing in a French seaplane since June 18, was being organized today.

The director of the meteorological institute at Tromsoe who supplied all the polar expeditions with weather forecasts, has calculated the probable whereabouts of the plane on the assumption that it came down somewhere near Bear Island, midway between Norway and Spitzbergen, and allowing for its drift.

To put the theory to a test, Meteorologist Devold and five fishermen are going to the eastern coast of Greenland to visit all food depots there. They will travel by the motorship Terningen and put in first at Moucheron bay.

The French vessel Pourquoi Pas, with Dr. Jean Charcot aboard, left Tromsoe last night on a westerly course. It will also skirt the coast of Greeland and along the great ice barriers.

VALDOSTA TOBACCO WAREHOUSES OPEN MONDAY, JULY 30

Valdosta, Ga., July 24.—(Special.) The five Valdosta tobacco warehouses will open their doors Monday, July 30, to receive tobacco for the 1928 tobacco season. Sales open on Wednesday, August 1.

The five warehouses' floors will accommodate approximately 1,000,000 pounds of tobacco for each sale, affording ample floor space.

In addition to buyers for the American Tobacco company, the Export Tobacco company, the Imperial tobacco company, the China-American Tobacco company, Liggett & Myers Tobacco company and R. J. Reynolds, there will be a considerable number of other buyers. Many of these represent large concerns which do not provide their own buyers, while others are speculators buying on their own account for future sales.

Valdosta warehousemen are looking for a large increase in the tonnage sales in this city for 1928, some expressing the opinion that the market will run as high as 10,000,000 pounds. Solicitors for the five warehouses are redoubling activity in covering the territory now, making the last call upon the growers for their business. The curing process is rapidly reaching the end, and the greater portion of the crop is now either in the packing warehouse or in the barns. Reports so far indicate that the crop as a whole is the best quality the section has ever produced.

ORDER FOR RETURN OF ACCUSED DRUG PEDDLER ISSUED

Jacksonville, Fla., July 24.—(AP)—Papers for the return of Harry Sherrill to Tula, Okla., to face trial on narcotic charges, were signed by Judge Lake Jones in federal court here late today, but were ordered held in abeyance for 10 days pending possible appeal of the case to the United States circuit court at New Orleans. Bail for an appeal was set at $10,000 in addition to $15,000 bond demanded for two narcotic indictments against Sherrill.

Sherrill, indicted at Tulsa, in 1925, is alleged to have jumped $12,000 bond.

Youth Surrenders After Killing Boy Thought Auto Theft

Chicago, July 24.—(AP)—After killing an unidentified 19-year-old youth who he said was trying to steal his automobile, Walter Rogers, 20, gave himself up to the police today.

Before reporting the shooting Rogers climbed into his car and drove to the Cook county hospital with the body. There he gave the body to attendants and sped away before police could be summoned.

A general alarm was turned in, but before squad cars could be put out on the street Rogers had given himself up at the Warren avenue police station.

He declared he shot the youth in the back when he saw him bending over the gears while sitting in the driver's seat, attempting to start the motor.

EIGHT-YEAR FEUD ENDS IN MURDER

New York, July 24.—(AP)—A blood feud of eight years standing was blamed by police for the killing early today of Antonio Iamnalo, 35, shot down in the Italian quarter of Brooklyn.

Iamnalo, police said, was involved in a killing in Brooklyn eight years ago and fled to Italy. He returned to this country three weeks ago intending to send for his wife and family later.

Fearing that his enemies might still be looking for him he had been keeping under cover, staying in his room during the day, and getting out for exercise walks only at night.

This morning at 4 o'clock he was standing on a street corner when an open car with seven occupants drove past him. One of the men discharged both barrels of a doubled barreled shotgun. Inanalo was killed almost instantly.

Police reserves were called to restore order in the neighborhood, and extra men were detailed to guard the bridges leading to Manhattan and stop all cars.

Five men were arrested later in an automobile in Manhattan, but all denied knowledge of the crime and police said the car in which they were driving was not the same kind as the murder car. They held the men for further questioning, however.

"Where Good Furniture Is Not Expensive"

Big Railroad Company Gives 16 Southern Business College Pupils Splendid Positions

Several Firms Also Supplied During the Week With Stenographers and Bookkeepers.

To be ready for the job when it comes, is the all-important thing.

Ten days ago 25 students of the large classes now attending the Southern Shorthand and Business University were just about finishing their business training.

Since that time the door of "opportunity" has opened to them and they are now pleasantly located in positions which will lead to the goal of their ambition.

On Friday, last, a great railroad system picked 16 hard-working, good-looking, business-trained young people from the student body of the Southern Business College and put them to work.

During the same week several important firms also selected office help from the Southern's Employment Department. These pupils were ready when the positions came along, and others are now enthusiastically preparing, while at the same time, still others are daily enrolling to make the start toward "preparation," and this is the wise thing to do.

This is an age of wide-awake men and women—everything belongs to them. There is no place, nor property, nor peace for the laggard. If you are not up and doing, take the Southern's word for it, you will shortly be down and out.

Great things are always happening in Atlanta, and the Southern Business College has a way of getting mixed up among them. It keeps in touch with big business and big business knows the quality of its graduates. One firm has an office force of 22, every one of whom is a graduate of the Southern.

Reece King was an ambitious young fellow who aspired to a business career. He was also energetic. He got busy as soon as he finished high school, enrolled at the Southern, and has already gone to a mighty good job, about which he has just written to the management. His letter, which is published below, is indeed interesting:

Atlanta, Ga., July 21, 1928.

Southern Shorthand & Business University,
86 Whitehall Street, N. W.
Atlanta, Georgia.
Gentlemen:

Please accept my thanks for the kindness and close attention shown me while attending your school.

After completing a six months' course in Shorthand, Typewriting and Bookkeeping, I accepted a position with the Mavis Bottling Company, of this city, with which I am well pleased, and everything seems to point to a bright and prosperous future.

REECE KING Finishes Course at the S. S. & Business University, and Accepts Position With the Mavis Bottling Company.

I shall never regret the day I started out to prepare for the Business World, and I am confident that I could not have selected a better institution than the Southern. The "Office Practice Department" is what I consider the "Cream of the Crop," and one can plainly feel the effects of its training after getting into an office. No one could possibly go wrong by attending the Southern.

Again thanking you for your kind co-operation and with greatest wishes for the future continued success of your institution, I am,

Yours very truly,
REECE KING.

Keep constantly in the foreground of your mind the indisputable fact that preparation for the doing, in a superior way, of some task that the world wants done, is at the very base of every successful career.

The Southern prepares its pupils in a superior way. Enroll now or next week for training. There never was a better time to begin. Write, call or phone for catalog. L. W. Arnold, President, 86 Whitehall St., S. W., Atlanta, Ga. Phone WA. 8834.

The Southern is accredited by the National Association of Accredited Commercial Schools.

Eight out of every ten business men in Atlanta refer inquiries for a good school to the Southern.

These outstanding facts cannot be overlooked by prospective pupils. The very best business training is the kind to obtain. The Southern is the place at which to secure it. Call or write today.—(adv.)

Atlantan Wins Stage Success

:: MISS MYRTLE COX TELLS STORY OF CAREER ::

Despite Illness and Injury

The story of an Atlanta girl who battled heroically against the ravages of sickness and accidental injuries to maintain a place before the footlights with leading New York theatrical productions, which she had won through clever resourcefulness almost immediately upon her arrival in the big city, was told here Tuesday by Miss Myrtle Cox, pretty dancer and singer in Fred Stone's latest hit, "Criss-Cross."

Miss Cox related the incidents that led from her first stage appearance in a Red Cross benefit performance at the age of 13 to her latest Broadway engagement at an age she laughingly declines to state.

Miss Cox is spending the summer months with her mother, Mrs. A. H. Slaton, at 646 Brookline street, S. W., in the domestic atmosphere that is her greatest delight when off the stage.

Opportunity for a stage career came first when a scholarship was offered to the Atlanta girl who displayed the most promising natural talent as a dancer by Ned Wayburn, well-known theatrical figure who was directing the Junior League Follies here at the time.

With the scholarship won Miss Cox boarded the Gotham special. "Then, the fun began," she said.

"Mr. Wayburn gave me letters to Flo Ziegfeld and other leading producers of musical comedies, and I thought that was all that was necessary to obtain an audience with the theater magnates. I didn't know then that Mr. Wayburn was just testing my perseverance and ingenuity. He was more surprised than I when I had succeeded in obtaining an appointment with Mr. Ziegfeld by catching him unaware in the lobby of the theater, which finally resulted in my being offered a part in the Florida productions for which Mr. Ziegfeld was preparing his New York cast at that time.

"Because of this Mr. Wayburn held me up as an example for his other pupils, but he advised against leaving New York. I made my first acquaintance with Broadway in 'The City Chap,' a musical comedy produced by C. B. Dillingham.

"When an attack of appendicitis made me abandon the stage and come back to Atlanta, Mr. Dillingham gave me a contract for a part in 'Criss-Cross,' a play to be produced some time later. On returning to New York I took a profitable offer to appear in 'I. O. U. One Woman,' but it proved a 'flop' on Broadway and I got into the cast of 'Sunny.' In an accident I had a blood vessel broken, developing into a hemorrhage. Rehearsals for 'Criss-Cross' were about to begin and this proved a severe set-back. Later I appeared in 'The Five O'Clock Girl' with Mary Eaton and Oscar Shaw."

Miss Cox will continue in 'Criss-Cross' when she returns to New York in the fall, joining a company that has completed its New York run on the road.

NEGRO MINISTERS PREPARE PROGRAM FOR GREAT RALLY

Discussion of plans for a great convention of Christian workers, who will gather here at Big Bethel church August 15 in response to an S O S call, featured the regular meeting of the A. M. E. Ministers' union at Bethel Tuesday.

A paper on "Sanctification" was read to the union by Rev. S. D. Green and discussed by Drs. C. A. Wingfield, J. W. Williams, J. W. Langcaster, J. L. Butler, D. R. Fobbs and Bishop W. A. Fountain, D. D. Dr. R. J. Jefferson made a report on "Current News."

Bishop Fountain has been made head of a state joint committee, which, with the aid of Dr. C. A. Wingfield, state superintendent of Sunday school work, in preparing the program for the tri-state conventions and the entertaining of the large delegations of Christian workers who will meet at Bethel.

The auditorium-armory has been obtained to stage a great singing contest on Friday night, August 17.

The pastors of the city, headed by Drs. W. B. L. Clark, Allen Temple; L. R. Parker, St. Paul; A. D. Hardaman, Cosmopolitan; J. L. Butler, Big Bethel, of Atlanta, have assured the committee that Atlanta will be ready for the delegation.

COAL OPERATORS TO MEET MINERS

Chicago, July 24.—(AP)—A joint conference of Illinois coal operators and mine workers for negotiating a new wage agreement has been set for next Tuesday in Chicago following action of the operators' association today in accepting the invitation of the miners to meet in a new wage parley.

The agreement on a joint conference follows action taken by the miners' union several days ago in deciding to lay aside the Jacksonville wage scale in future negotiations for a wage contract.

Meeting Is Called.

The operators' meeting here today was called by W. J. Jenkins, president of the association, after Harry Fishwick, president of the Illinois mine workers, signified the miners' willingness to meet in conference unrestricted by the Jacksonville agreement.

The operators immediately sent word to Fishwick, notifying him of their acceptance of the conference invitation and asking him to set the date. Fishwick named Tuesday, July 31.

First Since Last Spring.

The joint conference will be the first since early last spring, when a previous conference ended without any agreement and left the Illinois coal situation virtually the same as when the Jacksonville agreement expired in April, 1927, causing the closing down of the coal mines.

Operators and miners both are agreed that the outlook now for renewed production in the bituminous coal fields is better than at any time since the Jacksonville agreement expired.

The trouble revolved around the Jacksonville agreement because the operators insisted they could not compete with the non-union fields and pay that scale, while the miners' organization insisted they could not abrogate the agreement.

LIGHTNING HITS TWO RESIDENCES; DAMAGE IS SLIGHT

Lightning struck two homes in the southwestern section of Atlanta late Tuesday afternoon, within the space of 15 minutes, according to fire department reports.

The first alarm came from 1158 Sims street, S. W., the home of Mary Keith, a one-story frame dwelling, but the fire had been extinguished when the department arrived. This alarm came in at 4:39 o'clock.

The other call came from the home of M. A. Landers, owned by C. O. Caryell, at 955 Ransom street, S. W., at 4:45 o'clock. The slight blaze in the on-estory brick building was extinguished with chemicals.

Former Lover Accused by Widow

Rockford, Ill., police, trying to solve the mystery in the death of Vernon Plager, 28, killed by an infernal machine which exploded when he endeavored to start his auto, have an explanation from the widow, 22, who was arrested, that "Paul did it." Paul Reed, 24, held in a near-by cell, told the state's attorney he and Mrs. Plager had planned an elopement. Mrs. Plager said she ran away with Reed last year, and was gone two weeks. Mrs. Plager, above, as she was snapped in her cell, exclaimed: "I only went with him because I wanted a good time." Reed is shown at right, and wrecked car below.

EGYPTIAN LEADER REPORTED KILLED

Jerusalem, July 24.—(AP)—An unconfirmed rumor has reached here by way of Jaffa that Mohammed Mahmoud, prime minister of Egypt, has been assassinated.

TOBACCO FIRMS MAY RESCIND CUT

New York, July 24.—(AP)—Wall street heard today that the reduction in the wholesale price of cigarettes which was put in effect last April shortly would be rescinded.

Officials of leading cigarette manufacturing companies expressed no surprise at the report, but would state only that they "could say nothing about it."

When the reduction from $6.40 to $6.00 per thousand became effective on April 23 and 24 on products of the American Tobacco, P. Lorillard and R. J. Reynolds companies, it was said that stimulated demand was expected to make up any loss in revenue, but that the companies might be forced to curtail their advertising expenditures. Production in the first few months of the year was reported as 14 to 56 per cent above that for the corresponding period of 1927. Subsequently the Lorillard company announced it was enlarging the force at its Richmond, Va., plant and the Reynolds company announced it was putting on a night force to operate until such time as it was able to expand its equipment.

To the man in the street the price reduction meant the possibility of obtaining the three more popular brands of cigarettes at a price of two packages for 25 cents, although not all retailers established this rate, explaining that the reduction was not sufficient. Many stores, however, cut prices to the "two for a quarter" level, hoping thereby successfully to meet the growing competition of chain grocery and cigar stores.

W. C. T. U. IS BARRED CHURCH BY PASTOR ON POLITICS CHARGE

Charleston, W. Va., July 24.—(AP) The Rev. A. J. Gearhard, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church here, refused to permit a meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union chapter in his church on the ground that it dealt with politics and today the chapter decided to meet in the Baptist temple.

Mrs. J. Walter Barnes was to tell the W. C. T. U. members about the "dry" conference she attended last week at Asheville, N. C. Mr. Gearhard told the president of the chapter that he could not open his church for political discussions.

"It is not so important to know who is president as to know who is Christ crucified," the minister said.

Road Would Abandon Tennessee - Alabama Line of 20 Miles

Washington, July 24.—(AP)—The Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railroad intends to abandon 20 miles of its line between Fayetteville, Tenn., and Capshaw, Ala. In an application today to the interstate commerce commission the railroad said this portion of its line had failed to earn enough to pay operating expenses for several years.

ELENA WINNER OF OCEAN RACE

Santander, Spain, July 24.—(AP)—The schooner yacht Elena today won the king's cup offered by Alfonso XIII by finishing first in the trans-Atlantic race for class A boats from Abrose channel lightship off New York to the entrance of this harbor.

She came in an hour and a quarter after the Nina, smallest of the Corinthian boats, had won the Queen's cup for yachts of less than 55 feet waterline length.

American and Spanish warships, the royal yacht of the rulers of Spain, the finest pleasure craft of this and neighboring countries, numerous other vessels and crowded quays and piers greeted the crews of the winning boats.

Both yachts were skippered by their owners but the Elena had Captain John Barr, nephew of Charles Barr, who won the 1905 kaiser's cup race for the United States, as professional master. William B. Bell, of New York, owns the Elena. The Nina was under command of Paul Hammond, a veteran American yachtsman.

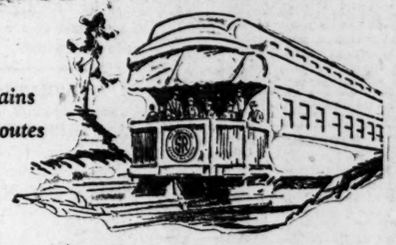

The big boats which the Elena led across the line all sailed from scratch. The Nina had liberal time allowances from the other two competitors in her class, but by finishing well ahead of them she did not need to take advantage of her handicaps. The class B boats left New York at noon of June 30. The big boats followed them eight days later.

Behind the victors are the Atlantic, the three-masted schooner which won the kaiser's cup in the 1905 trans-Atlantic race; the Azara, the Zodiac and the Guinevere. These constitute the field in class A. In class B the competitors of the Nina are the Pinta and the Mohawk. Another entry in this class, the Rofa, which was renamed Isabella for purposes of the race, was lost at sea after she had been dismasted and her crew picked up by an oil tanker.

COCHRAN BOY KILLED BY FALLING MOTOR

Cochran, Ga., July 24.—(AP)—Joe Randitt, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Randitt, of this city, was fatally injured here today when a motor rolled off a truck and fell on top of him, crushing his chest and head. The boy died while on the way to a hospital in Macon.

SOUTH CAROLINA'S WAY.

The South Carolina state democratic executive committee has proclaimed as a primary mandate that all participants, as voters and candidates, in the state primary are bound under the party oath to support in the general election the nominees of the democratic party, state and nation.

To vote for the republican national ticket in November, under the mandate, automatically removes such a voter from the democratic party.

If a voter for any reason should find it impossible to vote in the general elections such infraction will be overlooked.

This mandate was based upon the committee's "rule.32," which is the law of the state governing primary qualifications.

"Rule 32" in South Carolina is the same, in almost identical language, as "rule 7" in Georgia which pledges every primary voter to support the democratic state and national nominees in the general election. And, as in South Carolina, the Georgia committee's rule is the law of the state.

And there you are!

PROMINENT OFFICIAL COMING.

On July 27 Atlanta will have as a guest the assistant United States trade commissioner to Great Britain, C. Grant Isaacs, who has recently returned from three and one-half years of service in London. He is now on a tour of leading southern cities for the purpose of conferring with exporters interested in trade with England.

Mr. Isaacs is not only well informed on business conditions in Great Britain, but is especially conversant with the textile industry, motion pictures and specialties trade.

A southerner by birth, and educated in Tennessee public and private schools, with collegiate work at the Georgia School of Technology, the trade commissioner is keenly interested in the remarkable industrial development of the southeast.

During the world war Mr. Isaacs was engaged in the testing and analysis of balloon fabrics for the signal corps, and later attached to the general staff of the war department on the specification board. Following the war he aided the government in the disposition of its surplus stocks of the textiles and clothing and in December, 1921, he entered the service of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce as assistant in the textile division with special supervision over cotton piece goods and knit goods.

In recognition of his services in this connection he was appointed assistant trade commissioner to Great Britain and assigned to London in October, 1924.

Atlanta will give a cordial social and business welcome to this old "Tech boy" who has become a forceful figure in world commerce activities.

PEACE TREATY A FACT.

The formal acceptance by all of the nations approached on Secretary Kellogg's multilateral treaty leaves now only the formality of a conference for the affixing of the signatures to bring the world many steps nearer the ideals of everlasting peace.

In the field of international diplomacy it is a major accomplishment. It has been almost a decade since the armistice, but it has been but little more than a year since the head of the state department, broadening and amplifying negotiations started by M. Briand, has been enabled to accomplish more than in all the years preceding.

The treaty, despite the reservations finally accepted to bring universal accord, marks a real advance. Under it war cannot be even thought of as a means for settling disputes. It must be only the court of last resort. And with the new awakening, the world for the first time really understanding the glories of peace, the treaty will undoubtedly outlaw war even as the last resort.

When the present treaty is fully signed then further steps in advancement of the universal amity ideals may be taken.

In the meantime not only this government, but the governments of all of the great powers of the universe, may well commend Secretary Kellogg, who by quiet persistence, without noise or self-exploitation, without dissension, but with increasing international harmony, has brought to fruition a peace understanding that is so fair and constructive that civilization would not dare abuse it.

Of all living Americans the man who has done most for humanity during recent years is Secretary Frank B. Kellogg, and his multilateral peace treaty will be his everlasting memorial.

A LAYMAN'S PROTEST.

Judge Samuel B. Adams, of Savannah, "heartily and unreservedly" indorses the position of Bishop Warren A. Candler concerning participation of ministers of the Methodist church, south, in partisan politics.

"It will be a sad day for the church," he says, "when the counsels of Bishop Candler are unheeded."

And again—

"Gentlemen who take the church into partisan politics do not help themselves, or their real influence, and do a decided disservice to the church."

Judge Adams, honored to a seat on the supreme court bench, and one of the great lawyers and jurists of the state and the south, is one of the most outstanding and active Methodist laymen in Georgia.

For fifty years he has been a powerful figure in the counsels of the southern branch of that denomination.

In his communication he cites the proud boast of southern Methodism that, "unlike the northern church, it has kept out of partisan politics" and regarded strictly the letter and the spirit of the declaration of the Master when He announced that "His kingdom was not of this world."

Reference was made to this in The Constitution's editorial of Tuesday, referring to a statement issued by a group of Atlanta ministers.

It was the pre-war activity of the ministers of northern Methodist churches that precipitated the great cataclysm that tore the denomination asunder, and split it into two irreconcilable branches. Southern Methodists protested bitterly at this political activity, and being unable to stop it, they left the national organization.

Shall the ministers of that great church in the south today compound the blunder for which they left their northern brethren then?

Bishop Candler, the senior of the house, says "no." Bishop Denny, and others, say "no." Great laymen, like Judge Adams, say "no."

The Renaissance in the 16th century brought light to the world after a thousand years of starless night by the separation of church and state.

Politics and religion have never mixed. They never will.

And religion means too much to the world to impair its usefulness by the attempt.

Better go slow, brethren!

Better hark to the letter of the law of the church, the counsel of Bishop Candler, and other great men of the pulpit; the voices of such men as Judge Adams and other great lay leaders. It is a crucial test.

Let not the church, and the religion of the Master, be damaged on the altar of misguidance.

The better element of the republican party of the south is thanking the democrats for the investigation that is deposing negroes as party leaders.

Georgia will never be found in the republican ranks as long as that party pays tribute to a negro chairman.

It will be some years before the north pole will be popularized as a summer resort, regardless of the publicity it is receiving.

A good slogan for the democratic party in the south would be "Hasn't Scratched Yet."

The modern girl may love the water, but not the water of the laundry tub or dish pan.

A seismograph, most delicate of instruments, has failed to record McAdoo's enthusiasm for the ticket.

Just at present the farm relief desired is from rain and weeds.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

Lenin's End.

Valeriu Marcu, an unknown writer, but who has first-hand information and whose identity is therefore intriguing European observers, has just published a book on "Lenin." He tells of the Russian dictator's last years. Four years in the Kremlin, Lenin worked 18 or 20 hours a day, without any respite or diversion. Then he ceased to sleep. One day he wanted to rise and could not; to move his hand, and the muscles would not answer; to speak, and found himself dumb. He was taken from the Kremlin to a villa in the forest. The doctors found that his brain was broken. He was a speechless cripple. After some weeks he was able to slowly move his hand, and to speak cautiously. He lay in a wheeled chair. In 1922 his vitality flamed up. He had no time for dying. "I will follow all the prescriptions of the doctors," he said. "I will work less. I won't think about the pains." He went back to the Kremlin. But in March he was stricken again. Through the summer and autumn of 1923 he rested at Gorky. One day he went for a sleigh ride in the snow. He took with him a sporting rifle. It was pleasant to stroke the cold barrel, to feel the steel. It proved he was still alive. On January 21, 1924, muscular paroxysms ravaged over him. For an hour he was in delirium, hearing, feeling, seeing nothing more. Thus the red dictator died.

The Avignon Prophecy.

In the 14th century disturbances in Rome forced the pope to flee and take up residence in Avignon, France. This "Babylonian exile" lasted 80 years. The French government is spending some money on the restoration of the papal palace in Avignon this year. And this fact has revived memories among the population of an ancient prophecy, mentioned by Mistral in one of his books, to the effect that the day will come when the popes are to return to Avignon. These are the words in the old prophecy that have reference to the pope's return: "Le Pape viendra faire penitence a Avignon; et le Pape arrivera quand vous entendrez dire qu'une armee navale a failli perir sur mer." (The pope will come when you will hear it said that a great army has been in extreme danger on the high seas). And when he comes: "France will blossom in prosperity and good things. There will be universal accord and harmony. Birds in the fields will not fear to get killed any more and potatoes will grow without having been sown." Mistral said that he would not personally see that day, but that it would be reserved for the next generation. Among the old people in Avignon there are many who believe that the hour of the pope's return draws nigh.

Istratio On Rumania.

Panait Istrati, the Rumanian literateur, whose talents were discovered by Romain Rolland, and who does all his writings in French, publishes a new book on Rumania, following a journey of observation. Here are a few paragraphs: "Among the people it's their misery that produces the drink evil. The Rumanian is not a drinker. But he drinks when he feels himself unhappy. Now he drinks excessively, for 'the knife is cutting him to the bone,' the knife of misery. The peasants have become unrecognizable. From a genial philosopher events of the last few years have changed him into an abominable and criminal brute." And Istrati gives a picture of life among the Rumanian peasants that is startling because of the degradation and moral decay that has set in. Oppression and the arbitrary rule of the boyards, reminiscent of the darkest times of czarism, are putrifying a grent people. Of course, the reply from Bucharest is that Istrati is in the pay of the bolsheviks, an agent of Moscow, whose job it is to stir up discontent. But that facile old excuse does not go in the case of Istrati, whose integrity is admired by the entire literary world of France.

Odds & Ends of City Life

BY BILL SHIPPEN

Because they have installed fire plugs in the center of all the parking spaces downtown, many of us can resign ourselves to the necessity of foregoing an automobile without being unduly cut up over it.

For Atlanta must have more fire plugs per block than any other city. Sometimes the town seems fairly to bristle with them. People say they can mushroom from the sidewalk between the arrival and departure of a motor car at curb.

This makes it hard for me, because when parking an automobile I feel like a sea captain bringing the Aquitania into dock, and am apt to require a good deal of room to maneuver in.

If I have selected a legitimate landing place, the man behind me is certain to whip a Chevrolet in there before I can get situated to reverse without taking away any fenders.

But if that space is banned by a fire plug, the whole of motordom leaves me have it. Success here brings a warm glow of pride.

I feel so set up about having rid myself of my white elephant on wheels that I could hardly be expected to notice the fire plug until I read about it on a copy of charges.

The fire department should be required to move these things out of town. Buckhead would make a desirable location, either that or along the country roads where no one is supposed to park anyway.

We could feel happier about these cigarette advertisements if a testimonial tenor would break down and confess:

"Pell-Mells have never injured the delicate laryngeal tissues of my throat. I find that they have never coarsened the tone of my voice. . . . I can't imagine why, unless it is because I have never smoked any."

The official notification committees are going to break it to them gently. I hope when they call on Al and Herbert soon. Just to say, "Boys, you've been nominated," would be too much of a shock.

Anyhow, here are two candidates who are going to learn something about themselves they won't feel obliged to deny.

LOOKING AND LISTENING

BY SAM W. SMALL

The Urgency to Be Frank and Tolerant in the Pending Campaign.

Kansas City, July 24.—(Special.)—If I were not such a seasoned old newspaper writer I would be much surprised and in some cases aggravated by some of the letters written to me by readers of The Constitution. Most of them are too complimentary of my endeavors to give true and informing statements of the present national political situation.

Those writers seem to realize that I am not seeking to impose my personal opinions upon my readers, but only to evaluate conditions in the past that are germane to those of the present, and to correctly state the latter as they are manifest or reliably reported to me. I have some intimate sources of information that have been long tested and found trustworthy.

* * * *

A Flaring Fringe of Furiosos.

But sandwiched among my letters are some very bitter criticisms of things I have written in this column. They are denounced as false and written to deceive, although I know them to be absolutely and incontestably true.

Because I have written of Governor Smith with efforts to fairly appraise his character and his credentialed candidacy of the party, I am charged with being "a Catholic" and even "a minion of Rome!" And one person—a woman, at that—strongly intimates that I am "getting Tammany money to praise Smith." But none of such absurd charges bother me at all.

What does worry me is that among the readers of The Constitution there should be southern men and women of such evident intelligence and education who have become victims of such violent and poisonous prejudices—sentiments which, if they prevailed generally, would wreck our free institutions and civilization.

* * * *

Let's Get Down to Brass Tacks.

Now, I did not nominate Al Smith for the presidency. I was unqualifiedly against him and whole-hearted for Senator George, whom I still consider the ablest and safest man for the presidency among all whose names were presented at Houston.

It is certain that Smith's nomination could have been prevented if the trusted leaders of the party, whom the people believed to be opposed to him had really wanted him turned down at Houston.

They didn't! The presidential primaries began the middle of March and lasted until June 21. And our alleged trusted prohibitionist leaders loafed about in Washington and saw the Smith workers reaping delegates in most unexpected states all over the map. The facts were fully set forth in this column four months ago, when it became evident to the writer that our democrats in congress had become fascinated by the idea that Smith can win the east and bring to pass a democratic victory.

Likely to Do the Trick.

Having won the nomination from a lazy, loafing party, Smith is going to extend himself, as they say on the turf, to win this fight. He is assembling unexpected, expected and powerful forces to help him do the trick, and today he has the edge in the race.

Bishop Cannon can't head him off and Bre'r Tom Love, out in Texas, can't ditch his sport car. All this "dry protest" business at this late day is just what Smith calls it—"the bunk."

In my humble, but seasoned, judgment, it will not prevent Smith from getting any electoral vote in the south, where only such a protest could have a hope to be effective. The south is Smith-cinched right now!

* * * *

Square Shooting Gets the Turkey.

It is not going to get any of us democrats anywhere or anything by playing deceitfully in anywise with our situation. The jewel in Al Smith's forehead is his frankness. He refuses to wear any camouflage, to act silly, and deal in "boloney," as he calls campaign trickery.

Any heretofore democrat who feels that he or she conscientiously cannot vote the whole Smith ticket in November should say so with Smith-like frankness and get out of the party! Where he or she goes whom he or she votes for, will not matter then to the party rank and file.

It interests me to know how one can be a "Georgia democrat" and a national republican? What sanctified charm is there in the Georgia democratic platform that holds one to it, while the national democratic platform is charmless and repulsive?

If there is anything more illogical, inane and insincere than the claim that one can vote against Smith and still be a true democrat, I cannot imagine it!

* * * *

Overheated and Immaterial.

The present indications are that, outside of the south, the campaign is sure to be a superheated one. Prohibition and religious prejudice will both figure saliently in it. So far as the south is concerned prohibition will be safeguarded in the senatorial and congressional elections. Religious hatred will not figure very dangerously among southern democrats, but will manifest itself sharply in strong Catholic regions. Already, in Syracuse, N. Y., a printing shop has been wrecked for printing an anti-Smith pamphlet. So don't get the idea that southern democrats are the chief ones to be educated and converted to Christian tolerance.

I am really fearful of what I am to look upon and listen to before this campaign ends in November; but I pray to God for charity and peace!

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

BY DR. S. PARKES CADMAN

Erie, Pa.

A man has a bright and attractive daughter of 20, now being approached with a view of marriage.

She is a moral delinquent—a perfect reproduction of a bad mother—utterly void of moral sense, of the truth, or of the distinction between her own property and that of other people—in fact, a kleptomaniac.

The father knows that she is unfit to marry and that her marriage could only breed disaster. What is his duty to her and to the young man?

If the young man who offers this girl his hand in marriage does not know her true character he ought to be informed of it, and the informer should be the father. Should he find his duty too painful—and it is about as bitter as anything a father could be called upon to do—he must place the responsibility on his lawyer, minister or physician. No young man should be allowed to walk blindly into a relationship of this sort.

But is nothing being done for the girl herself? The family doctor should persuade her to consult a medical psychologist, who may get at the source of the mischief. Surely heredity is not entirely to blame for it. Before marriage proposals are seriously entertained it would be wise for the girl to realize that she suffers from certain moral defects which bode ill for her, whether she marries or not.

She may affect a superiority for her critics, as such cases often do, and she may absolutely refuse to see anybody or do anything. But she will profit by the feeling that the distinction between right and wrong is important, especially when she learns that a union she desires is declared impossible because actions she looks upon as trifling are regarded by others as gravely wrong.

To me the problem is how to save the girl, not the man. He will be out of the picture in five minutes when he knows the facts, but the girl stays in it. Your question states a difficult problem, but the longer its solution is deferred the more evil are the possibilities involved. The father's responsibilities do not end when he has told the daughter's suitor what the facts are. What is he going to do about them?

Denver, Colo.

Do you believe it is right to have a rifle range in the basement of any church, regardless of creed?

No. Such a provision is neither necessary nor becoming to any church or synagogue. The knowledge and use of firearms in times of peace is already too widespread for the nation's welfare. If their manufacture and sale were made a government monopoly, as they should be, our list of homicides would materially decrease.

Youngstown, Ohio.

Why do so many people regard fear as cowardly? Why is it that appeals to fear are so seldom heard from preachers? Is it not fear which restrains us from evil doing? I was so taught as a child and I owe much to my teachers.

Fear is an almost universal feeling and those who are said to be without it are not necessarily our wisest guides. Besides, many who feel no fear for themselves feel it for their loved ones, for the ills of poverty, for the menaces of wealth, for the degeneracies of peace, for the terrors of war. Few are exempt from its qualms. They dominate thought and action and feed on the excuses they invent.

Yet, as you suggest, fear has certain moral uses. It protects hope against illusion and evokes caution in critical surroundings. By its aid the prudent forsee danger and safeguard themselves. It entails self-discipline as well as preparedness and bids us brace resolution to meet emergencies.

It may sound paradoxical to say that fear is allied to courage, nevertheless this is true. He is the genuinely brave man who deliberately crucifies the fears that haunt him in order that he may square his action to his needs. On the other hand, without fear courage frequently degenerates into mere rashness and ill consequences follow.

But though fear is beneficial as a servant, it is an unscrupluous master. Those who yield to its tyrannies multiply their distress and when it monopolizes them their manhood is eclipsed. Self-destruction occurs daily solely due to the panic wrought by fear. It builds a gloomy prison house around the soul it controls and fills it with darkness and terror. For this reason it is discounted by the pulpit silence you mention, and also because many moralists and theologians look upon it as a low source of motivation. Yet it can not be obliterated except by the faith that casts out fear, and the love in whose hallowing light its dreadful shadows melt away.

Preachers, parents and teachers should insist that when rightly handled the fears we experience register for our well being and warn it of impending perils. The distinction between the abject, slavish fear which is sheer cowardice and the honorable fear due to reverence for the facts of life and the ominous significance of wrongdoing must always be kept steadily in view.

SERMONS TO LIVE BY

BY ELAM FRANKLIN DEMPSEY.

Text: "And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away."—Rev. 21:4.

All over the earth, there are faces young, old, and middle aged—that are lined, and scarred, and drawn by constant pain. Dr. J. P. Smyth has a message for these martyrs to physical suffering:

"So when you are puzzled at the existence of pain; when thoughtless, shallow doubters tell you that He can't be good or all-powerful else He would not permit it—just say to yourself with deep humility:

"I don't understand the mystery of pain; I don't understand how God allows it.

"And yet, on the other hand, I can't imagine a perfect training life without it.

"And I know that at any rate God knows and God cares.

"So I wait and submit to His mysterious training for myself and for the poor troubled world, and look forward to the life for which He is training us—a life in which there shall be no more pain."

Let all such sufferers recall that they have a Christ whose "visage was so marred more than any man."—Isaiah 52:14.

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

UNHYGIENIC CLOTHING AND VARICOSE VEINS.

The other day I told of the influence of natural (abdominal) breathing in preventing the development of varicose veins in the lower levels. I made as strong a case as I could against the bad habit of breathing with one's chest. Given good hygiene, particularly relating to clothing, it is best, I believe, never to give one's breathing or the manner of breathing a single conscious thought. But since so many of us, especially girls and women, prefer the fashion of the moment to any consideration of hygiene, it becomes necessary in many cases to give the type of breathing some attention in order to correct bad habits.

Thank heaven, no one has introduced a pleasant substitute for breathing. One may have his sweating done for him, hire a substitute to take exercise for him, even buy massage or tonics or something to make his blood circulate, but thus far everybody has to do his own breathing willy-nilly. True, we have breathing machines, nifty 1929 models 'n' everything, but the machines are really so dangerous and unsatisfactory that we can manage much better without them even in dire emergencies, and now they're sold mainly to the hick trade, town boards where purchasing agents have a high regard for their own medical knowledge. When it seems imperative to make a dead man or an apparently dead man breathe we can do it better with our hands than with any machine. With our hands we compress the subject's belly upon the ground.

One should do all one's breathing with one's belly, so far as conscious direction of breathing is concerned. Instead of striving after large chest expansion one should practice free belly expansion. By belly I mean the front wall of the abdomen. The abdomen is a cavity. (Belly is the only term the language has for it. It is a proper word when properly used. It is improper only when wrongly applied to signify abdomen or stomach.)

Girls and women are more disposed than boys and men to varicosities, by reason of their unhygienic clothing, I believe. They should practice abdominal breathing a few minutes every day. This little health habit has brought relief to thousands of young women for needless functional difficulty or disability. This abdominal breathing exercise was introduced ten years ago by Dr. Clelia Duel Mosher, health adviser to Stanford university women. Dr. Mosher recommended it principally for the functional difficulties so many girls and young women with poor or no physical education have. I have relayed Dr. Mosher's suggestion to a great many young women readers and from their comments on the effects of the habit I am sure it is a valuable one. Purely on theory I recommend the same exercise to anyone who has varicosities anywhere below the middle of the body.

The Mosher habit: Undress or remove all restricting clothing. Lie on your back, with knees drawn up. Rest your right hand on your belly.

Take a slow, deep breath, and try to see how high you can lift the hand by the expansion of your belly as you draw in the air.

Hold the breath a moment, then slowly expire, and try to see how low the hand will fall with the sinking of the belly as you expel the air through nose, or nose and mouth if your nose is not normal.

Repeat from 20 to 30 times at each seance. Avoid all jerky or hasty efforts, and avoid all fake expansion of the belly—that is, strive only for real expansion as will happen naturally with natural breathing.

Do not interrupt this health habit at any time unless your doctor advises it.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Give Away Shoes.

What is the quickest and safest way to get rid of corns? I have tried about everything I ever saw advertised, but I find no relief. (G. C.)

Answer.—Vanity bringeth bunions and corns. Give away your shoes and go barefoot. Paint the corn or callus—not the bunion—with a solution of 30 grains of salicylic acid in half an ounce of flexible collodion, daily for a week or two. This will also remove warts.

No Hadicap.

I am the mother of four children and am 30 years old. My seven-year-old son and I are in need of advice from an eye specialist. Also my teeth are in such condition from neglect that the dentist says I will have to have false teeth. I don't seem to be able to get ahead of the grocery bill enough to have these things attended to. Is there any way I could have the services of doctors without charge? (Mrs. T. E. S.)

Answer.—I do not know about the dentistry, but you can get the services of the oculist in a free clinic or infirmary. In fact I believe any reputable eye specialist in your vicinity would take care of your eyes virtually without charge if he or any physician knew of your circumstances.

North Georgia Ideal Summer Weather Climate

Editor Constitution: Now that the real hot weather is with us, I should like to tell those who find it unbearable or even uncomfortable, that Georgia and particularly Atlanta, Rome and other adjacent cities are blessed with a remedy almost at their very doors if they like to take advantage of it.

I refer to the mountains about 40 to 50 miles northwest of Atlanta. Why not do as they do in India and other warm climates, and go to the hills during the hot weather. Buy a few acres of this hilly land, which can be bought for a few dollars an acre, and which is thickly wooded, build a small cottage and use it for week-ends and vacations.

There are no mosquitoes, and it is a well-known fact that trees absorb the heat and leave the surroundings lovely and cool.

Take the train or drive by road to Dallas, then make for Yorkville. There are hundreds of acres of the most beautiful hilly country to be found anywhere, between Dallas and Yorkville. There is a good road to Dallas, and the road to Yorkville is now being made into a first-class highway.

I will guarantee if anyone does as I say they will enjoy the most peaceful vacation it is possible to have, and at a trifling cost. By buying a few acres and building a small cottage, one can grow all the flowers, fruit and vegetables one wants, and enjoy peaceful nights amongst the most beautiful scenery one can imagine. And the place is yours to go to whenever the spirit moves you.

Now then, Georgians, don't let speculators from the north come in and grab this lovely pleasure ground waiting to be developed, but get in on the ground floor. Here in our midst is scenery more lovely than anywhere else; why go out of our own state and waste money, when we can make Georgia the garden state of the union?

A High Hat Reforms Nothing Except The Art of Throwing Bricks

By Robert Quillen

Laws designed to reform the world usually fail—not because they can't be enforced, but because they can affect only behavior; they don't reach the heart.

All reform must begin at the bottom. The germ of reform, like the kingdom of heaven, is within you.

You can't take the world by the ear and lift it up to a higher plane of righteousness. It must climb up.

All great uplifters have operated on the theory that the first step in reforming a man is to convict him of sin. Once made aware of his sorry state, he feels an urge to improve himself.

But you can't achieve his reform by scolding him. His reaction to scolding is a desire to defend himself. He will argue the point, and for pride's sake cling to his present way and defend it.

Reformers fail because they give offense by talking down as from a great height.

A man can forgive one who claims to be richer or stronger or greater than he, but he is slow to forgive one who claims to be better than he.

Few words are more offensive to the ordinary man than these: "Become as good as I am."

The evangelist who begins by confessing a past conspicuously sinful has the immediate sympathy of his audience. His hearers recognize him as one of themselves. It is not difficult to admit a fault if the other fellow will admit his first.

A man will listen if you say to him: "This thing you and I are doing is wrong; let us quit it." But if you urge him to quit his evil way and follow the righteous example you have set him, he tells you to mind your own business.

Because men have been scolded for ages and have grown in decency people give scolding the credit. But I believe men have made progress in spite of scolding and not because of it.

Set a man a good example and his own conscience makes the comparison that is necessary to "convict him of sin." Once he observes how unworthy he is, he will begin to clean house.

But the reform will be made by himself, as the result of an urge that came from within, for every man is his own reformer.

People will keep up with the Joneses, if the Joneses merely set a pace; but they will balk if the Joneses say: "You must accept our leadership if you want to be somebody."

Methodist Leader, Judge S. B. Adams, Urges Heed of Bishop Candler's Advice

Editor Constitution: Permit a Methodist layman who for quite half a century has manifested, he hopes, a real interest in the Southern Methodist church, to indorse most heartily and unreservedly the position of Bishop Warren A. Candler, which has recently been expressed in your columns, concerning the participation of its representatives in partisan politics.

In my judgment, Bishop Candler is preeminently a sane and safe adviser. I have never met a brainier or a better man, and certainly his devotion and service to his church cannot be questioned by the most extreme dissenter from his views. It will be a sad day for the church when the counsels of Bishop Candler are unheeded.

It is regrettable when bishops of the church appear at a public meeting to indorse a particular ticket, whether their excuse for oppositon to the democratic nominees for president and vice president be that the head of the ticket is "wet," or is a Roman Catholic, or is a member of Tammany, or what not. The fact is in the recent Asheville public meeting two bishops of the Southern Methodist church expressed a purpose to vote for the republican ticket and advised others to vote for this ticket as against the democratic ticket, with the hope and expectation that their representative positions would help the republican ticket. If this be not entering into partisan politics and utilizing their official position to aid their efforts, I do not understand what would be.

It is not difficult for preachers to defend their public advocacy of a ticket by ascribing a moral reason for their position. But, whether their excuse be genuine or not, the fact is they enter into partisan politics when they do as they have done recently at the Asheville meeting.

I am gratified to learn, as I have done by a letter from Bishop Candler in response to a congratulatory letter from me, that he has "received hundreds of letters from leading laymen and leading preachers approving" his article. These letters indicate that a large number of preachers and laymen are alive to the evil tendency to involve the church in partisan politics.

Gentlemen who take the church into partisan politics do not help themselves, or their real influence, and do a decided disservice to the church.

It has heretofore been the boast of Southern Methodism that, unlike the northern church, it has kept out of partisan politics and regarded strictly the letter and the spirit of the declaration of the Master when He announced that His kingdom was not of this world.

HOLLYWOOD IN PERSON

BY MOLLIE MERRICK

Hollywood, Cal., July 24.—Marion Davies was much annoyed the other day by a mysterious shower of rocks on the roof of her beach home.

Investigation proved the culprit to be an old man who had a crankish idea that a Brittany cottage sporting 30-odd bedrooms should come to no good end.

My detective instinct tells me the old chap has probably been living in a model apartment planned by an efficiency expert in space conservation.

Phyllis Haver maintains the true Hollywood tradition. She is a deluxe blonde of the bright brassy variety calculated to photograph to best advantage. She stands a moment in the entrance of a popular cafe apparently to launch a bantering remark to her escort, but really to allow tourists full opportunity for a close-up. Phyllis, like all true movie girls, has an eye for business.

The eyelashes, which were seldom noticed in the old Mack Sennett days, are gorgeously spiked. Double white foxes swathe her warmly and immaculately. The thermometer is somewhere above 90 in the shade. But Hollywood, and white foxes, will never fall out.

Phyllis' white skirt is brief, her legs symmetrical. About her is the full flavor of cinemaland. She has risen from bathing beauty to stardom in the role of Roxy Hart. But not overnight. Battling up from the movie ranks is not always easy. And Phyllis Haver, in a confidential mood, could write an interesting autobiography.

Ben Lyons is lunching at the next table with a great jagged scratch as the only visible souvenir of his recent airplane fall. Ben has escaped the curse of curling hair and romantic sideburns which has become a sort of Hollywood distemper. Neither has he the lily-white pallor or some of the boys who get scores of fan letters in each mail delivery.

Blanche Sweet drifts in for a salad and iced coffee. She has recovered some of the becoming tan lost in London and retains her youthful charm and appearance despite the fact that she is an old-timer in pictures. There is something about that group which includes the Talmadge sisters, Anna Q. Nillson and Mary Pickford that newscomers to the screen will find hard to equal.

At Dolores Del Rio's Spanish home in the afternoon some hundred Hollywoodites were bidding her goodbye until Christmastime. And enlivening the occasion by getting one of the grizzly bear pups chained to the sycamore trees of her garden appropriately drunk.

Del Rio will make a picture with a European setting. This promisse to be the new vogue in Hollywood. Another company, which included Nicky Stewart, departed earlier in the week.

Hollywood can compass paradoxical events from sunrise to sunset. Arrived at Lawrence Tibbett's Laurel Canyon home for dinner just as the first crickets were getting in their early evening practice.

And at table M. George Ricou, of Paris, manager of the Comedie Francaise, and Madame Ricou, who talked of art and artists the world over and were extravagant in their praises of American jazz, and Tibbett sang the prolog from "Pagliacci" and "The Evening Star" so you felt you were in the red plush and gilt confines of the Metropolitan instead of in Gelatineland.

But later, at the Hollywood bowl, Conrad Nagel made a speech decrying the harshness of jazz and its lack of artistry. So the circle was complete. Hollywood belongs to moviettes. Ramon Navarro, Norma Talmadge, Doris Kenyon, Milton Sills and Victor Varconi were all there, taking higher art with much gusto.

Warm in Praise of Bishop Candler's Attitude

Editor Constitution: Having been an admirer of Bishop Warren A. Candler for some years, the recent article published in your paper has increased my admiration for him, for I believe that he is one of the greatest men of our day and generation.

The one thing that I cannot understand is why any sane thinking man, or set of men, should even entertain the idea that we should try to drag our churches that were established for the divine worship of Almighty God into politics is far beyond my feeble imagination. In this fast age in which we are living the majority of our people are far more concerned about worldly matters than they are about the saving of the souls of their fellow man and we are getting farther and farther away from the old-time religion of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

I wish to express to you my sincere appreciation for your publication of the article written by Bishop Candler and hope that God in His infinite wisdom will permit the light of this great and good man to shine for many, many years to come.

Congratulates Constitution On Straightforward Stand

Editor Constitution. As a visiting democrat from South Carolina, and one who has been reading your valued editorials for the past 25 years, permit me to congratulate you on your straightforward stand in the present national campaign. It is typical of the greatest paper in the southeast.

The reaction in favor of the democratic nominee will set in before the people of this section go to the polls to elect the next president. Only the more ignorant will be misled by the underhand tactics of the so-called "democrats." Any unbiased mind conversant with the trend of opinion throughout the United States can foresee the election of the Smith-Robinson combination.

'LA TRAVIATA' OPENS ATHENS OPERA SEASON

Athens, Ga., July 24.—(AP)—Opening Tuesday night with "La Traviata," the summer school opera program of the University of Georgia, according to observers here, bade fair to take second rank only to the Metropolitan Opera company's annual spring presentations in Atlanta, according to its sponsors.

"Il Trovatore" was to follow on Wednesday, "Hansel and Gretel" on Thursday, and "Samson and Delilah" concludes the portfolio on Friday, July 27.

Dr. W. A. Granberry, director of the operas, called attention to a summer school orchestra which he declares is vastly superior to those of previous years and he commented with enthusiasm upon the merits of the performers who have been contracted for appearances here.

The roster includes Judson House, tenor, and Marie Stone Langston, both of whom have appeared here before. Alfredo Valenti, of the Royal Convent Gardens, numbering many reported appearances in the musical centers of Europe to his credit, and Thalia Sabanieva, Metropolitan soprano are included in the casts.

Ora Hyde, of "The King's Henchmen," and Leo de Hirapolis, of the Montreal Opera company also have roles for the current week.

KNOW Your South and be a Partner
... in its Growth

Memphis
Industrial Capital of the Mid-South

is an expression that takes on new meaning since natural gas has been assured within a year for every fuel demand in manufacturing and heating. Aside from being the metropolitan center of the richest agricultural area on the North American continent, Memphis is the center of the world's hardwood lumber market, and is the largest inland cotton market in the world.

Cheap fuel, a plentiful labor supply, proximity to abundant raw materials, and unsurpassed transportation facilities are factors expected to bring to Memphis within the next five years a solid, substantial industrial growth unsurpassed in the City's history, or in the history of any other southern city. A population of 300,000 in five years is the foregone conclusion of coldly analytical business men.

Memphis is the distribution center for a vastly rich territory in the very heart of the South. As development of this territory advances, business houses are expanding to care for the added volume of business. The city is the largest wholesale grocery center of the South. It ranks third among the drug and chemical markets of the world. Every need of the southern merchant can be filled in the Memphis market.

Memphis is a good city in which to live. Its climate compares favorably with that of other southern cities. It has the largest artesian water plant in the world. Its educational facilities are of the best. Organized recreational and social activities, (golf etc.) assure citizens and visitors of ample diversion from business cares.

DEERAN SENDS WORD HE WILL PLEAD GUILTY

Harry M. Deeran, Boston radical, sent word to the solicitor's office Tuesday afternoon he was ready to plead guilty to indictments in connection with his attempt of July 16 to avenge himself upon the government by shooting down two postal inspectors on Fairlie street, near the federal building.

While tentative arrangements were made to bring him before Judge John D. Humphries, in Fulton superior court, these were cancelled when it developed that Morgan Griswold, one of Deerman's victims, had not sufficiently recovered from his wound to attend court.

Joe P. Johnston, the other victim, resumed his duties as chief inspector of the Atlanta district almost immediately after Deeran had shot him through the shoulder.

Deeran has issued voluminous statements, both oral and written, since his incarceration in Fulton Tower by default of a $10,000 bond.

In them he describes himself as a former Boston mail carrier, discharged because of his radical views and persecuted by postal officials. He came to Atlanta, he said, to put his scheme into action because the south was not yet awake to socialistic views.

Tw indictments charge Deeran with assault to murder and a third with carrying a pistol.

He will be brought up to enter a plea as soon as Griswold's doctors pronounce him out of danger from a bullet wound in the neck, the solicitor's office says.

NEW SCOUT TROOP PLANS TO ENROLL BOY ADVENTURERS

Three youngsters who were released by police to their parents Tuesday after admitting robbery of a grocery store as a starter in projected lives of adventure, will be enrolled in the Life-Saving Scouts of the Salvation army for a whirl at a type of adventure that will keep them clear of the law, it was announced by Captain Albert Jones, boys' work organizer of the Salvation army here.

The boys were picked up by police officers at the corner of Forsyth and Alabama streets about 4 o'clock in the morning and when delivered at their homes were found to have a quantity of small change in their pockets for which their parents could not account for. Questioning exacted confession that they had taken it from a grocery store cash register. The grocer refused to press charges and the youngsters were placed in custody of their parents, who are said to have given them a severe thrashing.

Captain Jones stated that cooperation of the parents would be sought in bringing the youngsters into the scout organization, for training in life-saving, woodcraft and a variety of outdoor adventure planned to give healthful and constructive outlet for the spirit of adventure common to all healthy youngsters.

WORLD IMPROVING, SALVATION ARMY LEADER ASSERTS

Gloomy assertions that the world is on the down grade morally were given emphatic denial by Commissioner William A. McIntyre, southern territorial commander of the Salvation Army, in the principal address at the Tuesday luncheon of the Atlanta Kiwanis club.

Commissioner McIntyre was the speaker on a program arranged by Col. Walter Peacock, territorial field secretary of the Salvation army who is chairman of the "F-P division" of the Atlanta Kiwanis club.

"Where in all this country today can you find such places, as every city had a generation ago, to compare with the Barbary Coast of San Francisco, the Bowery of New York, South Clarke street in Chicago?" the commissioner asked. "These places have been cleaned up and no others have been permitted to grow up to take their places."

PERMITS ISSUED FOR ELEVATORS, COSTING $70,000

Permits for installation of six electric passenger elevators in the Southern railway office building at 250 Mitchell street, S. W., at a cost of $70,000, were issued Tuesday by the city building inspector. The work is to be done by the Otis Elevator company.

The building inspector also issued a permit to the English estate for alterations and repairs in the brick building at 25-27 South Broad street, to cost $15,357.

BOY, VICTIM OF TRAIN, DIES FROM INJURIES

Pat Stewart, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Stewart, of 1138 Glennwood avenue, whose legs were crushed by a train Monday while playing at a crossin., died Tuesday morning at a local hospital.

The Stewart child was playing at the Glennwood avenue railroad crossing with a number of companions, when a freight train bore down upon him, crushing both of his legs. According to the boy's father, the child was deserted by his playmates, who evidently were stricken with fear after the mishap. A flagman took the child to Grady hospital. Details of the accident were lacking, since none of the children who witnessed it could be found.

Funeral services for the child will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon from the Martha Brown Memorial church. Pat is survived by his parents, and three sisters, Mrs. Marvin Thomas, Mrs. Ernest Bethea and Miss Adele Stewart.

HOSSFIELD, SWEM HEAD CIVITAN LUNCHEON BILL

George L. Hossfield, six times world's champion typewriter champion, and Charles Lee Swem, world's champion shorthand and for eight years stenographic attache of President Woodrow Wilson, were principal entertainers at the regular weekly meeting of the Civitan club at the Atlanta Athletic club Tuesday.

Mr. Hossfield and Mr. Swem are members of the faculty of the commercial teachers' institute being conducted at Draughon's Business college, and Clark Harrison, manager of the school, was in charge of the program for the Civitans. Mr. Hossfield gave a demonstration of speed and concentration in typing and Mr. Swem told interesting personal stories of his association with the world war president. President Herbert Hopkins presided.

GEORGIA MEDICAL SOCIETY SEEKING DATA ON HISTORY

Plans for publication of a history of medical practice in Georgia are being formulated, it was indicated in a public request for information issued by the Medical Association of Georgia Tuesday.

The organization's announcement follows:

The Medical Association of Georgia is collecting all information possible in order to write a history of the practice of medicine in Georgia. It is anxious to secure old medical books, medical journals, pictures, etc., pertaining to the early practice of medicine in Georgia, letters written by doctors before and during the civil war, bills, account books, diaries, in fact everything pertaining to the practice of medicine before and during the civil war. All material will be carefully preserved and will be returned upon request. Please forward any material to Dr. Allen H. Bunce, secretary-treasurer, 139 Forrest avenue, N. E., Atlanta, Ga.

Electric Refrigerator Ordinance Is Proposed; Investigation Ordered

A proposed city ordinance which would govern installation of electric refrigerators in apartment houses and other buildings where the apartments and suites are served from a common unit with ammonia pipes running through the walls was presented to the board of firemasters at the meeting Tuesday morning.

Councilman W. E. Saunders, chairman of the board, Fire Chief W. B. Cody and Chief Engineer Allen M. Schoen of the Southeastern Underwriters' association were appointed as a committee to investigate the ordinance and report back to the board. The ordinance is said to be modeled after the one in use in New York city, and its supporters claim that it would protect lives of residents from breaks in the ammonia lines, as well as protect lives of firemen in the event of fire in the building.

The board elected J. B. Johnson and D. Hopkins as privates to fill vacancies in the department.

UPSHAW TO MAKE ADDRESS TONIGHT

William D. Upshaw, former congressman, will speak at 8 o'clock tonight at College Park city hall on "Our National Crisis, or Why I Will Not Support Al Smith," it is announced.

ALDERMANIC BOARD MEETS THURSDAY

The aldermanic board will hold a special meeting at 8 o'clock Thursday afternoon to dispose of papers passed by council at the meeting on Monday, Mayor I. N. Ragsdale announced Tuesday. The board will have before it a number of papers, including a $4,000 appropriation for the nine-hole golf course in John A. White park.

RABBI MARX SPEAKS TO ATLANTA MASONS

Rabbi David Marx will address the meeting of the Atlanta Masonic club at 12:30 o'clock today in the Winecoff hotel on the subject of "The Club Finding Its Soul." A five-minute address on "The Personnel of the Club" will be delivered by George Eubanks.

Featuring the musical program will be selections by Mrs. D. C. Adams and Miss Irene Leftwich.

Dr. Sam Small To Leave Friday For Washington

Kansas City, Mo., July 24.—(Special.)—Arrangements are being completed here under which Dr. Sam W. Small, Washington correspondent of The Atlanta Constitution, will be taken to Washington Friday to the Walter Reed hospital for a continuation of treatment for injuries received here during the republican national convention when he was the victim of a fall which fractured his right hip.

Dr. Small told newspaper friends today that he will be able to take over some of his Washington duties as soon as he returns to that city.

"The doctors told me today that the bones are knitting together remarkably well for a man of my age," Dr. Small said.

On his arrival in Washington he will be able to get the benefit of ultra-violet rays in the treatment of his injuries.

Deep appreciation was expressed by Dr. Small for the many messages of good will and kindness he has received from friends, not only from Georgia, but from many sections of the country.

CITY HALL BIDS GO TO COMMITTEE THURSDAY MORNING

Tabulation of bids for construction of the new city hall at Washington and Mitchell streets will be completed this afternoon and results of the bidding will be turned over to the city hall committee Thursday morning, G. Lloyd Preacher, supervising architect, announced Tuesday. The bids cover a 15-story and an eight-story building, council having approved plans for the 15-story structure, although only $860,000 in bond funds are available. It is estimated that the 15-story building would cost $1,250,000.

After the city hall committee passes on the bids they will go to the joint contact committee, thence to the bond comimssion, and then to council and the mayor.

SPALDING COUNTY DEMOCRATS MEET IN GRIFFIN AUG. 3

Griffin, Ga., July 24.—(AP)—Spalding county democrats will hold a meeting August 3 to pledge their support to nominees of the party.

A call for the meeting by forty democrats included the following signers: Judge W. E. H. Searcy, Jr., of superior court; L. P. Goodrich, city attorney; Quimby Melton, editor of Griffin News, and G. J. Drake, president First National bank.

ROME MAKES PLEA FOR NAVIGATION OF COOSA RIVER

Rome, Ga., July 24.—(AP)—"Rome, situated at the headwaters of the Coosa river, is waking up to the fact that this stream is fundamentally a transportation vehicle" of more than ordinary importance."

In a letter to Major L. E. Lyon, United States engiher at Anniston, Ala., Wright Willingham, chairman of the Rome Chamber of Commerce committee for Coosa river development, indites this as the key statement in his appeal that proposed bridges over the stream at Rome be constructed with navigation in mind. It is planned to span the river at Childerburg, Riverside, and Cedar Bluff, Ala.

CLINIC ON "SPEECH" TO BE HELD THURSDAY

A "speech clinic," open to the public without charge, will be conducted by James F. Watson, president of the Atlanta School of Oratory and Expression Thursday morning at 402 Wesley Memorial church building. The "clinic" will be preceded by a recital beginning at 11 o'clock, in which members of the adult and children's department of the school will participate.

COTTON BEETLE BACK AFTER LONG PERIOD

The striped cotton beetle, one of the pests which the Georgia farmer had thought relegated to the past, has remustered his forces in the state, it was indicated Tuesday at the offices of State Entomologist E. Lee Worsham.

Mr. Worsham demonstrated specimens of this cotton foliage pest discovered near Newborn, in Newton county. Until 12 or 15 years ago, he said, the striped cotton beetle had been considered one of the most formidable of crop pests, but it had been thought to be extinguished practically until its reappearance.

Heflin Punctures Story

:: SENATOR HANDS OUT EXACT FACTS ::

About Bed Breaking

Washington, July 24.—(AP)—An account of "just what did occur" regarding his bed in an Asbury Park, N. J., hotel last Saturday night was given out here today by Senator Heflin, of Alabama, with a description of newspaper stories headed "Heflin Scents Plot When Bed Breaks" as "incorrect misleading and untrue."

Explaining that the room contained two beds, the Alabaman said a rap on the door caused him to open it and find two men standing there.

"I asked them what they wanted," his prepared statement continued. "The younger man said, 'We want to fix your bed.' I said, 'Which bed?' and he didn't know, he said. I then said that I had not asked for anybody to fix a bed and that there was nothing the matter with the bed so far as I knew. The young man said, 'I was afraid the bed might fall down with you during the night.' I said, 'How did you know which one of the beds I was going to sleep on.'"

With the other man standing silent, Heflin said that the younger man "appeared greatly embarrassed," but "turned up the mattress on both sides and found there was nothing the matter with either of them."

"I said, 'This is rather strange that you should come to this room to fix a bed and there was nothing the matter with the bed, and I had not called for anyone to do any work on a bed.' The young man, who seemed more embarrassed than ever, said that when he made the bed up that morning he was afraid it was weak and might fall down."

After the bed inspectors departed, Heflin called the clerk and learned that only girls made up the hotel beds.

"I was then convinced," he continued, "that the visit to my room was very remarkable to say the least of it. It was evident to the young man that I was both indignant and watchful."

Police Turn Cowboys as 150

Cattle Stampede in Street

Kansas City, July 24.—(AP)—One hundred and fifty head of Hereford cattle stampeded through the streets here early today, following the midnight wreck of a Santa Fe freight train two blocks from the Union station. The police and motorists staged many exciting impromptu rodoes in the downtown district.

Nine cars were piled up when the train's locomotive left the rails, and three cattle cars were wrenched open. The frightened stock scattered in all directions, and soon the police were deluged with telephone calls from excited residents.

Only a few of the cattle had been rounded up and reports indicated the excited animals had reached the outlying residence sections.

The steers were captured in the vicinity of the Muehledach hotel at Twelfth and Baltimore streets, after they had fallen on the sidewalk, exhausted by the chase. Several others were herded into vacant lots in that section, and guards posted to keep them from escaping.

A wild steer dashed through a plate glass window into a downtown garage and horner several cars. Timid attendants gathered, but none dared approach the wild-eyed bovine, who finally crashed through another window and fled up an alley.

One panic-stricken steer was knocked down by a street car at Thirteenth and Main streets, but got to its feet apparently unhurt and escaped.

Shouts of motorists and sirens of police cars added to the panic of the fleeing Herefords as the few pedestrians downtown scattered to elevated points of vantage to watch the pursuit.

Police headquarters informed residents that officers could not be sent to the residence sections, until the downtown streets had been cleared of the milling cattle.

While the downtown rodeo was at its heighth an automobile collided with a truck load of hogs at 39th street and Troost avenue in the residence section, and the truck overturned, freeing the hogs. A traffic officer and spectators herded the swine into a vacant lot.

The engine of the 82-car Chicago-bound train left the rails and tore up 50 feet of ties. The three cattle cars immediately back of the engine pushed on by an engine at the rear piled up, along with five merchandise cars and another car of cattle, which remained intact.

Seaton Fisher, of Marceline, Mo., sustained slight leg injuries when he jumped from the lead locomotive. The cattle were feeders sold here yesterday and en route to Marceline.

ATLANTA TO EMPLOY GOLF COURSE EXPERT

Employment of a golf course expert to take charge of Piedmont park, James L. Key and Candler park courses, the latter to open about September 1, was ordered Tuesday by Councilman John A. White, chairman of the park committee.

In a letter to L. L. Wallis, general manager of parks, Councilman White said, "Employ a man who is thoroughly familiar with the golf situation, so that we may be able to give the municipal players the best possible courses in the south. This man's entire time must be devoted to the golf courses, and they must be kept in first-class condition at all times."

With three nine-hole golf courses available and the John A. White course scheduled to open within a few months, plans are being pushed for construction of the 18-hole Bobby Jones course and 36-hole course at Ragsdale park, Mr. White said. The Jones course plans have been completed, and the architects are now working on the Ragsdale park course, to be ready in September or October.

The four nine-hole courses, the 18-hole and the 36-hole courses will give Atlanta a total of 90 holes of municipal golf, as against the 81 holes if the plans for 18 holes at White park and 18 holes at Ragsdale park had not been changed, Mr. White pointed out.

In the past 18 months, the city has built three new golf clubhouses, at Key, Piedmont and Candler parks, the latter to open early in September, and the Piedmont park house to open in January, Mr. White said.

Morones From Mex. Cabinet

BY TOM WALLACE,
Special Dispatch to The Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance.
(Copyright, 1928, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Mexico City, July 24.—The resignation of Luis N. Morones, labor leader, from the cabinet of President Calles, was the most sensational political occurrence—with the exception of the Obregon murder—which has taken place recently in Mexico City.

Morones' resignation brings Antonio Diaz Soto y Gama to the front as a Mexican, not a military leader, who has accomplished a coup under circumstances in which it was believed only a military leader could be effective.

Soto y Gama's flat declaration charging Morones and his associates with being the psychological authors of the assassination was the climax of a plan, adopted after the publication of the report of Inspector General of Police Zertuche that the Catholic clergy was blamable for the crime.

Find Priest's Photograph.

General Zertuche's statement was handed to the correspondent on the day the assassin was presented to them to show that he had not been maltreated in captivity and followed the reported police discovery of a photograph of Father Projuarez in the possession of Toral. Father Projuarez was one of the four men who were executed by a firing squad after the attempt on Obregon's life last November.

Following the Zertuche statement a newspaper, El Grafic, published an interview between President Calles and Toral in which the assassin was depicted as a religious fanatic, who declared he had committed the crime at the order of Christ.

In the meantime, President Calles gave out a statement to the press in which he laid the blame on the Catholic clergy, while the Obregonistas continued to insist that the murder was political. The Morones' resignation, it is now believed, will lessen the tension.

Immediately after Obregon was assassinated Umberto Obregon, his son, asked a group of his friends to aid him in killing Luis N. Morones. Young Obregon was dissuaded from doing so, but the name of Morones was on the tongues of Obregonistas constantly. From the time of the murder the question was whether President Calles would be able to retain him in the cabinet. It was not believed that there was any Obregon leader who was strong enough to force the labor leader out.

Manuel Trejo Sought.

Manuel Trejo, who is alleged to be the link between the laboristas and the assassin and who, according to the alleged statement of Toral, gave the assassin the pistol, is now being sought.

Since Obregon's murder tales of the whereabouts of Morones have been flying around. The night of the murder he was represented as having fled. He was then in his office. Yesterday he was said to be out of Mexico City with 500 federal troops guarding him. Today he is said to be sought by Obregonistas.

The only known fact is that Soto y Gama, the agrarian leader, non-military and intrepid champion of the murdered Obregon, has forced Morones from the cabinet. What will follow is a matter of speculation.

Discovery yesterday of a letter written by Obregon some time ago in which he advised against the execution of Catholics and recommended that they be held in custody or sent out of Mexico until the situation improved, throws a new light on his views. That his murder was political is now generally believed. The theory that Toral was the tool of politicians—a man who was persuaded to sacrifice himself, possibly influenced by religious feeling, but not a crazy fanatic—is gaining adherents.

Prior to the arrival of the body of Captain Emilio Carranza fear was expressed that the occasion would result in a clash between the Obregonistas and their forces, but no disorder developed.

announced but there was no demonstrations.

One sensation after another featured the trial today. First came an announcement from Homer Simpson and Malcolm Morrow, already convicted and under death sentences for the same crime, that they would not testify unless W. B. Gibbs, solicitor general, would guarantee to them that their sentences would be reduced from death to life imprisonment. The two men had been brought here from Macon, where they have been for safekeeping, to testify. Morrow was the spokesman for the pair, and he informed the solicitor that only under the agreement suggested would he or Simpson go on the stand. The solicitor immediately announced that neither would be called.

Lively Tilt.

Then the defense desired to call Simpson as a witness in Waller's behalf, and a lively tilt between attorneys took place. Judge J. H. Thomas, presiding at the session, decided that Simpson could testify, but under the rules of the court. He was not called.

The state continued to introduce testimony throughout the day, and it was generally expected that the condemned men would be called, but the case went to the jury without either appearing on the stand.

Finally the sensation of the day came when Sheriff Joe Chaney, of Camden county, was called by the state, and from him came the evidence of Morrow's statement that he would not testify. The sheriff swore that Morrow told him yesterday that he would not testify, that Waller was as guilty as he, that it was a conspiracy of the three men, but if he testified Waller would go to the electric chair, and "he and Simpson would have another man's blood on their heads."

Defense Objects.

The defense strongly objected to this testimony, but the court decided that it would be admitted and the Camden sheriff related the entire story. When the state finally closed the defense did not offer any witnesses and Waller took the stand and made his statement to the jury.

It also developed today that Simpson was taken suddenly ill and the county physician had to be called to administer to him. Dr. G. V. Cate, after attending the patient, announced that his illness was not serious.

Arguments in the case were started this afternoon at 3 o'clock, each side being limited to two hours. Addresses were made by Solicitor General W. B. Gibbs and Hon. S. C. Townsend, of St. Marys, representing the state, and W. C. Little and Charles L. Gowen, of this city, appointed by the court to represent Waller, and who made a hard fight for his life.

Story of Waller.

Waller, in a full, clear voice, took the stand to make his statement which he said covered in full his connection with the slaying. He told the jury that he and Morrow had been running liquer in and out of Jacksonville and that he went out on the robbery trip under the impression that the three men were going to Kingsland for a load of whisky to be taken to Alabama.

Insisting that he had never seen Perry, the slain cashier, Waller declared he was told by Morrow to follow behind him when the cashier was lured from his bank at Kingsland. Not until Morrow opened fire on Perry did he realize that a plot had been laid, he said. He then could have escaped but was afraid of Morrow.

Remained Outside.

When the party reached the bank where the wounded official was compelled to open the safe, Waller said he was forced to remain outside in one of the automobiles while Morrow and Simpson took Perry in and obtained the money.

With tears streaming down his face, Waller made references to his wife and three little sons, aged one, two and three, who were all in court. On the night he left Jacksonville for the trip to Kingsland, he had only 10 cents in his pocket, he declared, and borrowed $5 from a friend, later obtaining a loan of $75 from a brother in Leesburg, Fla.

Again with tears coursing down his cheeks, Waller pleaded with the jury to believe his story which he declared was the truth of the whole affair.

GREAT BOOM IN RIVER TRAFFIC IS FORECAST

St. Louis, July 24.—(AP)—The United States government is preparing a tremendous growth of traffic on inland waterways in the next 10 years, Colonel George B. Spalding, of Louisville, Ky., chairman of tow boat board of army engineers, said here today.

"Nothing can stop it unless United States itself stops growing," he said, "and I am not expecting that. It used to be said that the Mississippi would have been useful if it had flowed to the east instead of to the south for commerce flowed to the east, instead of to the south. The fact is commerce now flows to the south."

"Future growth of the country is coming in the south and southwest you in St. Louis have the key location. All you need to do is to find out what south and southwest want and ship it to them."

Colonel Spalding, who brought the board here for a two-day inspection, is in charge of a project for a nine foot channel on the Ohio river where $30,000,000 has been invested in shipping.

Tomorrow the board will go as far as Chester, Ill.

COOLIDGE LAUDS WORK'S SERVICES

Superior, Wis., July 24.—(AP)—With high praise for Dr. Hubert Work's activities as secretary of the interior, President Coolidge today formally accepted his resignation from the cabinet.

"I wish to thank you for the loyal service you have rendered to the country during the time which you have been at the head of the important department of the interior," Mr. Coolidge said in his letter to Dr. Work accepting the resignation.

After stressing that his tenure of office "was a real contribution to the administration of public affairs," Mr. Coolidge concluded by saying that Dr. Work could feel that he was "leaving the department in a high state of efficiency, which will be reflected in the success of his efforts for some years to come."

"I also wish to add my appreciation of your constant and unfailing consideration towards me personally and your loyal cooperation in carrying out the policies of the administration," the president wrote.

President Coolidge has forwarded to Washington, with his signature, the commission appointing Roy O. West, of Chicago, secretary of the interior, succeeding Dr. Work. On its receipt at the capital Mr. West will be able to take the oath of office and be formally installed as a cabinet officer.

The chief executive in the meantime is giving much thought to selecting a suitable undersecretary of state to succeed Robert E. Olds, of St. Paul, who resigned effective July 10.

FLORIDA OFFICIAL WILL STAND TRIAL FOR AUTO DEATH

Jacksonville, Fla., July 24.—(AP)—Dr. J. G. Rawls, chairman of the Duvall county board of commissioners, at an inquest late today, was held responsible for the death of J. D. Elkins, 23-year-old fireman, who was run down and killed by an automobile on a highway near here early last Friday.

Dr. Rawls was formally charged with manslaughter and released under $5,000 bond. No warrant for his arrest had been issued late today. He did not testify at the inquest.

MINISTERS VOTE AGAINST POLITICS

Impetus to the movement among prominent church leaders to prevent penetration of political issues into church circles was given at a meeting of the Presbyterian Ministers association, of Atlanta, with adoption of a resolution for this purpose, it was made public Tuesday. The resolution urges ministers of the Gospel to take no official part in current political activities.

The document drawn up by the association follows:

"A minister of the gospel is a citizen in the community in which he lives, and is an important factor in the social, economic and political life about him. He owes his best efforts to serve God and his fellow man in all of these relationships.

"But his usefulness is conditioned upon his separation from the controverial aspects of secular affairs, and especially from espousal of purely political propaganda and activities of all kinds.

"Therefore it is the duty of the minister of the gospel to refrain, especially in his pulpit ministrations, from taking an official part in current political activities and controversy.

"The association affirms its unalterable confidence in the moral soundness and political sanity of the American people, and their readiness when aroused to assert their righteous will, and especially are we confident that this nation will not fail in the great issue now developing between the forces of alcohol and sobriety in the life of America."

GEORGIA LENDERS LEAGUE TO HOLD MEETING FRIDAY

"PIG'N WHISTLE" CURFEW IS URGED IN COURT PETITION

"The Pig 'n' Whistle" sandwich place on Ponce de Leon, at Argonne drive, should be closed at 11 o'clock each night, according to J. L. Keith, a neighbor, who sought and received a temporary restraining order to this effect Tuesday in Fulton superior court. Judge Virlyn B. Moore set Saturday as the hearing date.

The plaintiff alleged that "early morning revelers" had cut into his sleep, and stated that his health may be impaired if the "noise" is continued into the morning hours.

FULTON COUNTY OPENS BATTLE ON GAS TAX

Application of the state gasoline tax law to counties and municipalities was attacked in Fulton superior court Tuesday when hearings were begun on petition of Fulton county to permanently enjoin collection of the tax.

The county recently was granted temporary injunction restraining the comptroller general from collection of the tax. Troup county since has intervened in the suit.

Fulton county asked that the injunction be made permanent on the ground that the law was void because it violates a provision of the United States constitution "in that said law undertakes to regulate commerce among the several states."

The plaintiff also claimed the body of the law contained matter different from what is expressed in its title.

Several arguments in the case were submitted Tuesday and the hearing will be resumed today before Judge Virlyn B. Moore.

HARDMAN CAMPAIGN TO OPEN AT CORDELE

The opening gun in Governor L. G. Hardman's campaign for reelection will be fired by the governor at Cordele at 11 o'clock Saturday morning, when he will make his first speech at a meeting of Cordele citizens, it was announced at the office of the governor Tuesday.

The governor himself outlined his plans for his speaking campaign. He declared emphatically that he would make the race on his official record as governor and as member of the state legislature several years ago.

"In my speech I expect to discuss many matters of vital importance to the people of the state," he said. "I shall divide th esubject into several groups which will include my record as a legislator, my administrative record as governor and a general program for the future."

The meeting will be arranged by C. E. Brown, Cordele editor. Campaign headquarters for the governor were opened Monday at the Henry Grady hotel with Sam E. Nunn, of Perry, and T. Hicks Fort, of Columbus, in charge as managers.

'LADY LINDY' GETS THRILLS RIDING WITH ENGINEER

Altoona, Pa., July 24.—(AP)—Miss Amelia Earhart, first woman to fly across the Atlantic, climbed down from the cab of a Pennsylvania railroad engine here today, her face begrimed with smoke and dust. She said she enjoyed the trip from Pittsburgh aboard the locomotive.

Several thousand persons, many of them railroad officials, were gathered about the station as the train pulled in. Miss Earhart was unwilling to climb out of the cab in front of the crowd, so she went from the side opposite the station platform. She hurried back to the coach in which other members of her party were riding and there washed her face and hands, appearing later to greet the crowd and pose for photographs.

Atlanta Architects Will Erect Building At State Sanitarium

Milledgeville, Ga., May 24.—(Special.)—Contract for the erection of the $500,000 psychopathic building at the Georgia state sanitarium here has been awarded to Daniel & Beautell, Atlanta architects.

The money for the new building was appropriated by the state legislature at the last session. The building is designed to accommodate new patients who are first put under observation, and later hospitalized. The building will be planned on a composite scheme which will include the best features of all the similar buildings in the south. One of the main features of the plans will be to have every room receive sunlight during some part of the day. There will be a modern gymnasium with latest equipment, lounging rooms, sun porches, and suites for occupational therapy and other vocational suites.

The building will have 330 feet of frontage, with 125 feet of wing frontage. The building committee includes Dr. R. C. Swint, of Milledgeville, superintendent of the institution; J. T. Brantley, of Blackshear; W. C. Pitner, of Athens, and E. E. Lindsey, of Rome.

It was necessary to move the homes of Dr. George Echols and Dr. U. S. Bowen to another location to make room for the new building.

Hudson, McDaniel Families To Hold Reunion on Sunday

Tucker, Ga., July 24.—(Special.)—The annual reunion of the Hudson and McDaniel families, originally of Gwinnett county, will be held Sunday, July 29, at Fellowship Baptist church, near here. A large number of descendants of these families are living in Gwinnett, DeKalb, Fulton, Rockdale and neighboring counties and also in other states throughout the southeast and will attend the annual gathering this year. A number of friends of the families also have been invited and a large attendance is expected. Congressman L. J. Steel, who has been intimately acquainted with members of both families during the whole of his life, has accepted an invitation to be present.

DR. KENNEDY TO TALK AT SAFETY COUNCIL

Capitol.

"The Demi-Virgin," from the pen of Avery Hopwood, is presented by the Eviston-Napier Players at the Capitol to large crowds. The play was originally produced by A. H. Woods, at the Eltinge theater, New York, where it enjoyed a year's run.

No farce of recent years has attracted more attention and the publicity earned by this play during the long run in New York has made it widely known. Its bid for favor is made by its novel situations.

The screen feature is Dolores Del Rio in "No Other Woman," with Don Alvarado in the masculine lead.

Loew's Grand.

At Loew's Grand theater this week James C. Morton and the Morton family are paying their annual visit as the headline attraction. Another act is the "Cyclone Revue," something entirely different in the dancing line. Nick and Gladys Verga, singers; the "Four Frolics," singers and musicians and the "Three Castles," trick bicycle acrobats, round out a wonderful bill. The Loew feature picture is "Forbidden Hours," with Ramon Novarro and Renee Adoree.

Howard.

"The Lion and the Mouse," Warner Brothers Vitaphone talking picture, has played to capacity audiences at every performance this week and indications are that all records of the Howard will be broken by this attraction. Other features on the excellent program are "In Dutch," a beautiful Publix stage show; the Howard Symphony orchestra, and Julia Dawn, "the golden voiced organist."

Rialto.

"The Play Girl," a rollicking farce comedy of the adventures of a young lady in acquiring a wardrobe which would do credit to a millionaire's wife, is the current screen attraction at the Rialto theater with Madge Belamy and Johnny Mack Brown in lead roles. "The Play Girl" is clever entertainment throughout and is delighting Rialto patrons. On the accompanying Vitaphone vaudeville bill, Hobart Bosworth is seen in a dramatic sketch, "A Man of Peace;" Florence Moore and Lieutenant Gitz-Rice offer a song skit and the three Brox sisters also appear. Movietone news also is a feature.

Alamo No. 2.

The tempestuous care-free lives of the younger generation are held up for inspection in "The Whirlwind of Youth," Paramount's absorbingly interesting production which comes to the Alamo theater No. 2 today.

Ponce de Leon.

"The Chinese Parrott," one of the most colorful and thoroughly entertaining feature pictures seen here in many weeks, is booked for screen appearance today at the popular Ponce de Leon theater, at Ponce de Leon avenue and Boulevard. Beautiful Marion Nixon is starred in this splendid picture, which the management expects to draw heavy attendance.

Empire.

Beauty as well as comedy adorn the railroad story, "Tell It To Sweeney," which will be at the Empire theater today only. Chester Conklin and George Bancroft supply the comedy, while pretty Doris Hill playing the leading feminine role and handsome Jack Luden, one of Paramount's new western stars, carry the romantic theme.

Cameo.

"Adam's Rib," the feature at the Cameo today and Thursday boasts a great cast of favorites. This Cecil B. de Mille production carries a list such as Milton Sills, Anna Q. Nilsson, Pauline Garon, Theodore Kosloff and Elliot Dexter. This story deals with the life of a Chicago wheat millionaire.

Tudor.

Ken Maynard, the happiest, scrappiest, peppiest rider that ever toted a six-shooter is playing today for the last times at the Tudor theater, in "The Red Raiders." Ken Maynard, as a fighting lieutenant of the old United States army, riding through the most thrilling chapters of the early west, with a saddle bag full of tricks that a end never nears, it seems that way.

Stage Star in Social Register

ACCEPTED THE ROLE IN A BROADWAY PLAY AS A LARK

Only three or four actresses, each with undeniable social position, have managed to break into the pages of the Social Register—because of a long-standing prejudice against the stage. Hope Williams, or as she is listed in the register, Mrs. E. Bartow Road, is one of the few. She is a millionaire and the wife of a New York financier.

LANPHIER ACCEPTS PLACE IN LINDY'S AIR TRANSPORT CO.

Detroit, Mich., July 24.—(AP)—Major Thomas G. Lanphier will become vice president in charge of operations of the newly formed Transcontinental Air Transport company of which Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh is chairman of the board, as soon as his resignation from the army becomes effective August 25, he announced today.

Major Lanphier's headquarters will be in New York, but he plans to spend most of his time flying over the country superintending the operations of the Transcontinental lines he said. He will continue to maintain his home at Mount Clemens, near Selfridge field, where he has served for five years as commandant and flight commander.

In discussing his resignation which was forwarded yesterday to the secretary of war at Washington, Major Lanphier said he believed he could be of more service in the advancement of aeronautics in the field of commercial aviation than in the army air service. He has served ten years in the army air service and during that period has become an outstanding figure in army aviation. He is one of Colonel Lindbergh's closest friends.

CANADIAN POLICE TOLD TO INTERCEPT GEOLOGIST PARTY

Regina, Sask., July 24.—(AP)—The Royal Canadian Mounted police have been ordered to intercept and return to civilization four American geologists lost in northern Saskatchewan.

Word of the dangerous plight of the four young Americans was carried to the far flung stations of the mounted police by telephone and radio, but it is expected it will be many days before definite word can be obtained from the expedition.

The party comprises John Fuller, 21 years old, Keokuk, Iowa; Peder Boddum, 24, Crystal Lake; Gordon Armstrong, 20, Birtt, Iowa, and Max J. Kane, 22, Iowa City. They left The Pas, Manitoba, on June 6 and three weeks ago were found to be in dire straits near the Reindeer Lake region of northern Saskatchewan. The mounted police have been ordered to escort the party to safety as their credit balance is said to be exhausted and they are technically dependent on the Dominion.

Another Divorce Mill Investigation Started in France

Nice, France, July 24.—(AP)—A report was current here today that following the Paris American divorce mill inquiry a similar investigation had been started here. The district attorney's office was said to have requested from the local courts all dockets of American divorces with a view of proceeding against any such irregularities as the Paris probe showed.

Mayor Asks Why Only 75 In 400 Fined

Why were only 75 fines imposed in approximately 400 automobile light violations tried in police court?

Seeking the answer to this question Mayor I. N. Ragsdale Tuesday addressed letters to Recorder M. M. Holloway and A. W. Callaway, asking for their views on the situation.

"My attention has been called from day to day to the motor cars and trucks that are being run on our streets without being properly lighted," Mayor Ragsdale wrote the recorders. "I am sure that there are quite a number of them operating this way.

"My attention has also been called to the fact that out of approximately 400 cases made by the officers for offenses of this kind approximately 75 out of this number have had fines imposed on them. Why are so many cases made with such results? Can you understand this? Are the officers making cases that should not be made? Kindly let me have your views on this situation."

Improper lighting of automobiles at night is dangerous, Mayor Ragsdale pointed out. One of the most common violations is the practice of running automobiles and trucks with only one headlight burning, he said.

JAPANESE ENVOY TO UNITED STATES SAILS IN OCTOBER

Tokyo, July 24.—(AP)—Katsuki Debuchi, who has been formally appointed Japanese ambassador to Washington, expects to sail some time in October to assume his new post. He will succeed Tsuneo Matsudaira who goes to London.

M. Debuchi will not leave Japan until the wedding of Ambassador Matsudaira's daughter Setsu to Prince Chichibu, heir apparent. Ambassador Matsudaira will go to London after the imperial coronation ceremonies in November.

Shigeru Vo Shida, minister to Sweden, will succeed Debuchi as vice minister of foreign affairs.

Quits Mexico Post

Luis Morones, long a political enemy of President-elect Alvaro Obregon, who was assassinated, has resigned as Mexican secretary of labor. Obregonist leaders demanded that he quit. Leader of the laborites, Morones, was considered a presidential possibility. Obregon was of the agrarian.

17,000,000 Horses in U. S.

Chicago, July 24.—Horses! Horses! Horses! They are holding their own, more than 17,000,000 of them are at work in this country. More fly nets for horses were sold last year than ever before, says E. W. Anderson, a manufacturer.

Body of Man Found

Police Hunt for Slayers

Lake City, Fla., July 24.—(AP)—His skull crushed by a blunt instrument, the body of G. W. Simmons, about 75 years old, who had lived in a tourist camp since he came here a short time ago from Stewartsville, Ohio, was found in a clump of woods along a highway near here early today.

Sheriff W. B. Douglass, who is investigating the killing, wired authorities at Jacksonville to watch for and arrest a man and woman who were said to have spent last night in Simmons' cabin at the tourist camp and later disappeared.

Authorities believed that the aged man was slain at the tourist camp, his body loaded in an automobile and taken just outside the city and thrown into the woods along the highway.

The car driven by the couple was a small sedan and bore an Ohio license number 141-500, officers said. They believe the machine headed for Jacksonville.

The body of the slain man, who was unemployed, is being held here pending the arrival of relatives.

U. S. Power Body Favors Project On Tennessee River

Washington, July 24.—(AP)—The federal power commission today announced authorization to the Mississippi Power company, subsidiary of the Alabama Power company, for a power project on the Tennessee river near Riverton, Ala.

The project includes a gravity section concrete dam at Cook's Landing forming a reservoir extending 63 miles upstream to the base of the Muscle Shoals dam and flooding out the existing government lock, dam and canal at Colbert Shoals near Riverton. The proposed initial installation is 100,000 horsepower and the ultimate installation 260,000 horsepower.

Major General Jadwin, who recommended issuance of the permit, indicated recently that the interests of navigation might best be served by constructing a power and navigation dam at the Pickwick Landing site, about 11 miles farther down stream, than the site proposed by the company.

The chief of engineers recommended that the permit be issued subject to the condition that a complete engineering, economic and financial report on the Pickwick Landing site be prepared by the permittee, and this was included in the commission's authorization.

Dams and Reservoirs Of Los Angeles Water System Reported Safe

Los Angeles, July 24.—(AP)—The 30 dams and reservoirs in the Los Angeles city water system have been pronounced safe against destruction by earthquakes by a consulting board of three hydraulic engineers, appointed by the city after the St. Francis dam disaster last March.

The report, however, declared that 10 of the dams required minor alterations in order to assure their safety under all conditions. The principal need was said to be the enlargement of spillways.

The board was composed of A. J. Wiley, of Boise, Idaho; F. C. Hermann, of San Francisco, and Charles H. Paul, of Dayton, Ohio.

HOOVER ARRANGES FOR FISHING TRIP

Stanford University, Cal., July 21. (AP)—Arrangements for his fishing trip in far northern California, and an inspection of the vast war library which he donated to Stanford university, occupied much of the attention today of Herbert Hoover, republican presidential candidate.

Between times, he did some work on his acceptance address and received callers, who included Louis Mayer, motion picture producer; Mayor James Rolph, Jr., of San Francisco, and Mrs. Worthington, Scranton, national committeewoman from Pennsylvania, who assured him that Pennsylvania would be found in the republican column in November and that Washington and Oregon would give him substantial majorities.

The northward trip to Brown's Camp on the Klamath river near Eureka, Cal., where the nominee is to spend a day or two angling for steelhead truot, will be started early Saturday, the route lying through San Francisco to Bull Flat on the Eel river, 300 miles north of San Francisco, where the party will spend Saturday night.

To Visit Mount Shasta.

The route then will carry down to the coast past Eureka and go on to southern Oregon with a back track to the fishing camp. On the return trip the party will go by way of Mount Shasta, where one night will be spent and under present plans the nominee will be back home Wednesday night or early Thursday.

On the eve of the departure northward, Mr. Hoover will go to San Francisco for the homecoming celebration there which was delayed a week on account of the death of Mrs. Hoover's father, C. D. Henry, wealthy banker. After a parade through the streets, the nominee will be welcomed on the steps of the city hall by Governor Young and Mayor Rolph and will make a brief address of appreciation. There will be no mention of politics.

Visits Library.

In conducting his friends through the war library at Stanford university Mr. Hoover evinced a personal pride in the collection of 150,000 volumes and more than a million and a half of documents which he has obtained from all corners of the world. Some of the books and documents have not yet been released for publication, having been given with the understanding that the release dates would extend over a period of from ten to forty years.

The nominee says this library is by far and away the most complete in the world. Besides dealing with the war itself, it is rich in material concerning one of the most dramatic events of the struggle, the overthrow of the Russian government by the bolsheviks. The documents dealing with the establishment of the soviet government were obtained by Mr. Hoover from the soviet while he was in charge of Russian famine relief after the war.

Library Is Famous.

Historians from all parts of the world visit Stanford to study in this library, and twenty of them now are here pursuing their research work. One interesting thing about the library is that it contains a complete file of every important newspaper in the world during the war period. These include the soviet papers published in Russia, as well as German, French, Italian, British, Austro-Hungarian, American and other newspapers.

The collection of the library has cost close to a million dollars to date, and the work is still going forward with exchanges of documents with other countries. The library has an endowment of about $500,000.

Smith, Look Out for Georgia,

:: BILL—MERE PARROT—KNOWS ALL AND TELLS IT ::

Warns Famous Zoo Expert

BY ALFRED P. RECK.

(Copyright, 1928, by United News.)

Washington, July 24.—(United News.)—Herbert Hoover should refrain from talking too much economy and Governor Smith had better watch his step in Georgia, Bill, the talking Mynah bird at the national zoo, warned today in a political interview.

In the solitude of his brand-new cage out in Rock Creek park, Bill has plenty of time to study the political situation and is eager to talk about it.

He plays no favorites. Both candidates come in for his criticism.

Bill Is Anxious.

Bill was especially anxious to air his political views today. He has been moved to the new bird house, not yet opened to the public, and consequently has had few visitors to talk to.

"Hello, boy," Bill shouted.

His enunciation is perfect—more distinct than a parrot—a deep bass—more like a man talking into a megaphone—and three times the volume of a voice for such a small bird.

"How about a little politics today, Bill?" he was asked.

"Haw—haw—haw," Bill replied. He shifted from one thin leg to another and his velvet-black throat vibrated with the force of his laughter. He nodded his orange tipped head knowingly until the yellow flaps over his ears shook.

How About Hoover?

"Feel like talking, Bill?"

"All right, all right," the Mynah bird replied.

"How about Hoover? What do you think of Hoover?"

Bill cocked his head to one side. His black, beady eyes sparkled.

"Hoo-vah—Hoo-vah?" Bill questioned, and then laughed.

"How about Hoover?"

"How about the appropriations?" Bill countered. That was as far as he would discuss Hoover's candidacy but he left one with the impression that Hoover should not stress economy too much.

"How about Al Smith?"

Bill listened, twisted his throat but the words were too sharp for him.

He lifted a claw and scrached an imaginary fly on the top of his head.

Georgia, Look Out.

"Georgia, Georgia—look out—look out." Bill warned.

"What do you think of prohibition?"

Bill stretched his slender neck.

"Haw—haw—haw," he laughed, "So's your old man."

Bill evidently is a scoffer of the worst kind.

The Mynah bird came into international prominence a few years ago when he had the courage to tell General Lord, the federal budget director, what he thought of curtailed appropriations, much to the embarrassment of the general.

Bill had been taken to a budget meeting by zoo officials and when General Lord entered the room shouted "How about appropriations?"

At that time money was needed to erect a new bird house and Bill was presented to speak for his feathered brethren. All he would say was, "How about appropriations?"

Natural Talker.

"We never taught the bird to talk," Dr. Mann, director of the zoo, said. "He just picked it up naturally."

The bird has been in the zoo for a number of years. It is a native of Java.

Zoo officials did not know it could talk until one day an attendant tripped over a broom in the bird house and started swearing, Bill's keeper explained.

"Haw—haw—haw," Bill laughed.

"Who you laughing at?" the attendant shouted.

"Haw—haw—haw. So's your old man," Bill replied.

"Good bye," he said when the political interview was over.

DIRIGIBLE LZ-127 TO CROSS ATLANTIC EARLY IN AUGUST

Friedrichshaven, Germany, July 24. (AP)—Lieutenant Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, U. S. N., commander of the American dirigible Los Angeles, today inspected the LZ-127, on which he hopes to fly back to the United States. He conferred with Dr. Hugo Eckener, who will be in charge of the new Zeppelin on its voyage across the Atlantic.

The two experts discussed especially the fuel supply demands, which must be met in the United States. They also took up the matter of an auxiliary crew to be picked from the personnel of the station at Lakehurst, N. J.

The maiden flight of the big craft, which was recently christened the Graf Zeppelin, in honor of the man who built up this type of air vessel, is now planned for early in August.

POLITICS WARM UP IN LAMAR COUNTY; PRIMARY DATE SET

Barnesville, July 24.—(Special.)—Politics are warming up in Lamar county, with the nearing of the democratic primary for September 12. Frank Willingham is being opposed by E. M. Smith for solicitor general of the Flint circuit. J. C. Collier, Harvey Kennedy and S. A. Sterne are candidates for the legislature. A. H. Henslee, of Barnesville, is seeking a place on the state prison commission.

TAMPA TO PENSACOLA HIGHWAY UP TODAY

Tallahassee, Fla., July 24.—(AP)—Plans for continuing construction of the gulf coast highway from Tampa to Pensacola and the awarding of a contract for the building of a bridge across the Caloosahatchee river at Fort Myers will be considered at the quarterly meeting of state road department members tomorrow, it was announced today.

Representatives of various counties traversed by the highway, which connects with the cross-state Tamiami trial, will present details of bond issues already floated to defray construction of the road and formally request that immediate work be undertaken. The highway is in the so-called second preferential list and is being built by contiguous counties under state road department supervision.

Bids for construction of the bridge at Fort Myers were opened some time ago. The central equipment station at Miami was found to have submitted the lowest bid of slightly in excess of $500,000.

There's Money in It.

New York, July 24.—A man who 25 years ago started a nickleodeon in Brooklyn and took in $7.50 the first day has bought out for $25,000,000 a man who came from Italy as a boy and began business by exhibiting wax figures which he modeled himself. William Fox has acquired the 20 theaters of Sylvester Z. Poli in Connecticut and Massachusetts.

CHICAGO OFFICIAL WILL FIGHT PROBE

Chicago, July 24.—(AP)—Plans for a legal battle were laid today by corporation counsel, Samuel A. Ettelson, to prevent examination of pay roll records of his department by a special grand jury investigating primary election day disorders.

The grand jury asked yesterday to see the pay roll records of Ettelson and Coroner Oscar Wolff, in an effort to learn who was receiving city and county pay from those officers April 10, when Octavius Granady, negro politician, was killed.

"It is unlawful to remove the permanent records of the city from the city hall," declared Ettelson in explanation of his announced intention of preventing the records from going before the grand jury. "We have no desire to hide anything, but we don't want our records mishandled and confused, when they can just as well be examined in their proper place."

He indicated he would seek a court order to prevent removal of the records.

Sam "Red" Bardin, under indictment charged with sluggings and kidnapings election day, was arrested yesterday in Coloma Mich., near Benton Harbor, by a Chicago detective sergeant on vacation.

It was the second time since his indictment that Bardin has been under police surveillance. The first time was when police tried to capture him by battering down a door in a hotel in which he was in hiding. Bardin escaped down a fire escape.

ALLEGED SLAYER FOUND IN SWAMP

Macon, Ga., July 25.—(AP)—"Griff" Grinstead, 55, who for 11 days has been the object of a man-hunt in Montgomery county, where he is alleged to have killed County Policeman Homer Stuckey July 13, was captured tonight in a swamp near the Grinstead home and brought to the Bibb county jail here for safe keeping.

Grinstead, escaped life convict, shot Stuckey when he and other officers went to the Grinstead home to take the fugitive into custody, according to the officers accompaning Stuckey.

Sheriff M. L. McRae, of Montgomery county, captured Grinstead. Arriving here tonight with the prisoner he told the story of how he had outwitted the escaped convict in the swamp.

Grinstead was alone, armed with a shotgun, when the sheriff came upon him, and the sheriff said he covered him with his pistol before Grinstead could reach for the shotgun.

Grinstead escaped several months ago from the state prison farm, where he was serving a life term for murder.

HON. MRS. TENNYSON WEDS THIRD TIME

London, July 24.—(AP)—The Hon. Mrs. Lionel Tennyson and James Montgomery Beck, Jr., son of the former solicitor general of the United Etates, were married at the Paddington registrar office otday.

Mrs. Tennyson is a sister of Lord Glenconner. She was married first in 1915 to Captain William Bethel, the marriage being dissolved in 1918. In the same year she married Major Lionel Tennyson, a grandson of the poet laureate, Alfred Lord Tennyson. Major Tennyson was granted a divorce a year ago, Mr. Beck being named as corespondent.

SUNSTROKE IS FATAL TO HOSPITAL INMATE IN NORTH CAROLINA

Raleigh, N. C., July 24.—(AP)—Extreme heat during the present warm weather caused the death of C. L. Campbell, inmate at the state hospital for the insane here, hospital authorities said today. The man suffered from a sunstroke.

He was 37 years old. The body was sent to Greenwood, S. C., for burial.

AUGUSTA GROWERS TO SELL TOBACCO AT VALDOSTA MART

Valdosta, Ga., July 24.—(Special.)—Approximately 500,000 pounds of 640,000 pounds of tobacco grown this year around Augusta are expected to be sold on the Valdosta market.

Eight hundred acres were planted in that section of the state and the yield is estimated at 640,000 pounds. A recent survey made of the crop showed it to be in good condition and of high quality. The growers decided to take advantage of the highly developed competitive market in this city, where a greater number of buyers daily bid for the tobacco.

The tobacco from Augusta will be shipped to this city in carload lots.

ROCK ISLAND ROAD ASKS PERMISSION FOR BRANCH LINE

Washington, July 24.—(AP)—Permission to construct six miles of new railroad from Quinn, Ark., into the Rainbow oil fields was sought from the interstate commerce commission today by the Rock Island railroad. The company made no estimates of cost.

SAVANNAH RAISES FUNDS TO EMPLOY NEW COMMISSIONER

Savannah, Ga., July 24.—(AP)—Business interests of Savannah have raised a fund for employment of an industrial commissioner. A man of experience and ability in industrial development in southern centers will be selected for the position.

4 Sunstroke Deaths, And 3 Drownings Reported in Rome

Rome, July 24.—(AP)—Four deaths from sunstroke and three drownings occurred yesterday during the heat wave which is sweeping Italy. A temperature of 95 degrees Fahrenheit was recorded at Rome, Milan, Florence and Bologna, while at Tripoli in Africa it was only 82.4.

CommonMold Put to Work By Scientists

Evanston, Ill., July 24.—(AP)—Common mold, the despair of every housewife, has been put to work by science and has reduced the cost of producing gluconic acid from $100 a pound to 30 cents, H. T. Herrick, of the United States department of agriculture, here to address the American Chemical Society institute, said today.

The mold, a minute microscopic plant, is being used to turn out citric acid, which formerly was an exclusive product of lemons and other sour fruits.

"It is my belief," Herrick said, "that the possibilities of future mold formations are literally infinite. All nature's growth processes are catalytic, time saving and money saving, produced by the action of enzymes When the chemist or engineer tries to reduplicate them, he takes acres of ground, tons of machinery, the productive labor of thousands of men, to imitate what nature has done in the stem of the plant or the branch of the tree. And too frequently he makes a bad job of it."

Herrick said fermentation offered among other things a potential solution of the farm waste problem.

TOYING WITH RIFLE, 11-YEAR-OLD GIRL IS INSTANTLY KILLED

Cochran, Ga., July 24.—(AP)—Mary Warren, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Warren, of Empire, was killed at her home this afternoon while the girl, with her five-year-old brother, were alone in the house. The child was playing with her father's rifle at the time, when it was accidentally dscharged, the bullet piercing her chest in the region of the heart. She was killed instantly.

Her parents were only a short distance away from the house returning from a visit to a neighbor's at the time and hearing the report of the gun, they hurried into their home and found the girl dead on the floor. The boy was so badly frightened that he was unable to give an accurate description of how the accident occ-

$152,000 MISSING; SO IS TRUSTED MAN

New York, July 24.—(AP)—Police today announced they are seeking William H. Pilkington, local representative of a British cotton converting firm, who was indicted last week in connection with the disappearance of $152,000. He was last reported in Vancouver, B. C.

Pilkington, who was employed by Joshua Hoyle and Sons, Ltd., of Birmingham, England, disappeared June 13, when he, his wife and two small sons, with whom he formerly lived in Yonkers, checked out of a hotel. Detectives said they had learned that the family's destination was presumably Japan.

The shortage in the firm's accounts was discovered early in June. Pilkington, who had started on his vacation, visited the office June 13, but on seeing accountants at work on the books he left hastily, the police said.

He came to this country six years ago from Manchester as a salesman for the Hoyle firm, and was later chosen as its American representative. A visit to the Pilkington home in Yonkers showed that the furniture had been removed. Some had been sold to neighbors.

At the Hoyle office it was said that auditors were still working on the books. The alleged thefts are believed to have covered a period of at least two years. Pilkington is 28 years old. He was indicted last week by the New York county grand jury.

Auto Wreck Kills Detroit Man En Route To See Sick Wife

Hammond, La., July 24.—(AP)—Speeding here to the bedside of his ill wife, William G. Hamilton, Detroit business man, was killed instantly today when his automobile was wrecked on the outskirts of Detroit, according to advices reaching relatives.

Mrs. Hamilton was taken sick while visiting her mother, Mrs. S. E. Peters, who is critically ill. Besides his widow, a small son survives Mr. Hamilton.

San Francisco Drunk Arrests Break Records

San Francisco, July 24.—(AP)—Arrests for drunkenness in San Francisco during the last fiscal year broke all records since 1910.

The records of the police department, made public today, show 13,236 persons were held for intoxication. The number of arrests for intoxication in 1921 was 3,497. There has been an annual increase since then.

BULLETS OUTWEIGH MEXICAN BALLOTS

BY LINDSAY HOBEN.

(Special Dispatch to The Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance.) (Copyright, 1928, by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Mexico City, July 24.—Bullets outweigh ballots here. All important personages are armed, especially politicians.

When this correspondent interviewed Colonel Ricardo Topete on Sunday he found a locked gate with a machine gun conveniently located.

Topete is only 29 and has an American wife. As leader of the Obregon bloc in congress he has inherited the leadership of the whole Obregon party.

Luis N. Morones, suspected of being implicated in the assassination of Obregon, and who has resigned from the Calles cabinet, is also well fortified with machine guns and a veritable private army.

Morones' reputation is unsavory throughout Mexico. Although he is the labor leader, he has amassed a huge personal fortune and built for himself one of the most magnificent houses in Mexico City, with a swimming pool, electrically lighted underneath.

Several false reports were circulated during the last few days that he ha been assassinated and the word that passes from lip to lip now is

President Candidate Of the Diaz Faction In Nicaragua Quits

Managua, Nicaragua, July 24.—(AP) Carlos Cuadra Dasos, candidate of the Diaz faction for the conservative presidential nomination, has withdrawn and Vicente Rappacoili, General Chamorro's candidate, has announced his intention of quitting the race. In the meantime the various conservative factions are continuing to confer, in the hope of selecting a candidate within a few days.

STEAMER AGROUND IN LAKE SUPERIOR

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., July 24. (AP)—Two tugs left the "Soo" this afternoon for Isle Parisienne, Lake Superior, to aid in towing the steamer Kiowa, hard aground on the island reefs. The 28 members of the Kiowa's crew are in no danger but the bottom was reported ripped out of the ship by the reef. Calm water on the lake has made it likely the ship may be salvaged.

Word of the steamer's plight reached here today when a sailor made his way ashore and told of the wrecking of the ship Sunday.

The coast guard cutter Chippewa is standing by ready to take the men off if the ship, loaded with pulpwood and downbound, is abandoned. The ship is owned by the O. W. Blodgett company of Bay City, Mich.

"When will somebody get Morones?"

Meanwhile, Morones keeps discreetly hidden.

So uncertain is the allegiance of the army that there is hesitancy in calling it out for emergencies. The inside story is that all battalion commanders in the federal district were changed on Saturday night.

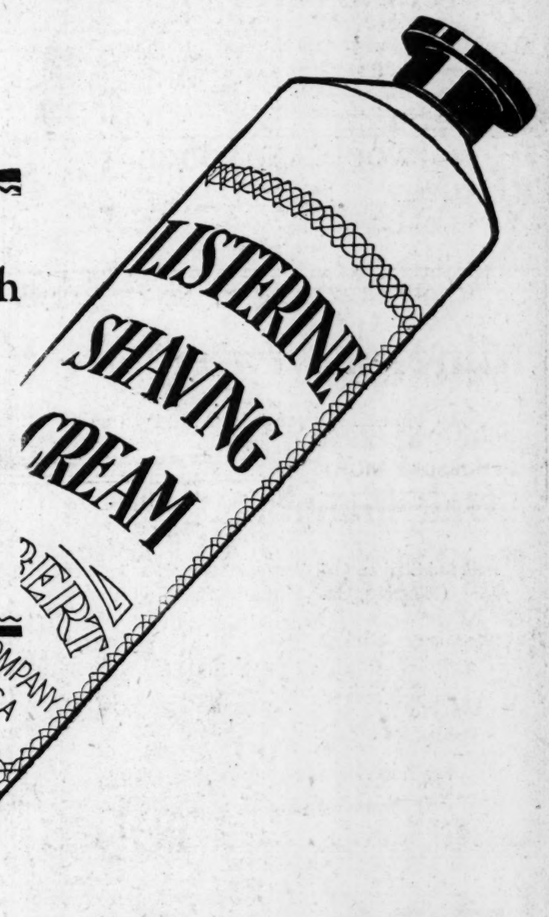

Topete on Sunday made the significant statement that it is becoming impossible to fight Catholic rebels in the northern states because they are fast joining the Obregonistas. He thus forecasts the disappearance of clerical opposition through their merging with his part-

Crammed so full of cream, it costs only 10¢ a month

Some men buy Listerine Shaving Cream because of its obvious economy—118 inches of cream in the big white tube, more than enough for 157 shaves, easily a five months' supply, sells for 50¢.

Others appreciate its supreme quality so much, value so highly the beneficial effects of its costly ingredients, that they would gladly pay much more if they had to. What's a half-dollar in a man's life, if he can trade it for five months of the finest shaving comfort he has ever experienced!

Buy your first tube today at any good drug or department store. Tomorrow, after you have tried this new-type beard-softener and skin-conditioner just once, you will forget that there ever was a shaving problem.

End Shaving Friction

Now—a velvety film of glycerine to smooth the path of the razor

ACROSS the microscopic peaks and hills which hold each hair, up and down the furrows of your face, you drag a piece of steel pressed close to the skin. Pull . . . scrape . . . rasp . . . Is it any wonder that tender tissues rebel at the harshness and heat of this friction; that shaving is a daily torture, dreaded though endured!

Science has long pondered this evil of friction in shaving, and Listerine Shaving Cream now offers the solution. At the cutting line of each hair, this amazing new cream deposits the merest shadow of glycerine, approved by dermatologists for cosmetic lubrication.

The effect is instantaneous. The razor slides instead of sticking. And how it whisks the whiskers off! Quick. Clean. Smooth.

Each hair has been drenched with moisture and softened by dense, billowy lather. The skin has been lubricated to lessen razor resistance. And even though tiny nicks and cuts are thus practically eliminated, the cream contains the antiseptic essential oils of Listerine to defeat infection.

There is no need for finger-rubbing or hot towels or lotions. Every shave is quick and smooth. And instead of smarting or burning, your face feels fine when you've finished. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo.

BANDITS ESCAPE FROM POSSE'S NET

Lamont, Okla., July 24.—(AP)—Two men who robbed the First State bank of Lamont today, kidnapping the cashier, Harry Mathias, tonight apparently had made good their escape, with loot estimated at from $1,200 to $1,500. Mathias was released unharmed soon after the robbery after a 12-mile ride into the country with his captors.

The two men, about 25 years old, found him alone in the bank, Mathias said, and asked if he could do some notary public work for them. When he entered a small office the cashier said one of the men drew a gun and covered him while the other scooped up the cash. They forced Mathias to enter the car.

The robbers, the cashier said, drove about 12 miles northeast toward Blackwell, where they tied his hands and feet and left him in a corn field. Then, Mathias said, they drove on in an easterly direction. They were driving a large sedan bearing an Oklahoma license plate.

The cashier soon released himself and, rushing to a nearby telephone, spread the alarm. A posse was formed immediately and started in pursuit.

RASKOB RESIGNS OFFICES WITH GMC

New York, July 24.—(United News.)—Chairman John J. Raskob, of the democratic national committee, has given up his principal official connections with the General Motors corporation, of which he is the directing genius, because of his heavy political duties and a desire not to mix business with politics.

Raskob's self-enforced separation from the motor world, where he is recognized as one of the giants, is regarded as only temporary, but the news unsettled General Motors stock, though it did not affect the rest of the market.

Closes 1 1-2 Points Off.

General Motors opened at 187 1-2, up 1-8 point net and never rose above that point today. Low for the day was 184 5-8. It closed at 186 7-8, off 1 1-2 points.

Raskob is expected to return to his position as chairman of the finance committee and member of the executive committee, which he has resigned, at the end of the campaign. The hope that he would do so was expressed by Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of the corporation, in his letter, dated today, accepting Raskob's resignation. The motor official's letter was dated July 23.

Raskob also is a vice president, one of 17, and a member of the board of directors. While he said in his letter to Sloan that he desired to give up all of his duties in the corporation, he only specified the finance and executive committee posts. These are the most important.

The automobile official's resignation created considerable surprise, both in Wall street financial circles and among his new political associates. It had been reported repeatedly since he took charge of Governor Alfred E Smith's presidential campaign that he would resign from General Motors, but these reports were denied.

Forestall Criticism.

He and Sloan made it plain in their letters that the action is to forestall criticism for retaining his business connection while directing a political campaign. There are 300,000 employees in the General Motors factories, in addition to a host of clerical workers. Raskob also is highly influential with other directors of corporate business.

His appointment was regarded as a bid for big business support for Governor Smith. He has never participated in politics and frankly admits his ignorance of the political "game." For the last two weeks he has devoted practically his entire time to organization of the campaign, with the result that the campaign is further advanced than any previous democratic campaign at this period. Henceforth, he will turn his entire attention to politics.

"In the first place, I find that the duties imposed upon me as chairman of the national democratic committee are such as to take all of my time and effort during the ensuing presidential campaign," Raskob explained in his letter to Sloan.

"Moreover, it is desirable for the public to know, as everybody in General Motors should appreciate, that the corporation is not, and in the nature of things cannot be, in politics. While all of its officers and employees are of course, entitled to their individual political views, the corporation must not be put in the light of taking sides for or against political parties, personages or questions.

"Lest, therefore, there should be the slightest misapprehension in the public mind on this score, and in order to enable me to devote all of my energies free from any restraint to the very arduous political duty which I have assumed, I am asking to be relieved of all my duties in connection with the corporation's affairs."

Praised By Sloan.

Acknowledging Raskob's letter, Sloan said:

"In view of your conviction that your duty as chairman of the national democratic committee will monopolize your time during the presidential campaign, and on account of the importance to the corporation as well as to yourself of making it unmistakably clear that the corporation takes no part in political affairs, we are constrained to accept your request to be relieved from all your duties in connection with the corporation.

"It is the unanimously expressed hope and expectation that you will resume your duties after the presidential campaign is over. On our part as a corporation we recognize the necessity of always keeping clear of politics which is no concern of ours, at the same time recognizing to the full the right of all of our officers, employees, dealers and stockholders to take their individual stand on political questions as they think best."

Whether Raskob's position will be filled is not known. The board of directors at its meeting on August 9 will discuss the matter. Some one may be designated to take over his duties through the period of the campaign.

GEORGE ROBBINS, VALDOSTA SLAYER, MAINTAINS SILENCE

Waycross, Ga., July 24.—(Special.)—George Robbins, confessed slayer of Jack Crews, who surrendered himself to city authorities Sunday afternoon after he had shot and killed Crews in front of the latter's home in Gilchrist Park, has made no statement to Sheriff L. C. Warren as to the reason for the shooting, but the sheriff stated this afternoon that he has every reason to believe that Robbins will "come clean" with the whole story.

The fact that Robbins reported immediately to officers, surrendered himself and told of the time and place of the shooting, when he had ample opportunity to flee from the city, combined with information gained from other sources by county authorities, indicates that Robbins will not attempt to conceal the facts leading to the killing. It is the general belief that difficulties involving members of the Robbins and Crews families led to the shooting.

Funeral services were held for the victim Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock, conducted by the Rev. J. N. Peacock, pastor of the First Methodist church, of Waycross. The services were held at the W. L. Hinson Funeral home and the remains were carried to Shiloh cemetery, in Pierce county, for interment.

PEPPERS ARE SHIPPED FROM NORTH FLORIDA

Thomasville, Ga., July 24.—(Special.)—Truck growers of Thomas county are watching with interest the outcome of experiments in growing pimento peppers in Leon county, Florida, which adjoins this county on the south. Shipments of the peppers started this morning and will continue almost daily until the crop is entirely harvested. Farmers in Leon county were induced to put in experimentally some 150 acres in the peppers last spring, being given a contract price by a canning company, which pledged itself to accept all the crop. Exceptionally wet season has damaged the plants somewhat, but the yield is fairly good and quality reported high.

SOUTH FOR SMITH, HARRISON SAYS

New York, July 24.—(United News.)—Democrats will organize a "militant" campaign in parts of the south to offset republican efforts to swing some southern states for Hoover, Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, declared upon his arrival here today to take up his duties as a member of the national advisory committee.

Harrison said republicans are using certain non-political organizations, which he declined to specify, in the south, as in other parts of the country, "in an attempt to create defection in democratic ranks."

Sees Loss in End.

"We will find this practice by the republican management more apparent as the campaign progresses," he said, "but in the end we will throw the sunlight upon their campaign and weaken whatever influence they have heretofore been able to exert."

Despite this republican campaign, the Mississippi senator said, "there is no doubt about the south remaining true to the democratic party." He predicted success for the democratic ticket.

"It looks as if the democratic party has as fine a chance of success this year as in a generation," he said. "Governor Smith's popularity is confined to no section and every tendency points to victory in November."

The Mississippi senator said of the south, that "it may be in certain states in that section that a more militant campaign will have to be organized in order to increase the majorities, but that is what we will do."

Others Optimistic.

He said there will be some democrats who will not vote, but predicted many republicans who have not voted hitherto will vote the democratic ticket in the south this year, as well as in other sections. He sees no need for a southern headquarters, he added.

Optimistic predictions of democratic success in the west were brought here today by another member of the advisory committee. Former Representative Jouett Shouse, of Kansas, who said democratic managers in those states report what Missouri, Oklahoma and Arizona will be in the Smith column, with a probability of New Mexico, and a 50-50 chance in Colorado.

There is "a most definite trend away from the republican party in Kansas," he said, adding, "it would be less remarkable in many regards for Governor Smith to carry Kansas this year than it was for President Wilson in 1916."

FLORIDA LINEMAN, RESISTING ARREST, KILLED BY OFFICER

Miami, Fla., July 24.—(AP)—W. F. Kirkland, 30, telephone lineman of Miami, was shot and killed by Policeman B. Parrish in a hotel at Pompano last night. The officer shot after Kirkland had hurled a chair at the policeman in defiance of an attempt to arrest him, a witness reported to authorities here. Kirkland came to Miami from Alabama.

PROHIBITION CASES IN SOUTH GEORGIA SHOW GAIN OF 114

Savannah, Ga., July 24.—(AP)—Prohibition cases terminated in the federal court for the southern district of Georgia during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1928, totalled 525 as compared to 411 cases in the preceding year, according to the report completed today by the district attorney. The southern district includes the Savannah, Augusta, Waycross and Dublin divisions.

Receipts for the year totaled $56,570.23, which is a decrease of about 50 per cent under last year, when two large tax suits were settled to swell the total.

The aggregate amount of fines, forfeitures and penalties imposed in the 525 prohibition cases was $33,257.60, whereas the amount realized on such penalties is set down at $9,935.10.

Today's Social Calendar Filled With Many Interesting Events

Of interest to members of the young social set is the dinner party at which Mr. and Mrs. William A. Speer will be hosts at the dinner-dance on the roof of the Atlanta Athletic club this evening, the occasion complimenting their granddaughter, Miss Frances McKenzie, and her guest, Miss Edith Menzies, of Detroit, Mich., and will assemble 34 guests.

One of the most interesting affairs today will be the stag dinner at which James L. Dickey will entertain at his home, "Arden," on Paces Ferry road, in honor of his brother, Erwin Dickey, who with his family will leave Friday for Watertown, N. Y., where they will make their home in future.

Misses Jean Williams, Kate Thompson and Margaret Cochran, brides-elect of the summer, will be honor guests at a series of social functions today, while Mrs. Charles Marshall, Miss Runa Erwin, Miss Annie Bratton, Mrs. Noel Park and Miss Kitty Park, Miss Elizabeth Barnett, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Speer, Mrs. George Freeman, Jr., and James L. Dickey are among the hosts of today's social affairs.

Miss Chamblee Weds William C. Fowler.

Mrs. Henry Walter Chamblee announces the marriage of her daughter, Ada Dorothy, to William Carl Fowler, Saturday afternoon, July 21, at 2 o'clock at Westminster Presbyterian church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. W. Caldwell, Jr., in the presence of a few relatives and close friends.

The bride was attractive in a costume of rose beige georgette. Her hat was a small close-fitting model matching her gown, and completing her costume was a shoulder bouquet of pink rosebuds showered with valley lilies.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Fowler left for a wedding trip to Lookout Mountain, Tenn., after which they will be at home at 218 East Davis street, Decatur, Ga.

A PLEASING BOLERO ENSEMBLE.

6199. A sleeveless frock, and bolero with short sleeves supply this up-to-date design. A plain and a printed fabric may be combined in its development, or the waist may be of silk crepe, and the skirt and bolero of wool crepe or georgette. As pictured, figured silk was used with crepe de chine for the waist portion and facings. Pongee, printed and plain in combination is nice, as is also printed and plain linen.

The pattern for this distinctive model is cut in 3 sizes: 16, 18, and 20 years. To make it for an 18-year size as illustrated in the large view will require 1 3-8 yard of plain material and 2 7-8 yards of figured material, 35 inches wide. If made without the bolero 1 1-2 yard of the figured material is required. The width of the dress at the lower edge with plaits extended is 1 1-2 yard.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

Send 12c in silver or stamps for our up-to-date spring and summer 1928 Book of Fashions. Address orders to Beauty Fashion Department, care The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

The public is invited.

Capital City Club Roof Garden Proves Popular Rendezvous

The roof garden of the Capital City club has proven a most popular rendezvous for the Atlanta stay-at-homes who are spending most of their time and thought on keeping cool during these warm July days. A large number of congenial dinner parties featured Tuesday's evening dinner dance at this popular club at which summer visitors and brides-elect with their fiancees were honor guests.

Miss Kate Thompson and Irving Schweppe, whose marriage will be solemnized Tuesday, July 31, were honor guests in a party at which Arthur Pew was host. Covers were placed for the honor guests, the host and Miss Palmer Dallis, Mrs. George Horkans, of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Robert Kilgore, Mr. and Mrs. Barnard Boykin, Joe Singleton and Oliver Etheridge.

Miss Margaret Cochran and George Pulliam Rosser, whose wedding will be an event of Saturday, were honored by Miss Teresa Atkinson, who entertained members of the bridal party at dinner. Covers were placed for Miss Elizabeth Murphy, Miss Kathleen Pierson, Miss Ruth Hendrix, Miss Mary Louise Rosser, Miss Cochran, Miss Atkinson, Arthur LeCraw, Charles King, George Roerig, Edward McKinley, of Bridgeport, Conn., Spencer Boyd, William Crowder, and George Rosser.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Jordan and Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Pierson dined together.

Barmore P. Gambrell entertained Miss Florence Eckford, Miss Ann Lane Newell and Charles G. Gambrell, of New York.

Brilliant Hop at Army Service Club To Be Given Friday Evening

Fort McPherson, July 24.—A week-end of particular interest is anticipated in garrison circles as the 163d brigade entertains Friday evening at a brilliant hop at the Army Service club in honor of the regular army officers on duty at Fort McPherson. The guests will be received by Major General and Mrs. Richmond P. Davis, Brigadier General and Mrs. Abraham G. Lott, Colonel Richard C. Boyd, who commands the 163d brigade; Colonel and Mrs. Henry A. Ripley, Colonel and Mrs. Price, Lieutenant Colonel and Mrs. Boyce C. Miller, Major and Mrs. John Hutchinson Hester, Major and Mrs. Harry J. Keeley, and Captain T. J. Jackson. Over 200 guests will attend the hop.

Mrs. Irwin H. Joffee entertained at a beautiful bridge-tea Tuesday afternoon at her quarters in the garrison in honor of Mrs. Syril E. Faine, who is leaving August 1 with Lieutenant Faine for change of station, and Miss Hortense Mintz, of Tampa, Fla. The lace-covered tea table was graced with a bowl of gladioli and dahlias, while golden tapers were placed at intervals. Shasta daisies, ragged robins and other garden flowers were used effectively throughout the reception rooms. Five tables of bridge were in play and a few additional guests were invited for tea.

Recent popular additions to garrison circles are Captain and Mrs. R. T. Edwards, who motored from Washington, D. C., last week to Fort McPherson, where Captain Edwards will be on duty with the quartermaster corps of the fourth corps area. Captain Edwards has been stationed for the past two years at Walter Reed. Captain and Mrs. Edwards have apartments in the post in building No. 27.

Colonel George T. Baltzell left Monday for a brief leave of seven days, returning to the garrison Sunday. Mrs. Baltzell, who has been visiting her son, Cadet George T. Baltzell, at West Point Military academy for three weeks, plans to return to the post the first of August.

Mrs. Marshall Honors Miss La Hatte.

An event of Saturday afternoon was a bridge-tea given by Mrs. Slater Marshall at her home on Peachtree road in honor of Miss Mildred La Hatte, whose marriage to Osborne Rogers Haygood will be an event of next month. Top score was won by Miss Bess Grace and Miss Anna Mulcahy cut the consolation. The guest of honor was presented with a dainty handkerchief. Following the game Miss La Hatte was presented with a liner shower.

Mrs. Marshall was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. Philip Keeney, and her sister, Miss Dorothy Keeney. Twenty friends of the honoree were invited.

Miss Brannon Weds Colon Sappenfield.

The marriage of Miss Helen Brannon and Colon Sappenfield was quietly solemnized Saturday evening at the home of Rev. Robert H. Lamkin, 85 Fifth street. The bride was attractively gowned in an ensemble of beige crepe figured with delicate tints of orange. With this she wore a hat of white felt. Mrs. Paul Brooks, matron-of-honor, wore blue georgette with white felt hat. Paul Brooks acted as best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Sappenfield will reside in Atlanta.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

WHITEY RECEIVES VISITORS.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Perchance the thing that you despise
May prove a blessing in disguise.
—Peter Rabbit.

Whitey, the white-coated little son of Peter Rabbit, had been put in a pen in the farmyard by Farmer Brown's Boy. Of course, that meant that he was a prisoner. At first Whitey had felt this. All he could think about was getting away. He had tried to dig his way out and found that that wire went clear 'way under the ground and he couldn't get under it. He had tried biting it, but it wouldn't bite, so he soon gave that up.

In a few days, however, he began to like his new home. In the first place, there was always plenty to eat, and while he was eating he didn't have to stop and look and listen between bites. He was safe all the time. It was a delightful feeling. And then there was the food itself. Never had he had such food in the dear Old Briar-patch. So Whitey became fairly contented. If not truly happy, he certainly wasn't unhappy.

From the very first he had visitors. All the feathered flock in the Old Orchard came over to have a look at him. Bowser the Hound used to come around every day. At first this frightened Whitey, but he soon discovered that while that wire kept him in it kept Bowser out. Then, too, Bowser was friendly. He seemed to understand Whitey's situation.

It was about a week after Whitey had come up there to live in Farmer Brown's farmyard that one moonlight night Whitey was sitting outside his little house when he heard soft footsteps just outside the wire of his pen. He looked and for a moment had a dreadful fright. You see, not two feet away was Reddy Fox. Such a hungry look as there was in the eyes of Reddy! That look made Whitey shiver. Then he remembered the wire that was between them and right away he felt better. Reddy came up and sniffed. He ran all around the pen. He jumped up on it. He jumped down again. He tried to dig in from one side and then from the other and in the end he had to give up. It was then that Whitey began to feel really happy. You see, one cannot be perfectly safe and not be at least a little happy.

The next night it was Old Man Coyote who visited him. Old Man Coyote is clever. He saw right away where Reddy Fox had been digging, so he didn't waste any time trying that. He just looked that pen all over and decided that smart as he was, he couldn't possibly get into it. Then he grinned in at Whitey. "How do you like being a prisoner?" he asked pleasantly.

"Very much," replied Whitey "especially when you are around."

Old Man Coyote grinned again, "Well said," he replied. "Don't you long for the freedom of the Green Meadows?"

"Not just now," replied Whitey.

Again Old Man Coyote grinned. "It is a wise Rabbit who knows when he is well off," said he good naturedly, and trotted away.

The next night there was another visitor. This one gave Whitey a real scare, for he had never seen him before. It was Hooty the Owl. Apparently Hooty didn't see the wire top, for on silent wings he came sailing down with his great claws reaching for Whitey. When they struck the wire it quite upset him. There was nothing good-natured about Hooty. The way he hissed and scolded and glared scared Whitey so that he ran into his little house and didn't dare poke his head out again that night.

But as he sat in his little house listening to the fuss Hooty was making outside, his heart was filled with thankfulness. "I'm glad I was caught in that trap. I am safe and comfortable and have all I want to eat. What more can any Rabbit ask?"

Britain Buries Ashes of Terry With Immortals

London, July 24.—(AP)—The ashes of the beloved British actress, Ellen Terry, rested tonight in a silver casket in the "Church of the Actors," St. Paul's church, Covent Garden, where so many distinguished thespians have been buried. Funeral services were held earlier in the day in the little Kentish village of Small Hythe where she had lived in the declining years of her life and where she died last Saturday.

In deference to the great actress' last wish—"no funeral gloom my dears, when I am gone"—the utmost simplicity marked the services at Small Hythe and at the chapel of the crematorium at Golders Green, London, where the body was cremated. At Small Hythe her friends and relatives wore no mourning and brightly hued flowers from village gardens deprived the scene of any touch of sombreness.

The ceremony was brief, a short burial service and prayers and then the nunc dimittis, the opening words of which "Lord now lettest thou thy servant depart in peace for mine eyes have seen thy salvation" were so much in keeping with Dame Terry's wishes."

NEGROES BARRED FROM DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY IN TEXAS

San Antonio, Texas, July 24.—(AP) Another decision sustaining the right of democratic organizations to bar negroes from the democratic primary in Texas was handed down here today in federal court.

Judge Duval West denied an application for a temporary restraining order which would prevent election officials from refusing democratic ballots to negroes. The order was sought by J. G. Wimberly, a negro attorney, who was denied an absentee ballot on the strength of a resolution adopted by the Bexar county democratic executive committee excluding negroes from the democratic primary.

A decision similar to Judge West's was handed down in Houston yesterday by Federal Judge J. C. Hutcheon, Jr., who held that political parties may prescribe qualifications of members.

INSISTS ON PROBE IN DEATH OF MAN KNOCKED OFF CAR

Omaha, Neb., July 24.—(AP)—A state charge against Conrad Barth, Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad special agent, who is alleged to have knocked Gordon Grigor, of Cleveland, Ohio, from a freight car to his death at Ashland, Neb., July 12, will be demanded by Percy Rector Stephens, New York music conductor and a friend of the Grigor family.

In a long distance telephone conversation with an attorney here, Mr. Stephens said if no action has been taken by Saunders county authorities by Friday he would go direct to the governor and the attorney general and demand that a state complaint be filed against Barth. A coroner's jury held Barth responsible for Grigor's death.

SHIPPING BOARD IS READY TO SELL PALMETTO LINE

Washington, D. C., July 24.—(AP)—The shipping board today announced that bids for the American Palmetto line, consisting of 10 cargo vessels and operating between South Atlantic and United Kingdom and continental European ports, would be opened here August 27.

The board approved the merchant fleet corporation's advertisements and specifications, and the line will be advertised for sale for 30 days. Under the specifications the bidders must guarantee to operate at least six of the ships for five years, each vessel to make 24 round trips annually.

The line is being operated by the South Atlantic Steamship company, of Savannah, Ga.

The proposed sale of the United States lines and the American Merchant lines was not considered today by the board.

CHAIR OF SOCIETAL ENGINEERING URGED

Establishment of a chair of societal engineering in one of the state educational institutions, to aid in promotion of scientific study of social and welfare conditions among mill workers of this section was recommended as a result of the first conference of social and welfare workers of textile mills in the state to be held.

The conference took place Tuesday at the Biltmore hotel under auspices of the industrial welfare committee of the Cotton Manufacturers' association of Georgia, with more than 100 mills of this state represented by 55 experts.

A feature of the meeting was adoption of the resolution instructing the industrial welfare committee to cooperate with state educational institutions wth view towards establishment of the chair and making arrangements for holding summer institutes on this subject at one of the universities.

Plans for research on the prevalence of anaemia among industrial workers of the state were revealed in an address before the conference by Dr. J. L. McGhee, head of the Emory university biochemical research laboratories.

"It is my belief that the most valuable service undertaken in behalf of the industrial workers of Georgia in many years is that soon to be rendered by Emory university and allied agencies in prevention of diseases of which anaemia is either the direct or contributing cause," Dr. McGhee stated.

"The project, plans for which are now complete, embraces an elaborate investigation into causes and remedies of anaemia, and is primarily a technical and laboratory problem. Its success largely depends upon cooperation of mill owners and welfare workers, to whom the task of obtaining analysis has been entrusted," the university professor declared, asserting that national insurance companies have volunteered to aid.

W. D. Anderson presided at the conference.

LARCENY OF $3,000 DIAMOND CHARGED TO J. PARKS HAYES

Embezzlement from a woman acquaintance of a seven carat diamond valued at $3,000, was charged to J. Parks Hayes in a larceny after trust indictment made Tuesday by the Fulton county grand jury.

According to Tuesday's true bill, Hayes accepted a platinum-mounted diamond ring from Mrs. A. B. Tucker, 783 Jackson street, for the purpose of making a sale, but converted the valuable to his own use.

4 LATVIAN GUARDS SENTENCED TO DIE FOR SOVIET SPYING

Ryehista, Latvia, July 24.—(AP)—Two former officers of the Latvian frontier guards and two guards were sentenced to death today when convicted of espoinage on behalf of the soviet. The charges were based on evidence given by a former employee of the Ogpu Russian secret police named Nikitin.

Five other persons were sentenced to hard labor for life, two to ten years in jail and six, including a woman, to five years. Eleven others were acquitted.

OLD FORT M'HENRY BEING RESTORED FOR CELEBRATION

Washington, July 24.—(AP)—Old Fort McHenry, of Star-Spangled Banner fame, at Baltimore, is being so rapidly restored to the condition it was in at the time Francis Scott Key wrote the immemorial ode that the reconstruction will be made an appropriate and interesting part of the biennial congress of the National Society of the War of 1812, to be held in Baltimore, September 12.

Secretary Davis has informed General Clinton L. Riggs, president of the society, that the restoration, authorized by the last congress, will be completed sufficiently to permit making it a feature of the meeting and the war department will be glad to cooperate in the ceremonies.

RICKARD BLAMES RADIO FOR FLOP

BY MARTIN CODEL.

(Copyright, 1928, by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Washington, D. C., July 24.—Forty American broadcasting stations and one Canadian thus far have arranged to carry the account of the Tunney-Heeney prize fight. Tex Rickard gets another opportunity thereby to employ the radio to stimulate public interest in the sport.

He is lugubrious, however, about the prospect, and apparently is letting the national radio audience in on the announcements somewhat grudgingly.

The New York promoter has informed interviewers that he is "experimenting" with Thursday night's broadcast. He blamed the radio again, as he did last year, for the fact that many of the cheaper seats at the Dempsey-Tunney encounter at Soldiers' field, Chicago, went begging. His theory is that some fans preferred to stay at home at their receiving sets rather than pay $5 for seats far removed from the ring as they were in the vast Chicago stadium.

Rickard said he is going to find out whether the radio cuts into the gate receipts or not. If it does, he thinks that something will have to be done about it. Just what, he did not state. But he did dilate upon the alleged unfairness of having the radio dealers profit directly by his big shows. They invariably step up their advertising on such radio occasions as a championship prize fight and consequently enjoys substantial increased sales of receiving sets and parts.

It is generally agreed here that even if the Yankee stadium event Thursday night is not a sell out, chain broadcasting of championship fights will never be discontinued. Tex Rickard could not afford to sacrifice the public's good will that is created for prize fighting when the radio announcing is clear and ample.

COMMONS REFUSES CENSURE ON LABOR

London, July 24.—(AP)—The house of commons tonight by a vote of 331 to 151 defeated the labor party's motion of censure of the government for failure to solve the unemployment problem.

An amendment moved by Sir Henry Paget Croft, unionist, deploring the opposition of the liberal and labor parties to the government's policy of reform of local taxation and to its policy of safeguarding industries, was carried by 305 to 136. The vote came at the end of a long debate in which former Premier Ramsay MacDonald, who moved the vote of censure, charged the government with ineffective dealing with the unemployment problem which had left more than a million and a quarter jobless in the country.

Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer in the Baldwin cabinet, closing the debate for the government, declared that the coal industry was the crux of the whole problem and that he hoped that relief would shortly be forthcoming from the taxation reform policy which the government has resolved to push through parliament as quickly as possible.

The problem of more than 200,000 miners who it was declared would be permanently without work unless they were shifted to other industries or to the colonies, was dealt with at length. Mr. Churchill said the government had under consideration a concrete scheme of migration which would be presented at an early date.

Texan's Slayer Turns on Woman Accused as Aid

Bastrop, Texas, July 24.—(AP)—Turning against the woman with whom he admitted having conspired to kill her husband, Hugo Middleton, a blacksmith, testified here today he paid Joe Morales, a Mexican, $250 to murder W. W. Waybourne, a retired railroad man of Smithville, Texas, who was found beaten to death at his home last March.

Mrs. Rosie Waybourne, 48-year-old widow of the slain man, on trial for complicity in the murder, wept during Waybourne's testimony.

Middleton testified that on Mrs. Waybourne's solicitation he got Morales to kill Waybourne, who carried $12,000 life insurance.

Middleton said Mrs. Waybourne wanted her husband put out of the way, "because she did not love him, did not want to live with him and because he carried a lot of insurance." The blacksmith said he refused to do the killing but agreed to get someone else to do it.

Morales disappeared shortly after the murder and has not been apprehended.

OHIO STANDARD LEADER RETIRED AFTER 40 YEARS

Cleveland, Ohio, July 24.—(AP)—B. A. Mathews, of Columbus, a director and second vice president of the Standard Oil Company of Ohio, resigned today.

His resignation was accepted by the board at its meeting here and he was retired on a pension. He has been in charge of the Columbus office for several years and connected with the company since 1886.

J. S. Harrison, of Cleveland, was chosen to take his place.

U. S. WILL NOT BAR ENTRY OF RUSSIAN ITALIA RESCUERS

Washington, July 24.—(United News.)—The proposed visit to the United States of Professor Samoilovich, head of the Russian expedition sent into the arctic for the crew of the ill-fated dirigible Italia, and Russian Air Pilot Chukhnovsky, who assisted in the rescue work, will not be hindered by the federal government, it was said in official circles today.

The Russian rescue leaders will be required, however, to comply with all American immigration regulations concerning Russian visitors, before they will be granted visas, it was said.

Dispatches saying arrangements are being made for the contemplated visit were received by authorities with little interest. It was pointed out that because Russia and the United States have no diplomatic relations federal officials cannot take part in any welcoming program.

RADIO-ING The Air Waves.

BY THE DIAL TWISTER.

Gilbert and Sullivan's "Iolanthe" will be presented to the radio listeners of the nation tonight by the National Light Opera company. WSB and other network stations of the NBC will bring in the opera, which was produced for the first time in London in 1882, at 8:30 o'clock.

The opera opens in Arcady, Iolanthe, a fairy, having offended her queen by marrying a mortal, has been banished for life, but in the opening scene, after 20 years of exile, she is pardoned. Her son, Strephon, half fairy and half mortal, is engaged to Phyllis, a shepherdess, and ward in chancery.

Strephon is having plenty of trouble tyirng to marry Phyllis and Iolanthe breaks her fairy vows, being condemned to death. But in inimitable Gilbert and Sullivan comedy, everyone gets mixed up and to set matters right the fairy queen has to pardon them all and ends herself in marrying a mortal.

The Palmolive hour tonight will come at its new hour, having changed from Friday evening. The Grand March from "Aida" will be the operatic feature of the program. The hour will open over WSB and NBC stations at 7:30 o'clock. Olive Palmer will sing "Norwegian Echo Song" and "Ma Li'l Bateau." With the ensemble she will sing "Carmen," one of her former operatic roles.

And "The Idol's Eye," a comic opera by Victor Herbert, will be the Philco hour prize at 7 o'clock over WSB and the NBC chain, with Jessica Dragonette and Colin O'More in the title roles. We told you all about "The Idol's Eye" a week ago and then the program was postponed. Here's hoping that the "eye of love" and the "eye of hate" will shine in all their glory tonight.

LATE SAN FRANCISCO HOOVER FETE FRIDAY

Palo Alto, Cal., July 24.—(United News.)—Mayor James Rolph, Jr., of San Francisco, arranged today with Herbert Hoover, the republican presidential nominee for a belated homecoming demonstration in San Francisco Friday, a demonstration which Rolph believes will equal the New York celebrations for returning heroes.

The mayor demonstrated in the presentation of his invitation that Mayor Walker, of New York, is not the only wisecracking city ruler in the United States. He asked Hoover if the candidate would love him in December as he did in May, which referred to Walker's famous song.

Then Rolph, dressed in a dapper summer suit, told the story about the Florida watermelon and the California grape, inferring they were both the same size.

Hoover failed to split his sides in laughter. He smiled the quizzical Hoover smile.

"I want to invite you, the next president of the United States, to receive San Francisco's compliments at noon next Friday," the mayor finally said.

"That is a very truthful and very courteous statement," Hoover replied, accepting the invitation.

PICNIC TRAIN RUNS INTO CARS

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 24.—(AP)—Upward of 30 persons were cut by flying glass and bruised tonight when a picnic train bringing Pennsylvania railroad employees from an outing at Canton, Ohio, ran into several derailed freight cars in the Woods Run yards of the Pennsylvania here tonight. None of the passengers was seriously injured, the railroad reported.

There were 11 day coaches in the picnic train, but none left the track. The derailed freight cars were being shifted about the yards when they left the track.

Ambulances and taxicabs were ordered to the scene at once and those whose hurts were serious enough to require hospital attention were taken to nearby institutions.

Persons on the train said the windows in a number of coaches were shattered as the coaches were scraped by the derailed freight cars. The cars immediately filled with dust, they said, creating a near panic, with the passengers struggling to get to the doors.

All on the train, according to railroad officials, were residents of the Pittsburgh district.

Jack Pickford Flies to New York From Los Angeles

New York, July 24.—(AP)—The New York Daily News today says that Jack Pickford arrived at Hadley field, New Jersey, last night after a 31-hour airplane trip from Los Angeles and immediately telephoned his former wife, Marilyn Miller, who is in New York.

Pickford recently was discharged from a Los Angeles hospital where he had gone suffering from a nervous breakdown. He said he was here to discuss an offer to appear on the New York stage. He was divorced from Miss Miller in Paris last November. She is appearing on Broadway as the star in a musical comedy.

The New York American quotes Pickford as denying he came here for any reconciliation with his former wife.

"As a matter of fact," he said, "there could be no reconciliation, for we are on excellent terms. We are great friends, fond of each other and have not the remotest idea of being remarried."

BOXER IS TAKEN, ANOTHER SOUGHT IN BANK ROBBERY

New Orleans, July 24.—(AP)—While police tonight were combing the city in an effort to locate Sam Larocca, alias Jack Lewis, former prize fighter, and two other alleged principals in the robbery of the Lebreton branch of the Canal Bank & Trust company yesterday of $4,300 in a holdup, another former boxer, Mitchell Paul Poretto, was under $2,500 bond on a charge of being an accessory after the fact in the robbery.

Poretto, who operates a soft drink stand, was arrested last night after officers discovered evidence linking his name with the robbery.

COOLIDGE IS GIVEN HUGE DEER HEAD

Superior, Wis., July 24.—(AP)—A free corner of President Coolidge's office was reserved today for a large deer with spreading antlers, which was destined to adorn the room for the remainder of the chief executive's stay in Wisconsin.

The animal was considered a specially fine example of the deer that still roam in utter freedom in the woods surrounding the summer white house. This specimen was caught in the neighborhood several years ago by R. D. Ryan, of Chicago, who had it mounted. Ryan came to Superior some weeks ago and made an engagement for today to present it to Mr. Coolidge.

GOVERNMENT CONTROL OF MINING URGED

Seattle, Wash., July 24.—(AP)—Government control of mining to prevent a "disastrous situation" in the industry was suggested by Dr. George Otis Smith, director of the United States geological survey, in a paper prepared for delivery today before the American Bar association convention here. Dr. Smith also is president of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical engineers.

"In recent years the mineral industry seems to have grown too fast," the paper said. "The American habit of 'stepping on the gas' has brought the mineral industry close to the danger line.

"Since 1890 the value of the annual product of the mines of this country has increased better than eightfold—from 650 millions to 5 1-2 billions of dollars, while the population has about doubled. The four largest branches of the mineral industry, which supply iron, copper, bituminous coal and petroleum—the bone and sinew and the energy of all other American industries—have increased their annual output nearly tenfold as to value and sixfold as to quantity."

ILLINOIS CENTRAL DISCONTINUES ITS 'WHISKY' SPECIAL

Paducah, Ky., July 24.—(AP)—Another link with Kentucky's before-prohibition days has parted.

"Whisky Dick", the Illinois Central train that got its name from the big cargoes of Bourbon whisky it formerly carried, has been discontinued. Falling off of business because of increase in automobile travel was given as the reason.

The train operated between Fulton and Paducah.

VATICAN'S ORGAN PRAISES KELLOGG WORLD PEACE PLAN

Rome, July 24.—(AP)—Signing of the Kellogg anti-war pact will consolidate all movements for world peace in the opinion of Osservatore Romano, official organ of the vatican.

The journal says the treaty will "sanction theoretically a situation which responds to historical necessity."

An announcement of interest to everyone in the Southeast!

FACTORY COST

ONE of Florida's finest stores, due to extremely poor business conditions, found it necessary to close out its furniture department.

This entire stock was offered to us at exactly one-half of the actual factory cost.

We immediately examined the merchandise, found that it measured up to the Philibosian standard of quality, and arranged for its purchase.

Within the next few days we will offer these furnishings with our usual small margin of profit, which means a price to you much lower than the original factory cost.

The purchase consists of complete living room furniture, including occasional pieces of all types, very beautiful lamps and oil paintings. Also 163 dining room and bedroom suites. Every one different.

The Taming of Elizabeth

By WINIFRED BOGGS

SYNOPSIS.

The Young Elizabeth is the adored daughter of Tim and Elizabeth Darcy. When she is four years old she runs away from home to avoid punishment for getting into mischief. She is brought home promptly by a neighbor, Miss Smiley.

At 12 Elizabeth runs away again, this time from school and to the home of her Aunt Dolly in London. Dolly, who is almost as flighty as the young Elizabeth, sympathizes with her niece, much to the irritation of her stepson, Stephen Whitby.

After the death of her parents, Elizabeth goes to live with her aunt. During the war they keep themselves busy and also amused by performing in amateur theatricals for the benefit of wounded soldiers. Stephen, home on leave, is asked by his stepmother to bring Mark Lennox, a young playwright, to one of their performances.

Shortly after the end of the war Mrs. Whitby dies suddenly and Elizabeth learns to her consternation that her aunt had frittered away the money left her by her husband, and had also disposed of some of Stephen's inheritance as well. Afraid to face Stephen after this revelation Elizabeth decides to go to Mark Lennox and ask him to get her a job on the stage. Stephen finds her with Mark and although his business has failed he offers to help her. She refuses his help and advice and takes a part in Mark's new play. On the opening night she gets stage fright and runs off, leaving an understudy to take over the part. Miss Smiley, who happens to be in London visiting her cousin, Mrs. White, sees Elizabeth on the street and takes here to Mrs. White's home. The latter offers her a job as cook. She fails in this role, too, but stays on with Mrs. White as a guest, until another job turns up. After six weeks Elizabeth is forced to give this up, too, and answers an advertisement signed by Julian Vesington.

INSTALLMENT XXI.
ELIZABETH BECOMES OBSTINATE.

Julian Vesington's kind heart or his conscience or his weak foolishness, demanded of himself at the sight of Elizabeth:

"Is this singing bird to be thrust into a cage and hung in a dark room?" He shivered a little; only once had he stayed with his aunt, and then her cages filled with these wild desolate heart-breaking little creatures, had made of his visit a torment, and he had sworn never to go again. No, he would not doom Elizabeth and her gay youth to such a fate. The old woman would fasten on to such vitality and never let it go till it was drained dry. He must question the child and say that so and so being the case he very much regretted but she was unsuitable.

However, it was the child who questioned him—and what a spate of questions.

Didn't he love living in these old inn rooms? Did he make his briefs up here or whatever it was called? She had met several barristers and simply died to ask questions but they had always seemed so stern. Did they see their murderers alone? It must be frightfully thrilling being a barrister? And sometimes rather funny."

"Why funny?" He had not found it so, or even very thrilling.

"Well, getting innocent men hung and murderers off and waking up in the night with the horrors thinking you see their ghosts!"

He gazed at her with real horror. "But I don't; none of us do."

"But you must do it sometimes," persisted Elizabeth, who was not to be deprived of her thrill, "because accidents happen and one reads about it in the papers when it's too late because they're all dead and that. I should let everybody off just in case. Then, anyway, you wouldn't get the horrors."

"No, others would have that with malefactors let loose on them," he returned dryly. Elizabeth was obviously a fool, but she was a young and pretty one, therefore he forgave her.

He did not realize the fool had her shrewd moments, and she had read him correctly. "Awfully kind, but weak; probably drinks too much. He's easy to manage and I shall make him give me that jolly job."

She settled herself more comfortably in her chair. "What's a brief like?" she demanded, "I should love to see one."

He could have echoed her wish, instead he said they were dull enough and for the moment not available.

"Then can I see your wig?" she asked.

This was easy enough and Elizabeth studied the wig with real interest, even took off her hat and slipped it on her own dark sleek head. "O, isn't it frightfully becoming!" she exclaimed enraptured, "I wish I could be a barrister and wear it all the time. Men are lucky!" Then she made him try it on and remarked, "It goes well with blue eyes," and Julian became as wax in her own hands, for his blue eyes were his one good feature. Also he was relieved, for he could not feel she was serious about the engagement; she seemed to have forgotten all about it.

Elizabeth, however, had not for one moment forgotten her purpose, and as she gave him back the wig, she assumed an elderly and businesslike air. "I must not take up your time any longer," she said, "I came about this appointment. I am quite sure it will suit me. When can I go? I love the country and I love dear old ladies, too, and should love to be a bright gay companion." She imagined a kindly snow-haired old lady in a roomy country house which was usually full of gay parties and visitors; the old lady would spoil her and there would be a nephew or something, dashing, rich, young handsome. And she was going to see she got the post.

"Aunt Angela isn't a dear old lady," said Mrs. Vesington's great-nephew. "Far from it, I assure you."

"You mean . . . she wants getting accustomed to?"

"A mild way of putting it!"

"Well, I had an old gentleman," said Elizabeth, "and I got accustomed to it—I mean having a book thrown at me every fortnight and being told to go to hell."

"Why every fortnight?" stammered Julian Vesington.

"I don't know, only it came over him quite punctually—you would almost have set the clock by him." And she laughed.

"But you left because of it?"

Elizabeth went red. "Not because of that."

Julian saw an opportunity and pounced upon it. "I'm afraid I must ask why you did leave. My aunt has the strongest objections to some things." Easy now to say she was not suitable.

"Well, if you must know," and Elizabeth blushed again, "a horrid son came home and tried to kiss me. (Why own he had succeeded?) And can you believe it, he had a wife and five children!"

"One must have some excuse," said Julian absently.

"But they were all simply swarming with adenoids and polypuses."

"I see!" and Julian burst out laughing. "You mean polypi don't you?"

"No," said Elizabeth firmly, "it doesn't sound half nasty and plentiful enough—polypuses."

"Anyway after this regrettable instance you left?"

"I should have," owned Elizabeth ruefully, "but the wife came in and got that part in first. I used to read to the old gentleman, papers and novels, and the advertisement said 'reading aloud.' Then I am quite ready to make myself 'generally useful'." She wondered what it meant. "I can do lots of things—really." She hoped he would not ask her to state them. "I have been an actress and a cook, and knocked about abroad a lot, and it was detective novels I read to the go-to-hell old gentleman. So you see I am frightfully suitable, aren't I? And always merry and bright which the advertisement seemed to want and quite youngish, 18, and very strong and healthy. I have splendid references from two awfully respectable ladies in Peckham, which I brought with me in case. I could start at once. You might read the references for yourself."

Feeling rather helpless, Julian ran his eye over the "references." He could find no fault there, and knew Elizabeth was just what his aunt was seeking, but rather desperately he did all he could to dissuade her.

"You are too young, Miss Darcy, too inexperienced." What a lie when his aunt sought youth to batten upon it and inexperience to cheat it!

"O, but I've made up my mind to have the old lady," announced Elizabeth looking extremely like an obstinate baby who would have its one toy, even if dangerous, and be put off with no other. "You see I can't stay where I am any longer because I have no more money to pay my expenses and won't stay on any other consideration. If you won't let me go to Mrs. Vesington I shall have to go straight to the workhouse," she added.

"You must have friends, relations—" He looked at the carefree young creature, at her beautiful clothes, and began to wonder if she was telling the truth; if she was even all she represented herself to be. He spent much of his time in the courts, and he had seen young women the picture of innocence come out very black indeed! If only that could be so he would send her to his precious aunt without a qualm. Let them fight it out between them, the bad old woman and the bad young woman and see who would win. When Greek meets Greek . . . The old woman could not harm a young one of that nature, nor could the young one harm such as Mrs. Vesington. The rapacious egoist is encased in too thick armor for darts to penetrate.

"If I knew you to be utterly selfish, hard as nails, well——"

"O, I am," said Elizabeth eagerly. "You should just ask Stephen. He says I'm all self and no soul."

"Who is Stephen?"

Crackers and Barons Battle To 1-1 Tie in Second Game

Game Called In 7th Frame; Play 2 Today

Dudley and Horan Hurl Tight Ball; Crackers Pass Up Scoring Chance.

Birmingham, Ala., July 24.—Johnny Horan and Clise Dudley, pitching respectively for the Barons and Crackers went seven innings to a draw at Rickwood Tuesday afternoon, the second number of the series being called on account of darkness with the score tied at 1-all.

Rain interrupted play for 15 or 20 minutes shortly after the start and the low brooding clouds that hovered over the field all afternoon made play virtually impossible shortly before Umpire Eddie McLaughlin called things off. As a result of the drawn verdict, a double-header is on tap for Wednesday, starting at 2 o'clock. It will mean two twin bills in a row for the Barons, a double-header having been arranged for Thursday with Nashville in order to get in the only local postponed ga · of the first half.

Today's Selections.

Dobbs has Eddie Wells and Ralph Judd available for service Wednesday, with several others due to be ready for a turn against Nashville on Thursday. Atlanta's pitching choices are likely to be Art Olsen and George Dumont, with Rube Robinson as a possibility. Olsen is figured a sure starter for the first number, with Wells quite as sure to be his opponent.

Until Jimmy Johnston slapped a line drive into the farthest possible point of right field for a home run at the start of the sixth it looked as if Horan were going to be a victim of a lot of inability to hit the ball in the pinches. Although he had held Atlanta to four hits and one run, the latter scored through the medium of a hit, an error and two wild pitches in a row. Johnny was in a fair way to lose his game, it appeared as the Barons repeatedly failed to cash in on opportunities for scoring. But Jimmy came up and upset the best laid plans of your Uncle Dudley, who was enjoying entirely too much prosperity, largely through the brilliant support by his mates and inefficient base running by the Barons.

When Jimmy stood by and saw a count of two strokes and no balls attained against him the situation seemed quite as hopeless as ever. Then, as Dudley tried to slip a fast one by him in the darkness for the strike-out count, good old Jimmy came through with that life saving line drive that was an indubitable home run from the moment it left his bat until he crossed the home plate while the ball was being relayed in vain to Brock. By the irony of fate, Johnston later all but threw the game away for his side after making a brilliant catch at the most crucial moment of the afternoon from a home side standpoint.

Cullop Starts It Off.

Nick Cullop had singled to start the seventh and when Rhiel's attempted sacrifice down first base went unfielded for a hit two were on with none out. West's sacrifice moved both runners up a peg. With the view of having an easy double play possible or a force out at the plate Jones was purposely passed, filling the bases. Johnny Brock was up. He cut loose a sizzling liner toward third base. Johnston stepped to his left and snared the blow that was labeled extra bases. All hands had started with the drive and Johnston off balance toward second naturally threw there to double Rheil instead of trying to turn and beat Cullop back to third. A perfect throw would have nabbed Rhiel, but Jimmy threw low and the ball slipped through and into right field. Bigelow was on it like a flash and whipped it to home, preventing any attempt to score by Cullop, who had raced back to third to tag up after realizing what had happened.

As a sort of anti-climax, Shirley then stabbed Dudley's steaming roller and beat him to the bag for the third out. It was a hair-raising finish and a narrow escape for the Baron boxman.

Atlanta Scores.

Horan was touched for a single by Rhiel in the second inning to pave the way for Atlanta's marker. Rosenfeld fumbled the ball and Rhiel made second as well as first. One was out at the time and when West flied to Rosenfeld the threat began to lose its force, or so it seemed. But a wild pitch in dealing out a fourth ball to Jones enabled Rhiel to take third as the batter walked. And a second wild pitch to Brock, who later fanned, permitted the runner to score.

Save for those two innings the second and the seventh, Horan had the visitors on his hip, as they say. He retired the side in short order in four innings, while Dudley, who singled to open the sixth, got to second on a sacrifice but lingered there while Gilbert pop-fouled to Shirley and Poole tapped a weak one to the box.

Quite in contrast was the pitching of Dudley, who was in trouble in every inning except the seventh. The home team went out, one, two, three, in that last stanza, but they were in a position to do some offensive damage in every other round.

Indians Buy Dorman.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 24.—(AP)—Outfielder Charley Dorman has been purchased by the Cleveland Americans from the Tyler club in the West Texas league, according to word from Bill Slapnicka, scout for the Indians, to General Manager Billy Evans here. Dorman has knocked out 36 home runs this season and will report here at once.

TOM MADE FOR GENE

BY JOHNNY DUNDEE,
Undefeated World's Featherweight Champion and Former Junior Lightweight Champion.
Written Exclusively for Central Press and The Constitution.

DUNDEE

SPECULATOR, N. Y., July 24.—Style is everything in boxing.

I know there is the human element to be considered. I know how a freak punch, a wild shot in the dark, a blind staggering beaten man can beat a superior fighting machine—as witness the memorable battle between George La Blanche and the original Jack Dempsey—but day in and day out style will tell.

Gene Tunney has a certain style of boxing. So has Tom Heeney. But Heeney's style is made to order for Tunney and I think Heeney will lose.

The comparison is similar to the gear-shift on our automobile. Heeney's rushing, aggressive, head-down, bore-in method of fighting meshes like a gear with Tunney's stand-off, shifting, couhter-punching repulse.

I have spent days up here covering the champion's camp for the Central Press. I have "caught" both fighter's in action. Tunney is shiftier on his feet. He works his left and right seconds faster. He is quicker crossing his right. He is jabbing harder now than he ever has.

Most of the writers up here neglected to report the fact that Tunney is hooking. Tunney seldom hooked before. He relied on straight punching. Now he hooks his left to the chin as well as jabs it. He hooks his right to the belly and that does much more damage. A right hook to the stomach jams everything up against the heart.

Tunney knows more about the scientific execution of a punch. He shoots them with the elbows down and he punches to hurt. Last year he danced in and out and seemed content to land. Now he tries to land and land HARD.

You are going to see a different fighting machine in the ring July 26. He works better in close than he did last year. He has learned plenty in his two fights with Dempsey. He appears to like his work better.

Speed and punch! That's the Tunney ticket now. He knows a knockerout is a better champion if he is also a speedy champion. Tunney is the fastest heavyweight champion in history. He is faster than Jim Corbett and, remember, he is carrying around with him 20 more pounds than Corbett had to tote.

Tunney is in marvelous physical condition. Nobody can tell him anything. He won't listen to anybody and why should he? I never listened to anybody tell me how to train and I think my long record in the ring bears out the fact that I trained correctly. Each man is an individual and reacts differently. Tunney is in tip-top shape. He is criticised for drinking milk after a workout. He is criticised for training at such a high rare altitude and fighting in a low altitude.

Gene Tunney knows what is best for Gene Tunney. The fact he is champion proves it.

In my next story I will diagnose Tunney as he appears to a boxer.

LaCoste Will Not Play In Forest Hills Meet

French Star's Action Seen As Shot Back at Officials for Action in Tilden's Case.

Auteuil, France, July 24.—(AP)—The second tennis sensation within a week broke out today when Rene Lacoste, champion of the United States and England, announced that he would not defend his American title at Forest Hills this September.

Officially Lacoste's surprising announcement was in no way connected with Bill Tilden's disbarment from the Davis cup challenge round but the general interpretation placed upon it here is that this was the French reply to the United States Lawn Tennis association.

Lacoste's decision was made known at the Roland Garros stadium here where he met and defeated his countryman, Jean Borotra, in speedy fashion, 6-2, 6-1, for the championship of Paris. He simply said he had decided not to accompany the other members of the French team when they leave next month to play in the American tennis fixtures, including the national title tourney. Rene insisted he had made up his mind some time ago and that his determination had nothing to do with the dropping of Tilden.

By defaulting Lacoste will lose a chance to win the American singles championships outright this year as he has gained two legs on it by taking the title in 1926 and 1927. His final round duel with Tilden last year drew a capacity crowd and a big gate. Both French and American tennis lovers had hoped this struggle might be repeated at Forest Hills this year.

Several thousand spectators who watched the tennis here today saw Lacoste at his best, playing as nearly perfect tennis as the world has seen. Borotra is a great net player but his attempts to storm the barrier today in the teeth of Lacoste's marverlously placed drives met dismal failure.

Henri Cochet, Lacoste's Davis cup singles running mate, also flashed some impressive tennis, coming from behind to defeat Vincent Richards, former member of the American Davis cup team, by scores of 5-7, 6-2, 6-0. Cochet was not in the Paris title tournament, as his home is in Lyons.

George Lott, John Hennessey, Frank Hunter and Wilbur Coen, the Americans who must carry their country's challenge to the French now that Tilden is definitely out, enjoyed a complete rest from play today.

Meanwhile the French busied themselves with efforts to select a doubles team. Indications now are that the pair will be Cochet and Borotra or Lacoste and Brugnon, with Cochet and Lacoste of course the singles standard bearers.

GIANTS DOWN PIRATES.

New York, July 24.—John McGraw shook up the Giants batting order with such effect that the New York team outpointed the Pirates, 6 to 3, here today as the western clubs began their second invasion of the Polo grounds. Larry Benton pitched his sixteenth victory against four defeats, and turned in his nineteenth complete game in twenty-one starts. He has worked altogether in twenty-three contests totaling 177 innings, and has been removed from the box only three times.

Benton was aided by a five-run outburst against Joe Dawson in the sixth when Melvin Ott scored three runs with his eleventh homer and Andy Cohen drove in two more with a double. Dawson lasted throughout the game.

CARDS INCREASE LEAD.

Brooklyn, July 24.—The Cardinals increased their lead for first place to four and one-half games by defeating Brooklyn, 2 to 1, here today, while the runner-up Cubs were idle. Jess Petty pitched a strong game against Willie Sherdel, but was unable to withstand Jim Bottomley's 21st home run and Chick Hafey's 15th, in the second and the seventh innings, respectively. Bottomley's drive put him within one homer of Hack Wilson, National league leader.

Olympic Skipper Celebrates Return To Native Heath

Amsterdam, July 24.—(AP)—Commander Theodore Van Beek, doughty young skipper of the liner President Roosevelt, home of the American Olympians, is getting as big a thrill out of the visit to Amsterdam as anybody aboard the vessel.

Thirty-five years ago, Van Beek, then a tow-headed little boy, left Amsterdam as a cabin boy on a Dutch ship. He sailed the seven seas, roamed continents, became an American citizen and reserve commander of the American navy.

His thoughts often went back to the land of his fathers. He never had an opportunity to return until last Friday morning when he sailed his big liner right up into the heart of his native city with the American Olympic team under his care.

It was a proud captain who, after the Olympians had been safely established, laid aside his gold braid for civilian clothes and revived youthful memories.

Field Stars Shine; Track Men Are Idle

Amsterdam Track Still Not Fit For Use; Sprint Stars Are Held Up For Another Day.

BY ALAN J. GOULD,
Associated Press Sports Editor.

Amsterdam, July 24.—(AP)—Additional sensational performances of stars in the field events, including the discus champion, Bud Houser, coupled with a decision to take drastic steps to enable the track men to get a real workout featured today's developments among the American Olympic contingent.

Houser, the Los Angeles dentist, signalized his first work out since selection as flag bearer of the American brigade in next Saturday's official opening by hurling the discus 160 feet two inches. This surpasses Houser's own American record by more than 2 feet, and is also more than 3 feet beyond the official world mark held by Glenn Hartranfk.

Only the German, Hans Hoffmeister, has shown anything to compare with Houser's discus throwing this year, and a spectacular German-American Olympic battle is in prospect. Houser's two other throws this afternoon registered 156 feet and 158 feet.

Hammer Hopes High.

American hammer throwing hopes were raised by the performances of Edmund Black, Maine collegian, who eclipsed anything he has ever shown previously by whirling the ball 174 feet in practice and also putting three other throws beyond 170 feet. Coach Johnny Magee had high praise for Black's remarkable improvement.

An epidemic of sore muscles plus grumbling over practice conditions on the soft spongy municipal track near the Olympic stadium sent American officials this afternoon scurrying for a better location.

In contrast with the fine development of the field aces, the coaches are frankly alarmed that the runners may suffer injury from the uncertain footing or be totally off condition as a result of the unsatisfactoriness of the last two days' drill.

Rain this morning did not help situations with the result that it was virtually decided to take the bulk of the squad either to Haarlem or to The Hague tomorrow, where conditions are reported to be improved.

Workmen on Strike.

Meanwhile the question of whether the Olympic stadium track actually would be completed in time to start competition Sunday was accentuated by a 12-hour strike of the workmen, complaining of too long shifts and too little pay. The night shift walked out late last night after serving an ultimatum. Others supported their demands. The differences finally were settled and the gang returned to work laying the cinder path oval before noon.

Charley Paddock, Charley Borah, Frank Wykoff and Jackson Scholz, as well as other American sprinters, were disgruntled at their inability to test the official course after promises that they would be permitted to do so today again went unfulfilled.

The sprinters did not attempt time tests, confining their work to practice starts in which the Cuban, Pope Barrientos, again joined.

Hahn Works Alone.

Lloyd Hahn, working alone as usual, covered three-quarters of a mile in three minutes, 14 seconds, later chatting with one of his leading rivals, Emil Edwards, the American inter-collegiate champion from New York university, who is now running in Canada's colors.

The cosmopolitan character of the track and field assembly, already well varied, is to be increased tomorrow with the expected arrival of the main bodies of the Finn and British squads and also the last of the German stars.

Advance reports from Finnish sources are to the effect that the great Paavo Nurmi will not run in the 1,500-meters in defense of his title because "there are now two faster men available,' while Albin Stenroos, 1924 marathon champion, also is not to defend his title in the long distance classic, having failed to make the team.

Ga.-Ala. League

ANOTHER "IRON MAN."

Gadsden, Ala., July 24.—Davis was the hero in a twin shutout here Tuesday afternoon when the league leading Cedartown moguls added two more victories to their string by beating Gadsden, 7-0 and 4-0.

The Cedartown pitcher allowed but two hits in the first game and felt so well as a result that he went back in and gave up only three safeties in the seven inning nightcap.

Brilliant fielding behind him kept Davis out of any danger. Treadaway with two out of five in the first game and three safeties in three trips to the place in the second tilt was the hitting star of the day.

One's Stance Is Most Important

BY SOL METZGER.

In this whole matter of slicing and its causes one must stick closely to fundamentals if he wishes to eliminate this most costly of all faults from his game of golf.

Thus, a player like Bob MacDonald will go into the matter of where you stand relative to the ball with some pains, for one's position here can and does determine the result he is to get.

For example, let us assume that you play the ball forward off your left heel. Unless one swings through in a most unorthdoz manner he is bound to slice when taking such a stance. It is not hard to show why.

Merely address a ball so placed and slowly swing your club-head through to meet it. You will note that the club-head is farthest from you before coming to the ball, and that it comes in toward you when it meets the ball. Result—a wide slice. Slow swinging of the club will prove this to any doubting golfer.

Tomorrow—another fault in teeing the ball.

Why continue to slice when the fault can be absolutely cured by following a few simple instructions? Write Sol Metzger, care of this paper, and request his illustrated leaflet on "Slicing." In writing inclose stamped, addressed envelope.

COACHING!—MAYBE.

Boston, July 24.—Miller Huggins went to the coaching lines here today for the second time this season and only the third time in two years. The Yankees were just coming to bat for the ninth inning, and were trailing the Red Sox by 3 to 1. The New Yorkers thereupon made four runs and nosed out the home entry by 5 to 3 to even the short series at one victory for each team. The trick was turned on Ruth's third single, Gehrig's double, Meusel's single, Lazzeri's sacrifice fly, a steal of third by Meusel, a perfect squeeze play bunt by Dugan, which went as a single, Bengough's single and Comb's double.

Russell was removed by Ruffing at the height of the Yankee rally, but not soon enough to escape charge for the defeat. Pennock gave the Red Sox three runs in the first and stood to lose until the Yankees pulled out ahead in the ninth. Campbell, Moore and Hoyt followed him, with credit for the victory going to Moore.

Gerber fielded sensationally, but missed the ball on an attempted squeeze in the eighth with three on and none out causing Todt's death in a run-down and then hit into a double play. Myer got three hits and stole three bases. Ruth's limit was three singles.

Barcroft Will Give Fight Radio Party

Paul Barcroft, manager of the Florsheim Shoe store at 77-A Peachtree street, announced Tuesday that he will give another of his popular radio parties for friends of the concern at the store Thursday night, when returns of the Tunney-Heeney fight will be received.

The doors of the store will open at 7 o'clock Thursday night and the public is invited to be on hand. No sales will be made, Manager Barcroft said. The radio will be furnished by Lyon and King.

KEITH'S GEORGIA COOL-NOT COLD
TUNNEY-HEENEY RADIO Fight Returns THURSDAY NIGHT

The SPORTLIGHT by Grantland Rice

THE CHANGED POINT OF VIEW.

Seven years ago a young boxer by the name of Gene Tunney was on the same card that presented the Dempsey-Carpenter pageant.

Even that far back Gene Tunney had his eye fixed on the heavyweight goal where Jack Dempsey was the big barrier. For five years Tunney dreamed and thought of little except preparing himself to meet and beat Dempsey. It was one of those inward urges, one of those blazing flames that become one of the fixed habits of life.

Even in playing golf Tunney would shadow box down the fairway, but he was not tossing rights and lefts to the empty air. Always before him was Dempsey's face or body and these were the phantom targets at which Tunney was throwing his two fists.

It was "Beat Dempsey—beat Dempsey—beat Dempsey!" before fame, fortune and the top of the fistic world could be reached.

This matter of getting ready to meet and beat Dempsey became an obsession with the ex-marine and it absorbed most of his existence year after year. In 1926 the dream came true. In the demand for a return battle it was just as important to defend the title against Dempsey's attack as it was to win the crown. So the "Dempsey urge" was extended another year. Tunney, at Chicago, came to the end of his long march which led to the Dempsey stronghold. The big urge ended when Dempsey, badly battered, was hanging on in the tenth round at Soldier field.

Tunney must have known he could never again build up that same burning desire to win. He had given too much of himself to the earlier flame to ever start another. Tom Heeney was just another fight, something entirely different from the Dempsey affair, which called upon everything Tunney had to offer. Tunney, naturally, has been keen to beat Heeney and keep his title or retire unbeaten. But there has been nothing personal in his feeling here, where before it was the set ambition of years.

New Mental Attitude.

This means that while Tunney, physically, may be just as good as he ever was, he will now step back into action with a different mental attitude. He can never again be as keen to win as he was at Philadelphia and Chicago. He will give all he has against Heeney, but from the psychological side he can never have as much as he had against Dempsey.

This doesn't mean that Heeney ought to win. Psychology isn't everything. Tunney is still the better boxer, the faster workman, the harder puncher. He is still just as game and just as smart in the ring. He can still take it and come back with something of his own to shoot. But the big spark will never flame up as brightly again and if Heeney wins you will have one of the main reasons.

Mental attitude is a big part of competition. If you don't think so, ask any good football coach. In game after game better teams have been beaten through the superior mental attitude of the other side. Mental attitude has nothing to do with brains or intelligence. It is a matter of being keyed up. Every football coach knows that if his team expects to win rather easily, if his team isn't keyed up, it may walk into an unpleasant shock at any moment.

Several years ago Bobby Jones and Fred Wright were labeled the two boy wonders of golf. The rivalry was intense. They met at the Engineers in the championship of 1920. Jones gave everything he had to win that match—and he won it. The next day, against Francis Ouimet, the big flame had burned him out and the young Georgian was a tired and listless player, an easy victim. His mental attitude against Wright and Ouimet was entirely different. Tunney's mental attitude against Dempsey and Heeney have been entirely different. This next battle is for Tunney largely a personal affair. It is just a fight he wants to win, but it isn't a fight that has kept him wrought up to any unusual pitch. It hasn't absorbed the major portion of his system. Dempsey was one thing—Heeney was another—taken as certain goals to be gained.

The Heeney Attitude.

If Tom Heeney had known the same blazing flash against Tunney that Tunney held against Dempsey, the challenger would have a far better chance than many have conceded him.

In the way of mental attitudes, Heeney and Tunney are about alike for this next fight. The sturdy Anzac isn't the type that gets keyed up. A fight for him, championhip or otherwise, is just a fight. He has been walking on velvet for a year. If he wins—great. If he loses—well, he is a small fortune ahead of any goal he had dreamed about a year ago.

Heeney will, of course, give all he has toward winning this contest. He has put full reliance upon a tough, strong body and a stout heart. These are not to be taken lightly. But Heeney, on the mental side, isn't coming to this contest as Tunney came into the ring with Dempsey. He hasn't been inwardly on fire. There have been few challengers more placid about any heavyweight championship.

A good, stiff punch in the nose has been known to change mental attitudes before—and it can happen again.

It isn't often that one sees as much nerve control as Tunney and Heeney carry. Tunney has made a study of handling his nervous system through eliminating worry. Heeney has never been inclined to let anything worry him to any extent. He has taken the breaks of life as they happen to come, and, rough or light, has kept on marching. With all his courage and stamina and aggressiveness, a little more of the inward flame wouldn't have hurt him a bit.

Last September Dempsey told a few of his friends the day of the fight that he believed he could catch Tunney by the seventh round and knock him out. Everyone knows how close he came to calling the turn. Dempsey had more than his share of flame that night. He was on fire within.

The mental attitudes of Tunney and Heeney are about on par. Heeney's only chance to win depends upon the advantage he has drawn from nine fights in 12 months against an opponent who has known only two fights in 30 months. If this advantage does not give him a chance, then Heeney can't be rated within 30 or 40 per cent of Tunney's all-round efficiency.

Lew Adler Says:
All straw hats are reduced one-third.
A typographical error in our advertisement yesterday morning made us say that we were selling straw hats at one-third price. We should have said, of course, that they were reduced 33 1-3 per cent and they are very great bargains at that.

Gooch Is Hitless First Time in 40 Games

Little Rock, July 24.—(AP)—Charlie Gooch, third baseman of the Little Rock Travelers, went hitless today in the game against Mobile for the first time in 40 games, beginning June 16, and for the second time since the beginning of the season.

Gooch has registered a base hit in every game he has played with the Travelers with two exceptions, placing him among the leading hitters in the Southern association.

Obtain Pays Off At $71 for $2

New York, July 24.—(AP)—Breckinridge Long's Tinita won the Tarrytown stakes, $2,000 added, for 3-year-olds, feature at the Empire City track today, and made amends for some of her poor showings in recent races.

Recent rains had put the track in bad shape and Tinita almost lost out when she stepped into a hole and stumbled, 20 yards from the finish. She recovered quickly, however, and managed to hold on to her one-length lead over Noise, the early pacemaker. Grier of Spain was third. The time for the mile and 70 yards was 1:47 3-5. Tinita was at odds of 4 to 5.

Lincoln Fields' feature, a six-furlong gallop for 3-year-olds and up, went to the odds-on favorite, Illegitimate, ridden by E. Fewell. Stitches held second place from start to finish, trailing Illegitimate by two lengths at the end. Gold Mint was third, three lengths back of Stitches. The time was 1:12 3-5. Illegitimate paid $3.66 to win in the mutuels.

At Connaught Park, Obtain ran off with the third race and paid his backers well—$71.10 for $2 to win.

Farrell Bags Three Birdies In Practice

Shoots 74 on Eve of Western Open Tourney; Strong Field Entered.

BY B. G. WYRICK,
Associated Press Golf Writer.

North Shore Golf Club, Chicago, July 24.—(AP)—Farrell and Jones played golf together again today, but it was not the famous pair, who contested in the national open at Olympic fields.

It was Johnny Farrell, the open champion, but his opponent was a left-handed golfer, Isham Jones, noted jazz band director, and the occasion was a practice round over the North Shore Golf club 6,800-yard course in final preparation for the western open championship, which starts tomorrow.

Farrell did not play quite so well as he did in his historic encounter with Bobby Jones, but his 37-37—74 was only one above par on each nine. He would have been well under par, except for misjudgment on a links he had never before seen.

Bags Three Birdies.

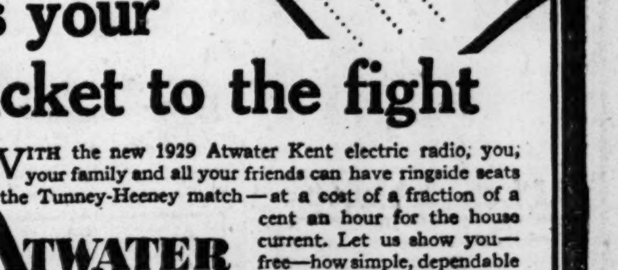

The national champion bagged three birdies, including a duece on the 147-yard sixteenth, where he pitched almost into the cup as he did on the 31st hole at the Olympic fields to break Bobby Jones' heart as the Atlantan expressed it. Farrell just missed a half dozen putts no harder physically than the famous eight-footer he sank to clinch the national title on the 36th hole of his play-off with Bobby Jones and much easier mentally. Farrell does not play his first round in the western open until Thursday.

Isham Jones wielded a golf club from the port side as handily and rhymatically as he does a baton for a 42-45—87, despite two fatal encounters with the wood nymphs in the forest portions of the course. Incidentally, Farrell and Jones won their Nassau foresome match from H. H. Harrison, champion of the North Shore club, and C. F. Murray, of Evanston.

It fell to Morris White, of Hammond, Ind., to lead the scoring in the final day of practice with a 34-36—70, the only under par for the day. He made a wizard of his putter.

Horton Smith, of Joplin, Mo., scored a par 72, but this total was equalled by an amateur, John Lehman, of Purdue, western conference champion. Lehman failed to qualify for the national open with the best score in the whole country only because he had to return to school for commencement with darkness stopping his second round in that event. Today he shot an even par on each nine and bagged an eagle three on the 501-yard 15th hole, where he sank a 20-yard pitch after two smashing wood blows straight down the alley.

Tunney, Heeney Ready for Opening Gong Thursday Night

Champ Is Confident As He Ends Training

Gene Breezes Through Final Session in Best of Spirits; Jars Spar-Mates in Workout.

Speculator, N. Y., July 24.—(AP)—Radiating confidence and good nature, Gene Tunney today wound up his own training course for the defense of his title against Tom Heeney Thursday night by going through a hard workout.

After the session Jimmy Bronson, the champion's chief second, breathed a sigh of relief for Tunney had escaped without a mark. This is the first time that Gene has ever finished training for a major bout without suffering some annoying injury, generally in the last workout.

Two years ago when preparing to wrest the title away from Jack Dempsey, Tunney received a split lip in the last workout. At Lake Villa last year Jackie Williams, a sparring partner, poked his thumb in Tunney's right eye, causing frightful pain, just a few hours before the second Dempsey bout.

In Perfect Shape.

Outside of two rope burns on his shoulders, Tunney is in perfect physical shape. Mentally he is the peak. So far he has not shown a trace of nervousness or ill temper, traits which most fighters are wont to display on the eve of championship battles.

After Tunney had dressed for his final training ring performance this afternoon he was surrounded by newspaper photographers who subjected him to a full hour of posing. Tunney was agreeable throughout.

When he finally entered the ring, after slugging the light and heavy punching bags for four rounds, he instructed Harold Mays, his favorite sparring partner, to "step on it."

Mays tried to obey instructions during their two-round bout. He started by rushing at Tunney but the champion side-stepped and landed his right.

For a round Tunney permitted Harold to be the aggressor and he made the Bayonne, N. J., boy appear like a clumsy amateur.

Mays, who has assisted Heeney in most of his bouts in this country, was following challenger's style and using all of his tricks, none of which deceived the champion.

Rocks Sparmate.

During the second round Tunney smashed a right hook on May's jaw. The sting came through the 16-ounce training glove with force enough to rock Mays' head. Tunney then held Mays upright until his head cleared and let him off lightly for the rest of the bout.

The champion had just as easy a time when he took on Billy Vidabeck, the other sparring partner, in another two-rounder. Tunney hit him hard and clean without extending himself.

The champion started the day with a long hike, during which he paused several times to limber up his muscles with a bit of shadow boxing or some practice in foot work. Then he breakfasted and returned to his lakeside cabin to read for a couple of hours.

Bronson and Lou Fink, the trainer, were on the job to supervise everything relating to Tunney.

Tunney wanted to have this final workout a private show for the newspapermen, but from noon on hundreds motored into Speculator and rather than disappoint them he ordered the gates opened to the public. Several hundred paid 50 cents a head to watch the workout, the proceeds being turned over to the Catholic church.

Will Taper Off.

From now until Thursday morning Tunney will taper off. He will then board the Sikorsky dual-motored amphibian plane which is expected to arrive here on Lake Pleasant tomorrow afternoon and fly to New York for the weighing in ceremony at Madison Square Garden.

Tunney weighed 190 pounds when he entered the ring this afternoon. Lou Fink expects him to gain slightly when he rests tomorrow so he can enter the Yankee stadium at 191 pounds.

WEISMULLER OFFERS THRILL IN TEST SWIM

BY FRANK H. KING,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Haarlem, Holland, July 24.—(AP)—Featuring Johnny Weissmuller in one of the fastest 100-meter swimming performances ever turned in anywhere, the American Olympic swimming contingent set the water boiling in the Houtvaart pool today in trials for the relay team.

As the fastest swimmer in the country, Weissmuller was conceded a place on the 800-meter relay quartet. Just to show the Olympic authorities their confidence in him was not misplaced, Johnny took to the water after the relay swimmers had tried out and in a doubly clocked practice swim over the 100-meter distance in a 50-meter pool he turned in the time of 57 4-5 seconds.

Because the feat was not achieved in competition, there is no chance that it will stand as a record, but John T. Taylor, manager of the swimming team, said today that when the poor conditions under which the trial was made are considered it appears likely that Johnny will do 56 seconds in the new Olympic pool. This would shatter all records for the distance. Weismuller's winning time at the Paris Olympic in 1924 was 59 seconds, and this is the Olympic record.

The Chicago sheik was not the only American who thrashed through the water of the poorly equipped tank in whirlwind fashion, although his performance just about eclipsed all others.

Other Speedsters.

Nine other crack free style speeders swam against time for the five other places on the relay squad and seven of them beat 2 minutes, 28 seconds, which was the average time of the members of the winning American four in the 800-meter relay at Paris. The best of these was George Kojac, of the New York Boys' club, who covered the distance in 2:19 3-10. The next fastest in order were Austin Clapp, Hollywood, Cal.; Walter Laufer, Lake Shore, A. C., Chicago; David Young, New York A. C.; and Paul Sampson, Alamson, Mich. Weismuller being the sixth man on the squad which will be cut to a team of four in a final test before the Olympic event.

After today's tests the official American entries in the other events were announced as Weissmuller, Kojac and Laufer, 100-meters; Clarence Grabbe, Honolulu; Austin Clapp, Hollywood, Cal., and Ray Ruddy, New York A. C., 400-meters; Grabbe, Clapp and Ruddy, 1,500-meters; Kojac, Laufer and Paul Wyatt, Uniontown, Pa., 100-meters backstroke; Kojac, Wyatt and Laufer, 200-meters backstroke; Tommy Blankenburg, Oakland, Cal., 200-meters breast stroke.

The women swimmers also had a good practice before hurrying off to Paris to see the sights.

HELEN WILLS EASILY WINS 2 MATCHES

Manchester, Mass., July 24.—(AP)—Miss Helen Wills easily defeated her second and their round opponents today before a large gallery during the second day's play in the fourth annual women's invitation tournament at the Essex County Country club. The other seeded players in the women's singles—Miss Edith Cross, San Francisco, Mrs. J. Dallas Corbiere, Hasboro, and Miss Marjorie Morrill, Dedham, also won their way to the quarter finals.

Playing against Miss Louise Iselin, New Rochelle, N. Y., after drawing a bye in the first round, Miss Wills lost only nine points in the 6-0, 6-0 match. She played almost entirely from the base line and scored placements or forced her opponents into errors with monotonous regularity.

In the afternoon Miss Wills encountered stiffer opposition when she played Mrs. William Shedden of Boston, losing two games in the set, although she won the second, 6-0.

Of the other seeded players in the women's singles only Miss Cross was forced to three sets. She dropped the first set of her match with Miss Lee Palfrey, second of the four Palfrey sisters playing in the tournament, but finished strong to win, 3-6, 6-3, 6-0.

In the women's doubles the four seeded teams won their first day matches. The teams are Mrs. L. A. Harper, Berkeley, Calif., and Miss Cross; Mrs. William Endicott, Boston and Mrs. Corbiere; Mrs. George W. Wightman, Longwood and Miss Sarah Palfrey and Miss Ann Townsend, and Miss Molly Thayer, Philadelphia.

THE HOMERS WIN.

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 24.—Home runs, two by Roy Moore and one by Walter Shaner, were enough to beat Nashville in the second game of the series with the Lookouts here today, but the locals added plenty of other hits for a 10-to-2 decision.

Tommy Taylor, for the Vols, also hit a homer.

HAWK-EYE-ING SPORTS

BY DICK HAWKINS

A New Race for Atlanta.

The southeast in general, and Atlanta in particular, has been the scene of every kind of racing known to this age of civilized man except one type. Auto races, horse races, dog races, bicycle races, foot races and even boat races have been seen in Georgia and along its coast, but Saturday and Sunday at Candler field the first air races will be staged.

Plans have been completed for the huge air derby, and no less than ten races are on the program for the two days. They will range from 10 to 24-mile events and will be run from standing and flying starts, and one of them each day will be an obstacle race. This last type of competition calls for landing at the end of each lap with the first landing made under wires, the second over obstacles and so on until the race ends with a "dead stick landing" to a line across the field.

Swanee Taylor, well-known pilot and radio entertainer, is general manager of the derby and a good share of the proceeds will go to the Disabled American Veterans post of Atlanta and to the National Aviators' Relief fund, a new fund which is being established by Mr. Taylor with this meet.

The more one considers the program for the derby the more one is convinced what two very "large" days are in wait this week-end. The races are only a part of the program and the rest of the festivities will feature the finest performers in their respective lines in the United States.

A parachute jumping contest promises much in the matter of thrills. We have labored under the impression for many years that a parachute jumper had to depend very largely upon the caprices of nature in the selection of a landing spot, but we are told by such experts as the famous Bonnie Rowe that the flight of a chute can be so controlled as to make a landing in still weather within a very few yards of a desired point. Bonnie and a half dozen other experts with the big umbrellas will have an opportunity to test their skill in the parachute contest both Saturday and Sunday. They will attempt to land to a point on the field for cash prizes.

Doug Davis, Johnny Kytle, the "mail hero," and several other famous pilots will compete in a stunting contest during the show and Swanee Taylor himself will desert his stand at the loud speaker long enough to take a snip in the air for a few stunts each day.

In the realm of acrobatics the show will have the greatest feminine figure in the business. Mabel Cody will occupy at least half an hour each day and over the city Saturday night with her wing walking, breakaway and other gripping stunts.

It is expected that at least 50 ships will compete in the races and stunting events and many of the visiting pilots as well as the local birdmen will have fast ships in the competition. Doug Davis is now in Wichita, Kas., procuring a racing Travel-Air which he will enter and Johnny Kytle, the mail pilot who crashed into Stone Mountain a short time ago, is "stream lining" his speedy Mailwing for a shot at the money in the whirlwind group.

Judging from the preparations being made, the sport loving public of Atlanta will have an opportunity to aid two worthy charities at very nominal expense, with the assurance of getting a $10 show for one-twentieth of that price.

TUNNEY HAS HIS BEST CHANCE FOR KNOCKOUT AGAINST HEENEY---CARY

BY WHITNER CARY.

If you are a reader of the daily press, you have doubtless seen that Mr. Gene Tunney, proud possessor of the heavyweight boxing crown, is going to give Tom Heeney, one of his Brittanic majesty's loyal subjects a chance to wear that particular head gear. The scene of the attempted coronation will be the Yankee stadium and the date Thursday night.

On the eve of such gigantic epochs in the sport world, everyone, including sport writers, is supposed to get in a highly excited condition. Some go so far as to make predictions.

After wading through the reams and reams of copy that the experts, near-experts and far-off experts have written concerning this impending broil and then having dug up out of memory several glaring cases where the experts, near-experts and far-off experts were something like 100 per cent wrong on many notable occasions, one is inclined to treat the opinions with far less dignity than they probably deserve. On the eve of the impending carnage, most of those who profess to make a study of such things and who have been in close touch with the training activities of both fighters, lean to the opinion that Tunney is taking very little chance of losing his crown against the man from "Down Under." If memory serves me correctly the voices of the experts, near-experts and far-off experts were raised in the same kind of chant concerning Dempsey immediately preceding the memorable affair at the Sesquicentennial when Jack was removed to that section of society reserved for ex-champions.

In the Old Days.

Champions have a way of carrying the weight of the experts votes and generally of carrying the bulk of the money bet. One notable exception to that last statement was in 1910 when Jeffries entered the ring at Reno against Jack Johnson, defending champion, at the long end of the wagering, something like 10 to 6 being offered on the Boiler Maker to bring the championship back to the white race.

But on careful thought and looking at the matter in cold retrospect, it would certainly appear that the experts, near-experts and far-off experts are dead right for once as concerns the outcome of the Thursday night engagement. The Heeney supporters try valiantly to get up some enthusiasm by citing the fact that their favorite has fought nine times within the last 18 months whereas Tunney has fought but 20 rounds during that space of time. This argument, the fact that no one knows exactly how much the champion may have gone back since his last fight wihh Dempsey and the plea that Heeney can absorb a tremendous lot of punishment are about all the arguments that the New Zealander's supporters can produce.

All know that judging from previous performances Tunney has the challenger outclassed as to ring generalship, boxing skill and punching power. Both are said to be in good condition.

On the face of things, it should be one of the most one-sided fights the ring has seen in many years. The only real ray of drama that looms on the otherwise drab horizon is that Tunney, who must have been solely goaded by the taunts that have been cast in his direction concerning his inability to put the slumbering portion to opponents, may decide to make his critics eat their words by tearing in and trying for the K. O. punch.

Good Chance for Kayo.

Personally, I can't see where Tunney has a chance of losing on points and little of being knocked out. His defense, even should he jeapordize it somewhat by boring in and trying for a K. O., is good enough to withstand any knockout drops that may come from the fists of Mr. Heeney. Why then would it not be a good business move on the part of Tunney, the methodical Tunney, the boxer Tunney, to wade in and put some fireworks in the affair. He certainly could not find a softer spot to experiment with any knockout ability that he may possess.

And remember that Tunney possessed enough of this punching ability to nearly put Dempsey out of business at Chicago. With less to fear from a stray blow from Heeney and 15 rounds to go, why could not Tunney get a K. O? Think how his popularity would increase should he add to his boxing skill the reputation of being a killer. And Tunney at the present time is in sad need of some color if he wants to pack future houses.

Yes, from this angle 3 to 1 and even 5 to 1 on Tunney looks like a double-rivetted investment. Getting particularly bold, I go so far as to say Tunney will win by a knock out.

Now in conclusion, let me add for the benefit of those readers who have but recently moved to Atlanta and who were not here during the past fall that this same writer picked Georgia to beat Tech in football. The language he employed prior to that memorable gridiron battle was even more emphatic than the above. What was the result. Oh, Tech won, 12 to 0. But still I am a glutton for punishment.

ARCHIE 1 UP ON 'THE HAIG' IN 36 HOLES

Wayland, Mass., July 24.—(United News.)—Archie Compston, famous English golfer, emerged victor from the first 36 holes of a 72-hole match with Walter Hagen at the Sandy Burr course here today with a narrow margin of one up.

Hagen, after losing the first 18-hole morning round three up, came back brilliantly in the afternoon, finishing the first nine holes with three up on the Englishman. Compston succeeded in knocking only one from Hagen's lead in the final nine holes of the day's play, Hagen finishing with two up for the afternoon round.

The remaining 36 holes of the match are to be played at the Westchester-Biltmore club course at Rye, N. Y., Wednesday, with a $5,000 purse at stake.

Hagen is anxious to avenge the defeat he suffered at Compston's hands three months ago in a 72-hole match at Moor park, London, when the Englishman took the match 18 up and 17 to play.

Challenger Eagerly Awaits Call of Bell

Finishes His Training in Best of Shape and Confident of Winning, Seeks Quiet.

BY CHARLES W. DUNKLEY.

Fairhaven, N. J., July 24—(AP)—Tom Heeney today wound up training for his battle with Gene Tunney, heavyweight champion, next Thursday night, expressing supreme confidence of winning.

"I was never so confident of winning a fight as my championship shot against Tunney," he said. "If I am beaten I have no alibis to offer. I am in marvelous condition. You cannot make that too strong. I have never seen Tunney except to shake hands with him at Tex Rickard's dinner, but I have studied his style in motion pictures. My fights against Jack Delaney and Phil Scott have put me wise against Tunney's way of boxing. I have no plans to disclose right now because I'll make them as the fight progresses. All I want to do is to get the feel of Tunney in the ring. It will not take me long to learn how Tunney plans to fight. Perhaps in the first round I will know all that is to be known. Then I will go after him and I will do my share of fighting. He says he is going to knock me out. Maybe I will stop him. I am going in there to do my best."

Leaves Rest Behind.

After taking his last sock at the punching bag Heeney stole away to remain in privacy until Thursday morning when he packs his bag and starts for New York to weigh in at Madison Square Garden. His only companion tonight and tomorrow will be Hennessey, his trainer.

The challenger plans to spend tomorrow in relaxation. A short walk in early morning, breakfast, a rubdown, and a spin on the Shrewsbury river in a yacht of Chris Schmidt, a wealthy sportsman of Rumson, a near-by village, comprises his program.

Tunney will go to the scene of the battle by airplane but Heeney will go to New York by water, having accepted Schmidt's offer to use the yacht for the trip. The craft will leave Seabright Thursday morning, reaching New York two hours later.

From indications today the New Zealander will use the yacht for the trip. The craft will leave Seabright Thursday morning, reaching New York two hours later.

From indications today the New Zealander will weigh in at about 198 pounds, the weight he figured on reaching before he started training six weeks ago. He weighed 202 pounds before working this afternoon, and 198 afterwards.

Today Heeney indulged in his final workout in the sweltering heat of the old barn, on the Rumson Farm kennel. His workout was an equivalent of six rounds, punching the light bag for two rounds, shadow boxing for two rounds and skipping the rope for two sessions. Heeney dripped a healthy perspiration a minute after he commenced work, indicating to the old-timers that he is in perfect condition.

Heeney Stepping High.

While punching the bag and skipping the rope, he appeared to be extremely light on his feet, stepping around at a rapid pace. Toward the close of his bag punching he pounded the leather savagely with hard rights and lefts.

It is probable that Heeney will enter the ring with his mental, emotional and physical equipment tuned to the keenest edge. He is not worrying. He knows that he is the under dog, but he is determined to upset the prediction that Tunney will lick him.

When Heeney crawls into the ring, he will have the expert handling of Charley Harvey, his American manager; Eddie Harvey, his brother, and Trainer Hennessey. Charley Harvey will be unable to do any of the work except to whisper advice into his ear. His right hand is damaged because of three smashed fingers, but this injury is not going to prevent him from being in the corner.

Bernard Mortimer got into the camp today from London just in time to see his importation go through his last workout. Mortimer, a London sportsman, is a discoverer of Heeney. He was plainly enthused over his protege's condition and is sure the title will go back to England.

FIRST ROUND IN NEWS MEET TO END TODAY

Play continued Tuesday in the first round of the newspaper golf tournament over the West End course and when sundown arrived all first round matches in the first flight, with the exception of the one between A. T. Carson and J. G. Camp, and about half of the encounters in the lower flights had been finished.

Wednesday must see the finish of all first round matches in all flights.

Many handsome prizes will be awarded winners in all flights, including the temporary possession of the handsome Dan Michalove trophy by the winner of the championship flight. This trophy must be won three times by an individual before it is his permanently.

The following results took place Tuesday in the first flight.

Dick Winchell, Georgian, defeated Manuel Manassee, Journal, 7-5.

Johnny Kieffer, Journal, defeated Albert Mullins, Georgian, 4-3.

Garland Porter, Georgian, defeated C. B. Babb, Jr., Journal.

Roy Fuss vs. Pat Hammond.
Augus Perkerson vs. Kieffer.
Porter vs. Larry Caudill.

Ways to keep Fit

By Gene Tunney

WHEN Gene Tunney talks about keeping fit, people sit up and take notice. Keeping in first class condition is his business. He can't afford to leave anything to chance.

"I started taking Nujol internally seven years ago. The first month Nujol brought remarkable changes in my physical condition. Gas pockets no longer formed in my stomach and intestines. My elimination became active and normal. My appetite increased and a desire for intensive training was created. Since that time I have taken Nujol about five nights a week. I have regulated myself to the amount necessary to keep my elimination normal. If I discover that I have taken an excess I stop its use for a couple of days, when I renew my daily practice of taking a swallow from the bottle before retiring.

"I have found during my seven years' experience with 'Nujol' that it is not habit-forming, or in any way unpleasant or harmful."

Tunney is equally enthusiastic about Nujol as an external rub. He has his trainer use it on him regularly.

Nujol contains no medicine or drugs. It is simply a pure natural substance perfected by the Nujol Laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey) that keeps your system functioning normally at all times. It not only keeps an excess of body poisons from forming (we all have them) but aids in their removal.

Nujol will keep you in first-class shape, too. Try it, won't you?

New York, July 24.—(AP)—The cotton market felt the effects of a firmer technical position early today but after selling up to 20.95 on covering, October declined to 20.67 in late trading, or 10 points net lower, and closed at that figure. The general market closed easy at net declines of 10 to 14 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 4 points to an advance of 4 points. There was probably selling on relatively easy cables, but offerings were comparatively small and prices steadied after the call on covering and buying for a reaction. A feeling that the west Texas rains had been discounted on the recent decline, and that there might be rallies in advance of end-month crop reports accounted for a good part of the demand.

July sold up to 20.70 and December to 20.76 during the forenoon or about 15 to 18 points net higher, but buying was held in check by expectations of a favorable weekly report from the weather bureau tomorrow and a fairly favorable view of the weather outlook in the south.

Demand tapered off at the advance and the market weakened later under liquidation of selling by early buyers, probably influenced by failure of reactionary impulses to assert themselves more aggressively.

New Low Late.

Prices made new lows for the day in the late trading, July selling off or about 25 to 30 points from the high level of the morning and 10 to 14 points net lower.

The detailed weather reports showed rather more rain than anticipated in the eastern belt which attracted some bullish comment, but they also showed further rains in Texas and on the whole the weather news evidently made a favorable impression. Business was comparatively quiet during the day, although it became more active on the decline late in the afternoon.

Private cables said liquidation had been absorbed by trade calling and covering in Liverpool and reported occasional cloth sales for India, but stocks of yarns were accumulating.

Port receipts today 4,575 bales. U. S. port stocks 678,135. Exports 3,102, making 7,703,926 so far this season.

LITTLE SUPPORT AT NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, July 24.—(AP)—There was a distinct lack of sustaining support in today's cotton market, due probably to reluctance of traders to enter upon new commitments in advance of tomorrow's doubtful weekly weather and crop summary. An early advance was followed by a reaction which carried October contract down from 20.34 to 20.08. The delivery closed 1 point off from the top. The general market closed easier at a net decline of 7 points.

The opening was easy in sympathy with relatively lower Liverpool cables. First trades showed losses of 4 to 6 points, but early offerings were absorbed on trade buying and covering induced by the belief that the market was in an oversold condition, thus strengthening the technical position. Talk of further spread of boll weevil and fears of too much rain in the belt helped the recovery, which carried December to 20.28, or 20 points over the opening figure and 16 points above the previous close.

Around midseason the demand appeared to be supplied, but prices displayed a lack of support. The subsequent reaction was aided materially by more favorable crop reports received from Oklahoma and Georgia, and a report showing no increase in weevil infestation in Mississippi. October sold down to 20.08 and December 20.02, new lows for the day, and 25 to 26 points under the top.

The close was easier at or near the top, with December at 20.04, or 7 points net down.

Receipts 4,575; for week 9,201; for year 8,479,687; last year 12,862,815. Exports 3,102; for week 22,603; for year 7,848,752; last year 10,874,928. Stocks 682,555; last year 949,299. Stock on shipboard 72,593; last year 34,616. Spot sales 5,874; last year 4,972.

Dry Goods.

New York, July 24.—Cotton goods were quiet today with gray goods prices somewhat easier. Burlaps were quieter and slightly lower in Calcutta. Raw silk was unchanged. Silk crepes were in active demand for fall. Opening prices on staple worsteds being lower than last season, continue to excite comment in the markets. Buying of new spring lines is making fair headway.

Flax.

Duluth, Minn., July 24.—Flax on track, $2.09¾@2.12¼; to arrive, $2.09¾; September, to arrive, $2.11¼; July, $2.09¾; September, $2.10¼.

Steel.

New York, July 24.—Steel unchanged.

Total stock sales, 1,721,600 shares.

BY STANLEY W. PRENOSIL,
Associated Press Financial Editor.

New York, July 24.—(AP)—Efforts to bring about a further recovery in prices in today's stock market met with only partial success. Several of the specialties were marked up to new high records, and a few new leaders brought forward in the industrials, but several of the recent favorites yielded readily to selling pressure, making final quotations decidedly irregular. Trading showed a moderate expansion in volume, but total sales were still well below the 2,000,000 share mark.

Wheat prices, which broke about 5 cents a bushel yesterday, recovered nearly half their loss on better foreign news and less favorable crop reports.

With the approach of the month-end, the credit situation again becomes an absorbing topic of speculative interest. Banks called about $10,000,000 in loans today, but call money continued in rather plentiful supply at the renewal figure of 5 1-2 per cent. Wall street is again hearing predictions in responsible banking quarters of 6 and 7 per cent call money in the near future, and this has had a tendency to restrict trading, particularly on the part of small operators.

General Motors ran into heavy selling on the announcement that John J. Raskob had resigned as chairman of the finance committee in order to give his full time to his duties as chairman of the democratic national committee. The stock sold down to 184 5-8 and then rebounded to 185 7-8, off 1 1-2 net. Montgomery-Ward, which closed with an outburst of strength yesterday at a new high record of 173, dipped to 168 1-2 and then snapped back to 169 7-8. Curtiss, Wright, Radio, Sears-Roebuck, American Smelting, Atlantic Refining, Case Threshing and Columbia Gas were other recent favorites to show net declines of 1 to 3 points. United States Steel common closed fractionally higher at 138 7-8 after having crossed 140.

Revival of activity and strength in American Can, which advanced 4 points to 88 5-8, was based on unconfirmed reports of fresh accumulation of that issue by First National Bank interests. Peak prices for the year, or longer, were registered by Kroger Stores, Warner Brothers Pictures, Lehn & Fink, National Cash Register, Motor Products, General Gas and Electric "A" and Mengel.

Heavy selling of Kelvinator, presumably based on the recent publication of a poor earnings report, carried that issue down to a new low record at 7 3-4, but it rebounded to 10, off 2 points net. American Telephone, National Radiator common and preferred, Ward Baking preferred, and International Paper preferred also sank to new low levels.

Rails showed a firmer undertone. Several of the western rails attracted fresh buying on expectations of unusually heavy crop movements this fall.

Outside of the recovery in wheat, there was little speculative interest in the commodity markets. Cotton lost 50 to 75 cents a bale on selling inspired largely by unfavorable mill advices.

Foreign exchanges moved within narrow and irregular limits, with sterling cables quoted slightly lower at $4.86. Canadian exchange improved slightly on the announcement of $2,000,000 gold shipment to New York.

Market Gossip

News From Wall Street and New York Editorial Comment

WALL STREET JOURNAL.

New York, July 24.—Buying activities in seasoned stocks displayed distinct broadening tendencies today. Recent strength in various standard industrials was given greater authority by the reappearance in good demand for the better rails. President of Chesapeake and Ohio's prediction that it would earn better than $20 a share emphasized the low levels at which many leading rails are selling in relation to earnings. This consideration brought impressive buying into Chesapeake as well as Canadian Pacific and New York Central which made good gains. Atchison spurted two points. The road had the biggest day in its history Saturday, breaking all records in the number of cars handled in the Kansas City yards.

Advances in the rails were accompanied by bullish demonstrations in various industrial leaders, including Steel, American Can, General Electric and Allied Chemical. However, the industrial division turned generally reactionary in the afternoon. General Motors was under pressure on news that John J. Raskob has resigned as chairman of the finance committee. Although the leaders sold off generally from early highs the market maintained a good tone on the reaction. Steel advanced to around the best levels of the current recovery, up two. Important buying of Steel was based on the expectation that the report of first half due July 31 would show a balance of around $5.50 a share.

Cotton Letters.

H. & B. BEER.

New York, July 24.—Apparently the cotton market seems to have discounted the recent rains in Texas and the general impression that the growing crop improved of late, especially to the east of the Mississippi river except perhaps in Alabama.

At any rate, after opening somewhat lower in response to easier cables than due, the market bulged moderately this morning, the result of light offerings and apprehension over boll weevil situation and while realizing was encountered at the advance, the market received good support on depressions.

Liverpool cabled: "Local and Manchester liquidation." Manchester reports occasional cloth sales to India. Yarns slow.

For 24 hours ending 8 a. m. today the local weather bureau reported: "Irregular and somewhat scattered showers occurred in widespread areas from northern Texas eastward to Atlantic coast, but very few showers are reported from Tennessee westward across northern Oklahoma, or from southern portions of Texas, Alabama and Georgia.

There were further rains in Texas overnight, covering a wider area, embracing north, northwest, west and east Texas, with several showers southwest.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

New York, July 24.—Despite the poor Liverpool cables our market opened strong, due principally to the demand for July. This advance brought local short covering prices advancing to 95 for October before meeting any selling in volume.

The weather forecasts were for a clearer map with further showers in west Texas, which brought selling prices sagging to around last night's close, where it remained in range with volume of trading small until renewed selling of the close put prices down another 10 points, the close at the low for the day.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

New York, July 24.—Cotton ruled firm during the first three hours of trading despite easy cables and more rains in north, central and west central Texas. While trading was slight contracts were comparatively scarce and prices made a gain of about 15 points over yesterday's closing on continued covering, trade demand and some local buying for a turn. Numerous weevil reports from Oklahoma came to hand while the weather in the central and eastern belts favored weevil propagation. An irregular trading market seems indicated pending further weather and weevil developments and the issuance of private end-July reports.

FENNER & BEANE.

New York, July 24.—Cotton was more two-sided today with a fair sized advance during the early trading and declined in the afternoon. There was a fair amount of trade buying during the first half of the session. Recent sellers were also inclined to cover. The combined buying gave strength to the market which was well sustained until the last hour when hedge selling made its appearance and values slipped again. West and northwest Texas received more rains. The Mississippi valley states also received fair amount while the east was mostly dry and hot. Crop news is more conflicting. Favorable reports are beginning to come out of the east while the outlook for west and north Texas is improving as a result of recent rains.

Stock Letters.

H. & B. BEER.

New York, July 24.—Another quiet and meaningless day with the general character of the market unchanged. It is a market where the most nimble traders can constantly keep jumping from issue to issue are not making any money. For the longer pull traders who have the ability and confidence to pick out stocks, buy and stay with stocks like Montgomery Ward, but by and large profits in the market have been small and promise to continue so.

The only real news was the resignation of Mr. Raskob from the chairmanship of General Motors. Traders took this generally as a bearish point on General Motors. We think that from a market standpoint the news means absolutely nothing. Of far greater importance is the reception accorded the new Buick models. People who have seen them say that there are no radical changes. The radiator is the same and the body looks some larger. Reported that the motor is carried through unchanged. Good judges believe that it is up to the Buick division to bear the main burden of stimulating General Motors earnings in the last half of the year. In the meantime Chrysler will have to be watched because should Chrysler get the increased capacity afforded by the Dodge plant the competition from this quarter plus growing Ford production cannot be disregarded.

FENNER & BEANE.

New York, July 24.—Extreme irregularity characterized today's market session with little apparent connection between movements in the various groups. Mail order issues which have been in the lime-light in recent sessions turned reactionary with Montgomery Ward losing about four points and Sears-Roebuck about two points. Other recent speculative favorites were likewise against reduction in holdings of other roads focused attention on this premier investment issue which rose two full points on investment buying.

Early reports later confirmed, of Rasbok's resignation, may have influenced liquidation in General Motors, but with the understanding that resignation is only temporary and that Raskob will be retained in directorship, bearish interpretation to development does not seem justified.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

New York, July 24.—Market continued to pursue an irregular course in the afternoon profit-taking continuing in a number of issues but with fresh advances developing in just as many others. As a whole stocks like General Motors, Montgomery Ward and Union Carbide were down while National Cash Register, International Combustion and several others were higher. The market no doubt will be affected in the next day or so by the approaching statement of the federal reserve bank, which will indicate whether further correction has taken place in brokers' loans, and members borrowings. The latter, at the moment, are much more important, and it would seem with the call money at 5½ to 5 per cent there should be a further reduction in rediscounts reported.

Cotton Briefs.

New Orleans, July 24.—The rally in the market after the opening today appeared largely due to the improved technical position resulting from the thorough liquidation of the long interest and a belief that the market is now oversold.

Liverpool came in worse than due again today and private cables attributed the weakness there to local and Manchester liquidation. Manchester reported: "Occasional cloth sales to India, yarns slow."

A Marlow, Okla., wire received here today said: "J. A. Sparks, prominent farmer, examined 2,500 squares and found 1,700 punctures by weevils. County agents urging farmers to poison."

SOUTHWEST MERGER HEARING ON SEPT. 17

Washington, July 24.—(AP)—Interstate commerce commission hearings on the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad proposal to acquire control of the St. Louis Southwestern and the Kansas City Southern will begin September 17 at Dallas. Charles D. Mahaffie, finance director of the commission, was ordered today to take charge of the session.

The Missouri, Kansas & Texas proposal constitutes the second attempt of L. F. Loree and associates to bring about a consolidation of major lines in southwestern territory. The first grouping failed to obtain the commission's approval.

EXPORTS OF GRAIN SHOW BIG GAIN OVER LAST WEEK

Washington, July 24.—(AP)—Grain exports last week from the United States were 1,386,000 bushels as compared with 1,317,000 bushels the week previous.

Commerce department figures today gave the following comparison between last week's exports and those of the week before: Wheat, 555,000 bushels, against 756,000 bushels; oats, 35,000, against 90,000; corn, 125,000, against 44,000; barley, 671,000, against 427,000.

Canadian grains exported last week through United States ports amounted to 1,532,000 bushels, against 1,885,000 bushels the previous week, while last week's export of North American wheat flour were 111,000 barrels, against 107,000 barrels the week before.

NORTHERN PACIFIC REVENUES SHOW GREAT INCREASE

St. Paul, July 24.—(AP)—Total operating revenues of the Northern Pacific railway for the first half of 1928 were $3,237,453 greater than they were in the corresponding period of 1927, it was reported to the interstate commerce commission today.

Operating revenues in June were $7,949,691, an increase of $296,436 over June, 1927. The total operating revenues for the six-month period were $44,576,322.

Net railway operating income for the first half of the year was $7,634,129, an increase over the corresponding period of 1927 of $1,881,616, while the net for June was $1,350,888, a decrease of $209,375, as compared with June, 1927.

The Day in Finance

Stock Readjustment Expected To Be Short-Lived By Wall Street Experts—Money Holds Firm With Call Rate at 5 1-2 Per Cent.

New York, July 24.—Call money again renewed at 5 1-2 per cent, with banks calling $10,000,000 to noon. Time money remained unchanged at 6 per cent for all periods.

Like the stock market, the bond market continued to mark time until further ahead can be seen in the money market.

There is more than one way of looking at the new high record bond and stock listings for the first half of this year just reported by the New York stock exchange, with the total at $3,578,000,000, using only round figures, against $2,924,000,000 for the corresponding period of last year, $2,866,000,000, for the first six months of 1926, and $1,817,000,000 for 1925. One is, that in issuing the flood of new bonds and stocks the first half of this year for refunding or for raising additional working capital, corporation managers, foreign countries and our own government were making the most of the unprecedented interest being shown by the big outside American public in the bond and stock markets.

The real basis of the record-breaking 1928 bull stock market was widespread belief in a continuation of an abundance of easy money. It was almost the end of the first six months of 1928 before it was realized even in banking and corporation circles that a marked change had occurred in money market conditions. Continued unprecedented gold exports, together with continued expansion in stock exchange loans and in the bank credit absorbed by dealers of new securities brought about the change in the money market which in June began to be reflected in the bond and stock markets. Since early in June there has been readjustment downward in stock and bond prices to conform to higher rates for money. At present time sentiment in Wall street is badly mixed as to how far this downward readjustment in bond and stock prices will go to conform to changed money market conditions.

In some quarters in the financial district here, it is believed that the readjustment will be short lived with an early return to an abundance of easy money; others are equally confident that there is considerable readjustment still ahead before a proper balance is reached between the money market and the market for stocks and bonds and that the longer this readjustment is postponed the worse it will be in the end.

RAIL EXECUTIVES TO HONOR LAWTON, C. OF GA. OFFICIAL

Savannah, Ga., July 24.—(AP)—Railroad executives from all sections of the country are expected here August 9 to attend a birthday party planned for A. R. Lawton, of Savannah, vice president of the Ocean Steamship company and the Central of Georgia railway.

Mr. Lawton will be 70 years old on August 9, and has announced his retirement from active business after his birthday. The party will be given aboard the steamship City of Chattanooga, which will leave port in the afternoon for a cruise until midnight.

STATESBORO MEET OF STATE EDITORS WILL HEAR GEORGE

Statesboro, Ga., July 24.—(AP)—United States Senator Walter F. George will speak at the opening night's program at the annual session of the Georgia Press association here on August 13-15, an outline of the business and entertainment menu for the editors showed today.

According to Dave Turner, editor of the Bulloch County Times, and among the most active in arranging the conclave of the editors, a reception program on Monday evening, August 13, on the lawn of the normal college campus will sound the opening note of the convention.

Among the addresses of welcome stipulated in the plans is a genuine greeting by little four-year-old Julianne Turner, whose speech may or may not mention women's place in the world of journalism. She is the granddaughter of Editor Dave Turner.

The editors will be guests of the city of Metter on Tuesday evening, July 14, the program shows, and among the items of entertainment at Statesboro are included an old-fashioned basket dinner, a barbecue, and an Ogeechee fish fry. A banquet on the evening of August 15 will serve as a grand climax, it is planned, and a program of unusual and humorous stunts is being arranged.

The editors plan to leave Statesboro Thursday morning, August 16, on a special train for North Georgia, where they will spend a week-end in the mountains.

MIAMI SHERIFF WARS ON GUNMEN DESPITE THREATS

Miami, Fla., July 24.—(AP)—"Lay off, if you want to stay healthy."

Such is the tenor of several threatening letters received by Sheriff Henry Chase since the sheriff's office began its war on Miami hijackers, whose activities flared into open warfare with a shooting affray on crowded Biscayne boulevard Sunday afternoon.

"They may get me, but they can't scare me. I'm going through with the investigation and I believe before we finish we'll have all of the live ones under lock and key," Sheriff Chase said today.

The hijackers, believed to number a score of desperate gunmen, have "shot it out" with bootleggers on several occasions recently, according to Deputy Sheriff Harry Hunter, who estimates that the gang has obtained more than 700 cases of liquor in armed robberies the last ten days.

Cottonseed Oil.

NEW YORK.

New York, July 24.—Cottonseed oil was active and easy today, closing 3 to 18 points net lower, October, December and January positions touching new lows for the season. After a steady opening, the list quickly weakened on a renewal of general liquidation and stop-loss selling promoted by the upset state of grains, a reversal in cotton and the continued dullness of the cash trade. Sales 25,400 barrels. Prime crude nominal; prime summer yellow spot 9.90; July closed 9.95; September 9.72; October 9.80; December 9.82; January 9.82; February 9.82.

NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, La., July 24.—The market for cotton oil futures was lower today, the decline being due to more rains in Texas, relieving the drought and probably also to lower corn. Prime summer yellow oil closed at 8.95, down 10 points. Prime crude closed at 8.37½ to 8.62½. Futures closed easy; July 8.90; September 8.95; October 9.03; December 9.05; January 9.05.

Chicago, July 24.—(AP)—Wheat prices tended upward most of the time today, whereas the corn market showed acute weakness. Big export sales of wheat were announced after the close. Heavy liquidation sales were a depressing factor as to corn, with September and December deliveries reaching a new low price record for the season.

Wheat closed firm at 1 5-8c to 2 5-8c advance; corn 1-8c to 2 3-8c down; oats unchanged to 3-4c off, and provisions unchanged to 10c decline.

It was estimated after the close that export sales of North American wheat today amounted to 3,000,000 bushels. These purchases were mainly Canadian wheat, but included some durum wheat for the United States. Meanwhile, export bids for domestic hard winter wheat at the Gulf of Mexico were said to be on the best relative basis yet this season, as compared with contracts for further deliveries in Chicago. The principal other strengthening influence as to wheat values here was the fact that the Liverpool market failed to reflect promptly yesterday's sharp declines on this side of the Atlantic.

Corn market weakness, which resulted in a transient downturn of nearly 5c a bushel for September contracts, was responsible for temporary declines in wheat. On the other hand, some wheat crop advices from Canada today were less rosy than those which yesterday were current. According to one Chicago expert, telegraphing from Calgary, the wheat crop in southern Alberta seems to be going backward.

Selling of 400,000 bushels of corn to go into storage here did a good deal to start liquidating sales of holders of corn for future deliveries. Besides corn deliveries here today totalled 430,000 bushels. Shipping demand meanwhile was not urgent, and weather conditions over the corn belt were construed as bearish. Commission house buying, however, broadened after the extreme break in prices. At the finish the corn market, helped by wheat strength, showed a rally of more than 2 1-2c in some cases, as compared with day's bottom level. Oats fluctuations were narrow, offerings of new oats being scarce.

Excellent consumer demand upheld the provision market, notwithstanding that hog arrivals are a little larger than looked for.

Sugar.

New York, July 24.—An advance of 1-16 of a cent occurred in raw sugar today to the basis of 4.21 for spot Cuban. Sales reported were 7,000 bags of Philippines due late next month at 4.18; 25,000 bags of Cuban and 28,700 bags of Porto Rican for August shipment, at 4.21, although it was believed additional quantities of both Cuban and duty free sugars had been sold at the latter price.

Early upturns in raw futures met increased liquidation and hedge selling and were lost in late trading, final prices showing net losses of 1 to 2 points. The market opened 1 to 2 points higher on covering and a little trade buying, believed to be the taking in of hedges against sales in the spot market. Prices continued to advance until the list showed net gains of 3 to 5 points. This upturn was promoted by the advance in the spot market and to continued firmness abroad, but more sugars came out on the advance in the spot market, and checked buying in late trading. The market broke rapidly, with final prices at about the lowest. Approximate sales 50,150 tons. September closed 2.30; December, January and March 2.46; May 2.54; July, 1929, 2.61.

Refined was unchanged at 5.75 to 5.80 for fine granulated, with a little better new business reported.

Coffee.

New York, July 24.—Coffee futures were narrow and irregular today, but a shade steadier after yesterday's decline, probably on covering. The No. 7 contract opened 5 points lower to 7 points higher and closed net 3 points lower to 22 points higher. Santos contracts opened 2 points lower and closed steady net 2 points higher to 5 points lower. Estimated sales, No. 7 contracts 19,000; Santos contracts 12,000. Closing quotations: No. 7 contracts, July 15.78; September 15.68; December 15.74; January 15.52; March 15.52; May 15.35; July, 1929, 15.13. Santos contracts: July 22.45; September 22.40; December 21.92; January 21.80; March 21.70; May 21.50.

Spot quiet, Rio 7s, 16½ to 16⅝; Santos 4s, 23½ to 24. Cost and freight offers included Bourbon 3s and 5s at 22.75 to 23.20.

Rio exchange on London and dollar buying rate unchanged. Rio market 175 to 200 reis lower; Santos market unchanged to 50 reis lower. Brazilian port receipts 41,000; Jundiahy receipts 14,000.

Total bond sales (par value), $7,397,000.

New York, July 24.—(AP)—The bond market was slightly firmer today, but trading was light. Heaviness of United States government bonds, selling of which apparently was influenced by fears of further stringency in credit after tomorrow, when the monthly flow of funds turns away from the New York market, seemed to unsettle trading generally. A few rails sought higher levels, but gains in this, as in other groups were mixed with numerous declines.

Every United States government issue on the list closed lower today, many of them sagging to levels just above the lows of the year.

The St. Paul issues were most active in the railroad group, the 5s of 1975 closing a point higher. Green Bay & Wisconsin debentures B advanced 4 points, while Missouri Pacific 6s B and New York Central 4 1-2s gained a point or more each. Selling pressure forced Illinois Central 3 1-2s down nearly 10 points. Pennsylvania convertible 4s sagged nearly 6 points to a new year's low at 92 1-8.

SINCLAIR, STANDARD 'LINK' IS INDICATED

New York, July 24.—(AP)—The New York World today says that signs discernible in Wall street indicate that out of the oil situation that has held the attention of the country the last four years may come a working combination of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana and the Sinclair Consolidated Oil company, involving hundreds of millions of dollars.

Signs pointing to such a combination are seen in the contemplated doubling of the capacity of the Sinclair pipe line, which is controlled equally by the Standard Oil Company of Indiana and the Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation.

If this contemplated doubling of capacity presages a combination between Colonel Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard of Indiana, and Harry F. Sinclair, head of the Sinclair company, says the World, it means that the Standard of Indiana is taking an important step to free itself from dependence upon Rockefeller subsidiaries. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., largest individual stockholder in the Standard of Indiana, has been trying to force Colonel Stewart from the chairmanship since the latter's refusal last winter to answer certain questions before the senate Teapot Dome committee.

C. & O. FIXES LIMIT ON PRICE FOR P. M.

Richmond, Va., July 24.—(AP)—The Chesapeake & Ohio stockholders' protective committee has notified the interstate commerce commission that it will oppose any application the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway company may make for permission to purchase Pere Marquette common stock at a price above $110 a share, it was learned from reliable sources here today.

The Chesapeake & Ohio was given permission to acquire control of the Pere Marquette by the interstate commerce commission, which at the same time denied the railroad the privilege of acquiring control of the Erie. The commission fixed the terms for the purchase of control of the Pere Marquette at a price not exceeding $110 a share. The stock is now quoted considerably above $110.

At the time of the original petition for the merger the Chesapeake and Ohio had under option a substantial amount of the Pere Marquette common stock held by the New York, Chicago and St. Louis railroad, generally known as the Nickleplate, at a price of $110 a share. The option however, expired last July.

It was also learned today that the stockholders' protective committee informed the interstate commerce commission that even if the Chesapeake & Ohio is able to purchase some shares of Pere Marquette common at $110 a share, they will oppose such purchase unless it is shown that sufficient shares can be bought to insure the Chesapeake & Ohio acquiring control.

General Motors Declines After J. J. Raskob Resigns

New York, July 24.—(AP)—Trading was in larger volume on the curb market today, but price trends were irregular and many weak spots developed.

Warner Brothers Pictures was again a feature, touching a new high at 52, then closing at 47 1-2 with a net loss of 2 1-2 points. Nearly 100,000 shares changed hands. Buying was apparently based on unauthenticated reports that recapitalization plans are under way, on improved earnings and the prospects of profits from talking pictures. Fox Theater made a gain of 1 1-2 points on the announcement of the acquisition of the Poli chain in New England, but eased on profit-taking.

Artificial silk shares were distinctly weak, industrial rayon, which has been strong recently, declining 3 7-8 points.

Celanese corporation and British Celanese touched new lows for the year, the former dropping 8 points.

Hires company A, Marion Steam Shovel and U. S. Gypsum preferred touched new highs. Radio shares were active and Spanish and General slightly extended its previous gain. Sanitary Grocers made a 16-point gain on a small turnover. Automotive shares were generally weak, Sparks Withington dropping 5 1-2. Mines were fairly active, but price changes were small.

United Light and Power and United Gas Improvement, Puget Sound and American Gas and Electric were firm in the rather heavy public utility group. Oils eased.

SECRET COTTONSEED PRICES ARE SCORED

Memphis, Tenn., July 24.—(AP)—The cottonseed oil mill division of the Interstate Cottonseed Crushers' association at a meeting here today adopted resolutions suggesting a code of business principles for cottonseed oil mills.

The resolutions urged that all prices for cottonseed, whether paid or bid, and all prices received for products or at which they are offered, should be made public immediately, and "there should be no confidential prices."

"The price paid for cottonseed or charged for the products thereof is a matter of individual judgment to be determined by each unit concerned," said the resolutions. "No unit is or should be under obligation to change or maintain its prices to meet the wishes or views of any other unit or group of units."

All persons interested in the cottonseed business were invited to the meeting.

Dividends.

New York, July 24.—Sherwin-Williams company, Cleveland, declared the usual extra dividend of 12½c a share on the common stock with the regular quarterly of 75c, and $1.50 on the preferred. George A. BETTER HIGHWAYS URGED BY RIVERS

Dublin, Ga., July 24.—(AP)—Ed Rivers, candidate for governor of Georgia, made his first reference to the state highway department in his speech here this afternoon. He declared that he has no alliance with the present chairman of the state highway department.

Senator Rivers expressed the opinion that "Georgia's road system is the important feature of our progressive necessities. That system ought to be finished at the earliest possible moment, and the roads should be built of material that will last and serve the people. I do not attempt to say what the lasting material is, because I am not experienced in roadbuilding. But the material ought to be the best and the work ought to be done in the shortest time consistent with efficiency and economy. We are the empire state, and if we do our part we shall continue to be."

OUTLINES POLICIES IN MARIETTA SPEECH.

Marietta, Ga., July 24.—(Special.) State Senator E. D. Rivers, candidate for governor, outlined his position on state matters in an address here yesterday in Judge John S. Wood's court room. He was introduced by Senator H. S. Willingham, of Marietta.

Senator Rivers stated that it was mere "bunk" for the governor's supporters to claim that the governor should have a second term, regardless of the record made by him during the first.

"That the second term excuse is a fallacy," said Senator Rivers, "needs but a history class to portray. In the first place, it is quite authentically stated by political observers that no man in the last 30 years has been reelected governor of Georgia for a second term when he had opposition, and the only three governors since 1900 have served two full consecutive terms.

"Even if this precedent for the defeat of governors for their second consecutive term had not been established, the present governor established the precedent himself in so far as opposing second-term reelection is concerned. Practically every one in this audience recalls that when Governor Nat E. Harris, the old war horse, the last of the Confederate veterans ever to hold the office of governor of Georgia, the father of Georgia Tech, brilliant lawyer, able statesman, eminent educator, sought a second term, Dr. Hardman came forward with a militant fight against him, and his friends took the position that a man was not entitled to a second term, unless his administration had been a success and warranted it."

SENATOR RIVERS SPEAKS AT GRIFFIN.

Griffin, Ga., July 24.—(Special.)—State Senator E. D. Rivers, who is a candidate for governor, spoke to a mass meeting of voters here Monday afternoon. He was introduced by Colonel W. H. Connor, local attorney.

In brief, Senator Rivers advocated an accelerated good roads program, the development of the state's resources, the building of industries to consume agricultural products and provide positions for the youths of Georgia, the introduction of better methods of administration of state affairs, and for a better school system in Georgia.

INVITED TO SPEAK AT MILLEDGEVILLE.

Milledgeville, Ga., July 24.—(Special.)—Senator E. D. Rivers, of Lakeland, Ga., candidate for governor of Georgia in the present campaign, will be invited to speak here within the next few days, according to friends and supporters here. Senator Rivers is well known here, having been active in behalf of measures affecting the various state institutions in and around Milledgeville during his service in the Georgia senate, and has many supporters here.

PUNISHMENT FOR U. S. LAWYERS SUGGESTED

Seattle, July 24.—(AP)—American lawyers in Paris who have been charged by the National Association of Advocates of France with "morally reprehensible conduct" should be summarily punished by the French court, Silas H. Strawn, president of the American Bar association, said today.

Strawn, who is in Seattle for the fiftieth anniversary convention of the bar association, said he had not yet received a protest which he understood was to have been sent to the bar association from the French organization. The action was taken after three French lawyers had been reprimanded and three others suspended from practice for having rushed American divorces through the courts of France.

No action was taken against the American attorneys who were alleged to have retained the French advocates.

"But the French courts can refuse to grant divorces to Americans when proceedings are irregular," Strawn said. "We know there are these vultures who call themselves lawyers and who prey upon susceptible wealthy Americans desiring easy Paris divorces, but it is beyond the power of the American Bar association to forcibly restrain them. It's against our ethics, of course."

The acceptance by public prosecutors of pleas of guilty to lesser offenses than the offenses charged was termed "bargaining with criminals" in a paper prepared by Raymond Moley, professor of public law at Columbia university, read before the section of the criminal law of the association.

Other sectional conferences were devoted to problems which arise in the practice of law in its several branches.

STALLING'S WIFE SAYS MAGNATE "SEEMS QUIETER"

Macon, Ga., July 24.—(AP)—Mrs. George Stallings, wife of the owner of the Montreal baseball team, left the sick room for a few minutes late tonight to converse with friends.

She was quoted as stating that Mr. Stallings had been growing weaker since Friday, until today, when he seemed more comfortable and was quieter.

Two sons of Mr. Stallings spent several hours at the hospital this afternoon.

VIRGINIA EDITOR DIES SUDDENLY AT NEWPORT NEWS

Newport News, Va., July 24.—(AP) W. S. Copeland, editor and publisher of the Newport News Daily Press and Times Herald and former president of the Virginia Press association, died suddenly at his home here tonight.

TERRIFIC HEAT WAVE HITS CONSTANTINOPLE

Constantinople, July 24.—(AP)—Turkey today was suffering from a heat wave. Two persons died at Constantinople, where the temperature passed 87 degrees Fahrenheit in the shade. At Angora it reached 94 in the shade.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

Custer's Last Campaign—Part III.
Custer in the Little Big Horn Mountains.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

GEN. CUSTER, WITH THE SEVENTH CAVALRY, NUMBERING ABOUT 600 MEN, A MULE TRAIN, 50 ARIKARA SCOUTS CALLED "REES", A FEW WHITE SCOUTS, AND ACCOMPANIED BY SOME NEWSPAPER MEN, LEFT GEN. TERRY'S CAMP ON THE POWDER RIVER ON JUNE 22, 1876. CUSTER SOON CAME TO THE INDIAN TRAIL LEADING TOWARD THE BIG HORN COUNTRY.

MOVING AT A RAPID PACE, THE COLUMN FOLLOWED THE TRAIL, WHICH WOUND THROUGH THE "BAD LANDS" AND INTO THE LITTLE BIG HORN MOUNTAINS. ABUNDANT SIGNS OF INDIANS WERE EVERYWHERE TO BE SEEN.

EARLY IN THE MORNING OF SUNDAY, JUNE 25TH, CUSTER APPROACHED THE CREST OF THE LITTLE BIG HORN RANGE, AND CONCEALED HIS MEN IN A DEEP RAVINE NEAR THE DIVIDE. EVERY MAN IN THE REGIMENT SHARED IN THE GENERAL FEELING OF TENSENESS, KNOWING THEY WERE ALMOST FACE TO FACE WITH THEIR SAVAGE ENEMIES.

THE GENERAL CLIMBED TO THE TOP OF THE RIDGE WITH HIS SCOUTS, AND LOOKED DOWN INTO THE VALLEY OF THE LITTLE BIG HORN. FAR OFF TO THE NORTH, TREMBLING COLUMNS OF SMOKE ROSE SKYWARD, THE SMOKE OF MANY CAMPFIRES, BETRAYING THE PRESENCE OF A BIG INDIAN ENCAMPMENT.

TOMORROW—THE VILLAGE OF SITTING BULL.

Captain Dollar Sees Trade With Orient Some Day Passing Trade With Europe—Facts On the Bancitaly Corporation and the Bank of Italy.

(Copyright, 1928, by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

"I may not live to see the day, but you will, when the trade between the United States and the countries of the Far East will equal or even exceed that between the United States and the countries of Europe."

This was the statement made to me by Captain Robert Dollar, vigorous white-haired veteran of the Dollar steamship lines, when we talked about the reason for his going into the shipping business after reaching 80.

"Somebody had to do it," he said. "There are more than a billion people in the Far East. This is more than one-half the population of the world."

The figures show that the United States is buying around $2,000,000,000 in goods annually in the Far East, and selling about one-third that amount. More than 20 per cent of our export trade is carried on in the Far East. The United States each year buys about $400,000,000 in silk from Japan, and about $300,000,000 in rubber from the Dutch Indies and Malay. The United States imports wool from Australia, sugar and copra from the Philippines, shellac from India, and tea, coffee, hides, skins and oils from scattered areas of the Far East.

This is the business Robert Dollar, shrewd Scotchman that he is, referred to in his statement.

Many people confuse the Bancitaly corporation with the Bank of Italy. They are separate corporations. The Bancitaly corporation is a holding concern with a stock interest in hundreds of corporations, including the Bank of Italy. Its total investment interest in different corporations totals nearly $255,000,000.

So large has the Bancitaly corporation become that its last report lists 55 corporations in each of which it has an investment of not less than $1,000,000. In some of these it has many millions, such as in the shares of the Bank of Italy of San Francisco, the Bank of America of New York, Standard Oil of New Jersey, and Standard Oil of California.

In addition to these listings, it has millions invested in scores of other corporations. But not having an investment of a million in any one of them, it does not consider it necessary to list them.

With capital of $130,000,000 and surplus and undivided profits just a few dollars under $150,000,000, the Bancitaly has a book value of about $54 a share, but the stock is selling at more than twice that. Its earnings, $35,000,000 for the last six months, are the largest in its history. It carries its securities at either market or purchase price, whichever happens to be the lowest. This does not include, however, its foreign investments.

A. P. Giannini, the human dynamo directing the activities of this organization, is at present in Europe where the stockholders of this company are very numerous.

Six years ago George Eccles was graduated from Columbia University School of Business. He was 22. After some time in the accounting department of the American Exchange Irving Trust company, of New York, he went to Ogden, Utah, and entered the banking business with his brother, M. S. Eccles.

George Eccles, now 28, is managing director of one of the largest banking corporations in Utah, Idaho, and Wyoming. The headquarters are at Ogden.

"Our banks are in the mining sections of Wyoming, the irrigated sections of Utah and the dry land sections of Idaho," said Mr. Eccles, as he was leaving on a vacation trip to Europe. "In our country farmers are back to about where they were when the deflation of 1920 hit them. Some have lost out. Some new settlers have come in. High rates on farm paper are a thing of the past. The farmer has learned by his own experience to diversify, and the banker has learned to keep his assets liquid.

"Yes, the larger unit in banking is here now. The small banks with capital of $10,000 and $20,000 are having a harder time than ever to exist. Just what form the largest banking unit will assume is not yet clear. But personally I think the individual bank, the majority stock of which is owned by a holding company, works better in our country than one large bank with many branches extending throughout the state. This is my opinion at the moment."

This dark-eyed, youthful-looking banker is quiet in speech, conservative in statement, and friendly. He does not keep looking at his watch to see how much time he has left and he has no "blah."

Unemployment is on the increase in Great Britain, and the total has reached the "disquieting" figure of 1,273,000 as against 1,069,000 one year ago, an increase of 204,000.

Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, has admitted that depression is increasing in the coal, cotton, building and shipbuilding trades. The textile trade is far from encouraging. For every seven yards of cotton cloth exported before the war, only four yards are now exported. Who is supplying the three yards Britain has lost? New mills in China, non-existent before the war, have come into competition, with cheap Chinese labor.

While unemployment in England seems to be growing in the large industries, the family life is not showing the unemployment situation particularly. Thousands of young women have entered business and the trades since the war, to add to the family income. The luxury trades, such as the electrical, chemical and motor industries, are going ahead.

Still, outside of banking and the ocean-carrying trade, Great Britain is having a struggle. At the moment more workers—men and women—are receiving the unemployment "dole" from the government than at any time in 16 months.

Lorenzo Grace, Oldest Veteran Of Gray, Is Dead

Lorenzo Dow Grace, conceded to have been the oldest living Confederate veteran, died Tuesday at the Confederate Soldiers' home at the age of 114 years, according to records at the institution, which give the date of his birth as October 29, 1813.

The aged veteran had been ill for ten days since he suffered a paralytic attack. The end came at 2:45 o'clock Tuesday morning. Until his illness he was one of the most active inmates of the home and one of the most popular with visitors.

Mr. Grace did not enter the home until a few years ago, at the age of 109. In latter days he was not certain of his own age, often having claimed to be 118 years old.

His first attempt to enlist in the army of the Confederacy at the outset of the war failed because at that time he was too old for the age limit, being 51 years old. Later, when volunteers between the ages of 16 and 60 years were called, he was accepted.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon from the chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son. Interment will be in the Marietta cemetery. An honor escort will be provided by the Atlanta Confederate Soldiers' home.

Mr. Grace is survived by his daughter, Mrs. Sylvania McNabb of Demorest.

RICHARD A. DRAKE, GRIFFIN BANKER, LAID TO LAST REST

Griffin, Ga., July 24.—(Special.)—Impressive funeral services for Richard A. Drake, former cashier of the City National bank and a member of one of the most prominent families in this section, were held Monday morning from the home. Mr. Drake committed suicide Saturday night, presumably on account of poor health.

The Rev. L. W. Blackwelder, rector of St. George's Episcopal church, of which Mr. Drake was a member, conducted the services, and interment was in Oak Hill cemetery. The Masons and Elks furnished an honorary escort.

Mr. Drake is survived by his widow, who was Miss Clara Woodward, of Atlanta; two sons, Richard Drake, Jr., of Griffin, and Roswell Drake, of Memphis, Tenn.; one sister, Mrs. W. E. H. Searcy, Jr., of Atlanta; and several nieces and nephews, among them Mrs. Wellborn Blalock, of Atlanta.

ATLANTIC FLIGHT ORDERED HALTED

Paris, July 24.—(AP)—France has abandoned, for the time being at least, its joint navy and commerce department attempt to span the Atlantic from east to west by plane, according to a semi-official announcement made today.

The announcement was to the effect that Lieutenant Paulin Paris, who reached Horta in the Azores yesterday in his plane La Fregate, had been recalled and would return to France on the cruiser Ville D' Ys.

The fact that the flight of La Fregate had been interrupted by motor difficulties, necessitating repairs and replacement of parts, was given as the reason for abandoning the flight. It was explained that the flight was purely a scientific experiment to determine whether a mail route by way of the Azores and Bermuda was practicable, and that the experiment had been spoiled by the delay.

It is considered probable that the flight will be attempted later.

The original plans were for Lieutenant Paris to attempt the crossing and if he failed the second plane, piloted by Captain Rene Builbaud, in his place. Captain Builbaud, together with Roald Amundsen, and four others have been missing since they took the plane which the French office had prepared for the trans-Atlantic attempt into the arctic to search for the crew of the dirigible Italia.

24 RESTAURANTS AND NIGHT CLUBS CLOSED IN GOTHAM

New York, July 24.—(AP)—Twenty-four restaurants and night clubs in Manhattan and Brooklyn have been ordered padlocked by federal judges for violations of the Volstead act. Ten others were ordered to post bonds to guarantee obedience to the law.

Of the 14 closed in Manhattan, seven were padlocked for one year and seven for six months. The Brooklyn places were closed for periods of two to six months.

Personal injunctions also were obtained against the owners, managers and several employees of the 14 Manhattan places, all of which are among the less pretentious of the city's night resorts.

LINE UP TO RIGHT YOU RICH LADIES AND DON'T CROWD

New York, July 24.—Wanted, a rich woman ambitious to fly the Atlantic in a dirigible. Bert Campbell, who came over on the Cedric as a night watchman, says he is an Australian aviator with an airship ready and everything arranged except the signing up of a woman able and willing to pay handsomely for the privilege of the trip.

SINKING OF BOAT DEPRIVES MEMPHIS OF PACKET SERVICE

Memphis, Tenn., July 24.—(AP)—For the first time in many years Memphis was without packet service on the Mississippi river today as the result of the sinking last night of the Delta Line steamer Verna Swain while she was being placed on docks here.

Belief was expressed that in raising the vessel supports under the stern were not strong enough to sustain the boat's weight and when these supports gave way the hull was ripped and the vessel filled with water.

Indications were that the steamer would be raised within a few days

LAST SERVICES HELD FOR MRS. MARY REID

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Ellen Reid, of 971 Oakdale road, N. E., who was fatally injured Saturday night in an automobile accident, while en route to Lakemont, were held Tuesday morning from Sacred Heart church. The Rev. Father M. A. Cotter officiated and interment was in West View.
